

BRYAN AND JOHNSON HOLD CONFERENCE

Secretary of State Before Leaving Sacramento to This Afternoon Communicates An Important Message Bearing On the Anti-Alien Land Bill Which Will Probably Be Passed Today.

MEASURE RAILROADED AMID DISAPPROVAL

While Preparing to Take a Train East, the President's Representative Hastily Calls For a Meeting With the Governor and the Leaders—Final Action On Bill May Not Be Taken By State Executive For Thirty Days.

Sacramento, Cal., May 3.—Secretary Bryan's mission to California is ended. Without waiting for the assembly to take action on the anti-alien land holding bill, he will leave Sacramento for the east at 5:05 p. m., by way of Los Angeles.

What observations the secretary had to make on his visit will be contained in his report to the president. Mr. Bryan will hurry to Washington without interruption, accepting no invitations to make stop-overs on the way. At Tucson, Ariz., he expects to be joined by his son for a brief chat.

In the midst of his preparations for leaving Sacramento this evening, Secretary of State Bryan sent word at noon to Governor Johnson and the presiding officers of the two houses of the legislature asking for another conference, to be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

He did not indicate in his request what message he had to transmit to the legislators, but told Governor Johnson that the California executive could choose for himself whether the conference should be open or executive.

Sacramento, Cal., May 3.—Governor Johnson is expected to have in his hands tonight an alien land law barring Japanese and other aliens ineligible to citizenship from the soil of California. He has agreed to the delay signing the bill until opportunity shall be given for hearing whatever protests President Wilson may desire to make.

In the governor's own words, this delay will cover a "reasonable time" probably not more than ten days, certainly not more than 30. Although the act is designed to exclude all aliens ineligible to citizenship, it is drawn in conformity with treaty obligations and guarantees to every alien his full treaty rights, omitting the phrase "ineligible to citizenship," objectionable to Japanese.

With this program on the cards the assembly picked up today the work of the senate and began final consideration of the Bloodgood bill, which is identical with the Webb redraft of the anti-alien bills passed early this morning by the senate.

It was planned by the administration floor leaders in the lower house to adopt the same procedure followed yesterday by the senate and to begin at once the long debate that must necessarily precede conclusive action. The effect of the senate's almost unanimous decision was expected to hasten the vote.

Since the Bloodgood bill is identical with the senate bill already passed, it will be sent on passage immediately to the committee on enrollment, there to be compared with its companion measure. When the identity of the two acts has been verified, the committee will report back to the house and the bill will be sent to the governor for his signature.

SUBMIT TO THE HAGUE

Japanese Government May Take Anti-Alien Law to Peace Tribunal If United States Fails to Change Measure.

Washington, May 3.—It was learned here today that the Webb bill in its present form is not satisfactory to the Japanese government. Although there is possibility of amendment in the lower branch of the legislature or in conference, the conviction obtains that nothing remaining to be done from the Japanese point of view at present but to await the return to Washington of Secretary Bryan. Then it will be in order to take the matter up diplomatically, probably the first step being to ascertain whether the administration can be counted on to begin a legal test of the constitutionality of the new act.

If the question between the United States and Japan should not be settled within the next three months, it was intimated here today that Japan might make a formal request for the submission of the issue to arbitration at The Hague tribunal.

The special arbitration treaty between the two countries negotiated in 1909, which is believed to cover the case, will expire by limitation unless renewed on August 24. It will be necessary for Japan to claim the benefits of the treaty before that date.

The particular provision of the treaty is: "Differences which arise of a legal nature or relating to the interpretation of treaties existing between the two contracting parties which it may not have been possible to settle by diplomacy shall be referred to the permanent court of arbitration established at The Hague by the convention of July 29, 1899, provided, nevertheless, that they do not affect the vital interests, the independence or the honor of the two contracting parties or do not concern the interest of third parties."

GIRL'S PORTRAIT FOR CURRENCY

New York, May 3.—Miss Eveline James of San Antonio, Tex., an art student here, is receiving the congratulations of her friends, as she is the girl whose portrait is likely to become more popular than any other. It is safe to say her picture will be in every American home, as it will appear exclusively on Uncle Sam's paper money.

"As for leases I may say that every bill that has been considered seriously has contained a clause authorizing leases. The Bradford bill, which passed the assembly two weeks ago, and represented the views of the assembly and all who opposed alien ownership at that time, provided for 5-year leases. The present bill reduces the term to three years.

WILSON HAS A BUSY DAY

President Is in New Jersey Fighting For Constitutional Reforms—Blames Interests For the Protest Against the Tariff

Jersey City, N. J., May 3.—President Wilson last night interpreted the fight in New Jersey for jury reform and constitutional revision as a part of the struggle of the American people to obtain through the Democratic party equal justice to all and special privilege to none. Though he made no reference to legislative policies pending in Washington, the president indicated that the protests being voiced against the tariff bill were those of the special interests and not the masses.

"Some of my fellow citizens and some of their colleagues in Washington city," he said, "now think that they are hearing the voice of the people of the United States, when they are only hearing the part that has become vocal by moving down to Washington and insisting upon its special interests.

