BOYS WERE TEMPTED BY YOUNG GIRLS

Three boys and one girl were before the juvenile court for participation in a joy ride which occurred Wednesday night, and which the three boys claim was the result of two girls climbing into an automobile and daring them to take them for a ride, according to the report of the police. The boys who were involved in the escapade are Glen Montgomery, 964 Arden avenue, William Silva, 250 Twelfth street, and Bernice Robinson, 953 Arden avenue.

A groceryman at 740 Twenty-seventh street, left his automobile standing in front of the Tenth ward meeting house Wednesday evening, while he and his wife attended a dance inside. When he came out the machine was gone and he notified the police. The machine was found later abandoned. The boys had been sent about the front of the meeting house and the police rounded them up. According to the police, the boys confessed and blamed the girls for tempting them.

TAKING CHANCES.

Wife (returned from overnight visit)—"Did you get yourself a good dinner last evening, dear?"
Hub—"Yes, there was a bit of steak in the ice box and I cooked it with a few onions I found in the cellar."
Wife—"Onions? Jack, you've eaten my bulbs."—Boston Transcript.

TWO AMERICANS HAVE CLOSE CALL

Soldiers Wounded Six Days Ago Found in a Smashed Dugout.

A MIRACULOUS CASE Found in No Man's Land by Stretcher Bearers—Germans Fire on Red Cross Flag.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Thursday, April 25.—(By The Associated Press.)—Two American soldiers, wounded in the engagement around Seicheprey last Saturday, were found alive today in a dugout in No Man's Land. The dugout had been badly smashed by German shell fire and how the men managed to keep alive, physicians say, is little short of miraculous.

One of the soldiers, Raymond Demunsky, was buried alive for three days when he crawled to the surface. He was found by stretcher bearers in No Man's Land this morning. The Germans fired on the Red Cross flag. Americans outnumbered 8 to 1.

The American troops in the Seicheprey fight, additional details show, were outnumbered in some instances, eight to one. Latest advisers are that the American casualties are much under the first estimates. Edward Jacques, a New Haven, Conn. boy, told the correspondent he was one of a hundred and fifty Americans, who were almost surrounded by at least eight hundred Germans.

French troops came to their assistance, said Jacques, who added that the "We got on fine with the Frenchmen. They had been training us so it seemed like they were our own fellows. We certainly made it hot for the Germans." Sergeant John A. Dickman of Somerville, Mass., now in a hospital, said he and his men had charge of two Stokes guns. They were isolated for twelve minutes in an enemy barrage, unable to signal the American lines.

One Man Holds Line. "Machine Gun" Parker, who manned a gun by himself, was asked by his superior officer whether he could hold the line. He replied that he could, unless killed, and he did.

Father William J. Farrell of West Newton, Mass., a regimental chaplain, proved such a good officer that a high officer offered him a commission in his company. Father Farrell went to the assistance of a battery when four of the American gunners were killed, carried up ammunition and helped work the gun. He was wounded slightly.

New Haven Hero.

Raymond Connor of New Haven, a sanitary squad runner, was one of eight men captured by the Germans who escaped and went to Seicheprey. They took charge of the first aid station there until a doctor arrived. Connor then went to the rear and organized a new squad, returned to the front and was wounded.

Propaganda balloons which have been falling on the American lines since Tuesday indicate that the Germans still are trying to undermine the French morale. The pamphlets dropped contained cartoons, poems and articles all aimed against England and the English. When the complete story of this engagement is told the bravery of the regimental chaplains will be one of the outstanding features. One of them, Father William J. Farrell, of West Newton, Mass., went to the assistance of a battery when four of the American gunners were killed and carried up ammunition and helped to keep the gun working all Saturday night. He was injured but refused to have his wound dressed on Sunday morning until he had tarried Myron Dickinson, aged 19, of Bridgeport, Conn. one of his wounded comrades, to a dugout dressing station.

Father Michael O'Connor of Boston and Father Osias Boucher of New Bedford, Mass., took charge of the cooking and washing and carried on the work of serving hot soup and food to the soldiers.

KAISER VISITS ZEEBRUGGE.

LONDON, April 26.—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent sent the following telegram received from Berlin: "The Kaiser on Tuesday visited Zeebrugge, the scene of the frustrated English raid. He boarded the mole where he convinced himself that the damage caused by the blowing up of the railway bridge had already been temporarily repaired. "He then proceeded to the canal lock where two cement laden cruisers lie. The Kaiser got a captured English captain of marines who happened to be brought past, to explain the battle." Mobile infirmaries, operated by women, are to be established behind the United States lines in France.
