

DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Thursday, April 29, 1893.

THIS COUNTRY AND EUROPE.

The difference between this country and the countries of the Old World is never more strikingly illustrated than in the matter of homes. There, few people ever expect to own their own roof, still fewer to ever have title to the land on which their house stands.

FRAGMENTS.

There was a very interesting marriage ceremony on Wed. at 11 o'clock at the residence of W. J. Ward of Salt Lake and Cecilia Madison of the Columbia.

DAVID McKEON, a native of Scotland, and for 25 years past a resident of Salt Lake, was admitted to citizenship this morning by Judge Bates.

On Monday night the four district courts of the Territory will be in session at the Court House, commencing at 10 o'clock.

More Juries Chosen. A venire for the additional petit jurors was issued just before the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon, returnable Monday.

Notice. The officers of the Primary Association will meet at 17 and South Temple street, Friday, May 6th, at 2 p.m.

Notice. The funeral services of Brother John Worthen, which were postponed in order that his son Charles, missionary to the Southern States mission, might reach home, will be held in the Fourth Ward meeting house on Monday next at 2 p.m.

For Merchandise. Lowenberg & Co. placed a suit in the Third district court this morning to recover from Joseph Simon the sum of $100.25 for merchandise, with interest at 5 per cent from June 1st, 1892, and costs.

Wunderland. A Woman's Devotion is being presented at this favorite resort by the establishment company. Incidental to the drama appears Imogene, the young society lady who set all Denver talking by adopting the stage, where she shines as a name for a livelihood.

On the subject of the leading attractions are the Bailey sisters, eleven English sketch artists, and the Acton in their new 21st and 22nd places.

GEORGE M. CANNON, Owner.

AT THE BANQUET.

Splendid Reception to the Trans-Mississippi Delegates, Last Night.

THE VISITORS HIGHLY PLEASED.

Summers Toasts and Responses by President O'Hara.—Resolutions of Thanks.

The banquet given at the Knott's on last night by the Chamber of Commerce, business men's association and Press club in honor of the Trans-Mississippi delegates was largely attended by Salt Lake's most prominent citizens and all things considered was a very successful affair.

Judge Powers was general toastmaster for the occasion and first called upon Governor Thomas to speak, who extended a warm welcome to the strangers. He said: "We are greatly honored at your presence in our midst. Although we have political differences we bury them on such an occasion as this. We have no diversity of opinion as regards our city and we are equally proud of our Territory. We believe our mountains have a higher and grander well than that of other states. In both these things we stand as a people and are proud to stand as a people of the West. Salt Lake is the wonder of the western world and we are proud to call it our own."

Mayor Baskin in behalf of the city greeted the visitors in words of welcome and spelled what otherwise would have been a dull speech. He said: "We are proud to have you here and we are proud to have you here. We are proud to have you here and we are proud to have you here."

BAKIN'S BAD IDEAL. Mayor Baskin in behalf of the city greeted the visitors in words of welcome and spelled what otherwise would have been a dull speech. He said: "We are proud to have you here and we are proud to have you here. We are proud to have you here and we are proud to have you here."

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS. Judge Powers was introduced by Judge Powers as one of those who as a planner had laid the way for this historic event. He said: "I have no doubt that the press is one of the greatest of our age. It is the voice of the people and it is the voice of the people."

NEILSON UP AGAIN. This Time He is Charged With Perpetrating an Unfortunate Trick.

M. Marcella Nelson, the erratic attorney, went before Commissioner Pratt yesterday afternoon on the charge of embezzlement. The indictment returned a plea of not guilty. Judge Cheney and Attorney Krueger conducted the defense and Assistant Attorney DeBor appeared for the prosecution.

Joseph Nelson, the prosecuting witness, was first examined. He stated that he was an employee at the Germania Lead Works. He started a $20,000 suit against the company for damages, and Nelson & Condon were his attorneys. The suit was begun in September, 1892. He met Nelson from time to time, and as late as February of the present year, he had no idea how the suit was getting on. Nelson each time replied that it was not yet time for the suit, and he had no idea how the suit was getting on.

The defense sought to show on cross-examination that witness had allowed Nelson to keep his money as long as he wanted, and that he was not to be troubled by the witness if a divorce, and the witness said he did not employ the defendant.

W. J. Condon, ex-law partner of Nelson, stated that there was $55 due to the prosecuting witness, and he thought it best to pay it. The suit was settled for $100, of which the lawyer was to get $35, and $20 was deducted from the share of the prosecuting witness for legal fees.

The prosecution then closed, with the understanding that the defense would open at 2 p.m. today.

A UTAH BOY WHO WENT WEST. He Tells a "News" Reporter of His Experiences for the People Among Wild He was Raised.

Among the many distinguished Californians who were delegates to the Trans-Mississippi Congress and who visited this city yesterday and departed on the 21st, was H. J. Woodcock, a Utah boy, who was born and raised in the Fourteenth ward of this city.

Mr. Woodcock left Salt Lake in 1870 for Los Angeles, and by a large body of good fortune and his own push and enterprise he made money rapidly and today is vice-president of the State Loan & Trust company in Los Angeles, with a net worth of $1,000,000, and is connected with some of the largest business concerns of the city.

Although a resident of the Golden Gate State, Mr. Woodcock thinks Utah is in many respects, without a rival and he is a great admirer of the growing enthusiasm, Mr. Woodcock said: "I love Utah and respect her people and admire their spirit and industry. By the way, speaking of industry reminds me" he said, as he drew a fine lithograph business card from his pocket, "I have adopted a trade name for my business, 'Horse and the life of Deane.' 'Horse' is the name of the horse that I have used in my business, and 'Deane' is the name of the man who has helped me in my business."

With the governor and the mayor I extend you a sincere welcome and wish you Godspeed on your journey and trust that you may ever return to our city with a net worth of $1,000,000, and is connected with some of the largest business concerns of the city.