"As I sit in my office in Washington, there are windows only on one side of the room, and those windows look out on a part and the Potomac river and the shores of Virginia on the other side, and I cannot see Washington from those windows, though I sometimes think I can, because Washington behind me is soething with special representatives of little things who are almost storming at the doors of this office, whereas, out here are the cool large spaces of the United States. And I would rather hear the whippers coming in at these windows here than the strident arguments coming in at those doors."

The president spent a strenuous day fighting for the reform which he came to New Jersey to advocate. In the last speech of his trip last night applause and expressions of approval interrupted him frequently as he assailed the influences in the state which he claimed, were managing the populous country for private purposes. The president early in his remarks referred to the incidents in the legislative conference during the noon hour, when Assemblyman McDermott openly defied him and fired such a series of questions at Mr.

PARADE OF SUFFRAGISTS

Forty Bands Furnish Music for the 30,000 Women Who Hold Big Demonstration in New York—"Veterans" In Line.

New York, May 3.—Eyes front, heads erect, shoulder squared, 35,000 women—and men—marched right abreast to the blaze of 40 bands up Fifth avenue this afternoon in the greatest parade ever held for the cause of woman suffrage.

Behind a squad of mounted police, the long line swept out of Washington Square shortly after 2 o'clock, a white ribbon of marching womanhood, spangled with the yellow banners of suffrage, broken here and there by the sombre colors of detachments of male sympathizers. Over streets that had been swept and scrubbed till they glistened in the sunlight they paraded to Central park at Fifty-ninth street. Hundreds of thousands, held to the curb by 1200 blue coats, gave vociferous welcome and applause.

For days the leaders of the great parade had planned the pageant, until it was letter perfect. The city authorities, intent on avoiding repetition of the disorder of the suffrage parade at Washington, made elaborate police arrangements and there was every indication that the parade would not be marred by untoward incident.

"Keep Step—No Talking in Line." Hundreds of women from other states and scores of suffrage associations were in the long line. Almost every scale in the social system was represented from women of wealth foremost in the fight, to domestic servants from the equal suffrage nations of Europe, clad in their national costumes. Women voters from the nine "white" states on the suffrage map; "General" Rosalie Jones and her little "army" of pilgrims who tramped from New York to Albany and New York to Washington; clerks, stenographers, telephone operators, shop girls, milliners, factory workers—these and marchers from almost every other calling where woman labors were in the procession, each carrying a tiny yellow flag, and each trying her best to observe the grand march's order "Keep step; no talking or laughing."

HAYTI LOSES PRESIDENT

General Tancrede Augustine Succumbs to a Brief Illness—Assembly Meets Today to Name Successor—Belair Probable Choice.

Port Au Prince, Hayti, May 3.—The president of the republic of Hayti, General Tancrede Augustine, died last night after a brief illness. The national assembly was convened today to elect a successor as chief executive.

Four candidates were prepared to present their claims—Judge Luxembourg Gauvin, former minister of the Interior; Michel Oreste, a prominent senator; General Beaufoisse Laroche, minister of war and General Bellard. In official circles and among the general public, the opinion prevailed that General Bellard would obtain the nomination.

To Prevent Uprising. Quiet has prevailed everywhere since the president's death, but precautions against any possible outbreak were immediately taken by General Poltevin, the commander-in-chief, who ordered all the troops held in readiness to suppress disorders.

President Tancrede Auguste had occupied his office only since August 9 last year. He succeeded General Cincinnatus Leconte, who met a tragic death together with four hundred officials and soldiers in a fire which destroyed the national palace on August 8. It was reported at that time that he had been the victim of intrigue but nothing was officially revealed to confirm the theory.

shotgun," was the tragic fate this morning of the Countess of Cottenham, wife of the Earl of Cottenham. The countess' twin sister, daughter of the Marquis of Aberghenny, was found dead in 1910 with a gunshot wound through the heart in the grounds of the family residence in Oxfordshire.

Today's affair was a mystery until the Earl of Cottenham testified at the coroner's inquest at noon. He said he had been out with his boys and when he returned and found his wife missing he instituted a search which resulted in the discovery of her corpse with the gun beside it near the stump of a tree over which she had evidently stumbled, at the same time accidentally discharging the weapon. The jury thereupon returned a verdict of accidental death.

SCHEDULE K DISCUSSION

Climax Is Reached On the Tariff Bill Dispute in the House—Strong Fight Against Free Wool Is Made By the Westerners.

Washington, May 3.—The house late today sustained the wool schedule of the Underwood bill, 193 to 74, and voted down the Republican substitute.

Washington, May 3.—"Schedule K," the much discussed, always disputed wool tariff, upon which the Democrats maintain the Republicans stumbled in their fall from power last fall and over which their own party is divided, brought the tariff fight in the house to a climax today.

It was apparent early in the day that free raw wool as projected in the administration bill was in for a three-cornered fight, the Republicans demanding a duty of about 18 per cent supported by some of the Progressives, and the wool insurgents of the majority demanding a 15 per cent duty which they claimed was the original judgment of the ways and means committee until President Wilson took a hand.

Though approved by the Democratic caucus after a two-day fight and almost certain to come through the house struggle unscathed, the wool schedule brought out the heaviest oratorical artillery of the opposition and many predictions were made that free raw wool would not stand the fire in the senate, but would eventually come back to the house with a duty.

Majority Leader Underwood championed the schedule with all his force on behalf of the ways and means committee and the president.
