

NORTH OGDEN PIONEER DIES

James Montgomery Passes Away at 89 Years; Lived in Community 70 Years

JAMES MONTGOMERY.

James Montgomery, life long resident of North Ogden, died Monday at the age of 89 years.

The family moved to Canada, later settling in Detroit, where they were converted to Mormonism.

On December 19, 1855, he married Elizabeth C. Williams, and seven children were born to them.

Mr. Montgomery was ordained a seventy in 1854, and at the time of his death held the office of high priest.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in the North Ogden chapel.

EARLY RESIDENT OF OGDEN DIES

Mrs. Nancy Whitaker Passes Away at Willard; Was 99 Years Old

MRS. NANCY WHITAKER Mrs. Nancy Whitaker, the oldest resident of Box Elder county, died at Willard Sunday, aged 99 years and four months.

Funeral services will be held at Willard tomorrow.

She was born in Illinois, December 13, 1826. In 1838 she married James Whitaker, who erected the first house on a city lot in Ogden.

She was the mother of twelve children of whom the following seven survive: Mrs. Caroline E. Wardleigh, Mrs. Fella Sedorus, John Whitaker, Mrs. Mary A. Snow, Mrs. Josephine L. Savage, Mrs. Marjorie H. Costley.

Coming to Utah in 1850, crossing the plains, she shared the hardships of the pioneers who built the state.

Snowfall in Ogden in March 10 Inches

Snowfall in Ogden during March totaled 10.5 inches, reports J. Cecil Alfer, state meteorologist.

March was one of the stormiest months of record over much of the state, and while the preceding winter months were comparatively dry, the seasonal precipitation, December to March inclusive, compares favorably with the normal.

For the four months ending with March, 1920, the general average precipitation over the Great Salt Lake watershed was 6.90 inches; in 1919, 4.70 inches; 1918, 7.45 inches; 1917, 7.81 inches; and 1916, 9.95 inches.

Refuses Blame for Son's Waywardness

Editor Standard-Examiner: Referring to the article appearing in the last Sunday morning issue of your paper regarding my son, Vernal Dean.

In justice to myself and family I desire to state that I have resorted to every parental means towards correcting my son in his wayward course.

The statement that I have withheld money from him is untrue, as he has been provided with necessary funds at all times to meet his ordinary needs.

'DRY' DRIVE IS ON IN DUNDEE

Plan Children's Parade in Scottish Town to Stop Sale

By a Staff Correspondent of the International News Service and London Daily Express

DUNDEE, Scotland, April 13.—Three thousand children, each one with a flag, led by bands and banners, are to march through Dundee streets chanting in unison a ballad which has the refreshing refrain:

"Vote for 'no license,' swell out the chorus. Close all the drink shops in bonnie Dundee. This is the purpose that we've set before us.

The "cold comfort" party mean to do it, too, if week can win them success. There is, indeed, a strong likelihood that Dundee, with its population of 18,000, will go absolutely dry—north, south, east and west.

Dundee so far has not distinguished in the number of public houses. It has 383 licenses and a reputation for heavy liquor taking that any inquirer can confirm by observation.

There has lately been an increase of drunkenness among women—an advance of 5 per cent over the figures of a year ago. The general class of bar is lower than in any other part of the country.

These facts about Dundee's habits and conditions are being hammered home on the electorate by the Dundee citizens' committees have been formed in each ward, and 2,000 canvassers are going around from house to house taking child welfare, national health, and the civic conscience, and leaving a snowfall of appropriate literature behind them.

Large employers of labor are not bearing any conspicuous part in the temperance propaganda, but a number of them are giving financial support. They argue that no public houses will mean more moralized and more just—the two proved Dundee money makers.

The "no license" crusade is only one stride, however, for when it has captured Scotland total prohibition is to follow, while England is to be attacked in the interval.

It is curious how one is constantly crossing the trail of America while investigating the chances of Scottish dryness. Overseas forces are not yet in the big push, but they are operating behind the lines; they will come in eventually.

Various persons from the United States, with strong accents and distinct degrees, are moving around addressing small meetings at Glasgow.

COULD NOT STAND STRAIGHT

It does not take long, when the kidneys are out of order and not doing their work properly, for poisonous acids to accumulate in the system and cause aches and pains.

DAVID W. 29 St., Cleveland, O., writes: "I caught cold and it settled in my kidneys. My back and sides were so lame and sore I could not stand straight. I use Foley's Kidney Pills with good results and am glad to testify to their helping power." Sold everywhere—advertisement.
