JUST AS BAD.

Here is another about a little "Milwaukee' lad.

David's mother asked her little son to go into a darkened hall to fetch an article for her. "I'm afraid," said he, "there's a bear in there."

"There's no bear in there!" his mother replied.

"I know there isn't," said David, "but I think there is, and that's just as bad."—Milwaukee Railway System Employes' Magazine.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

The name of the bridal pair should not appear on a card announcing their new address and date for receiving, when enclosed with a wedding invitation. This is only permissable when sent with announcements of the marriage.

Questions answered by Alicia Hoyt. (Miss Hoyt will answer in this column all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a 3-cent stamp.)

Mary Jane: It is not necessary nowadays for a hostess to urge a caller to come again. Her cordiality, and her prompt return of the visit, imply her wish for a repetition of the call. Individuality should be cultivated in all things; and all cut-and-dried sayings are going out of fashion. The more one can convey by implication and manner, the less one has to say outright—and language is so limited.

Mrs. Smith: Finger bowls should always be passed with fruit. A bowl half full of water and placed upon a plate covered with a doily, is set before each guest. Often an extra plate is not provided for the fruit, in which case the guest lifts the bowl and the doily, and setting them to one side uses the plate for the fruit. After the fruit is finished, the bowl is drawn close, and the fingers are dipped in the water and wiped on the napkin.
