CHICAGO QUOTATIONS

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Corn prices averaged higher today, influenced more or less by the food administration estimate that 200,000,000 people had been added to the bread line depending on shipments from America. On the other hand, predictions that the coming United States wheat crop would be a record breaker tended to make bulls cautious. Resting orders to sell on the advance checked the upturn. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/2¢ to a like advance, with December $1.26 1/2 and January $1.27 1/2 to 1.27 3/4, were followed by material gains in the January and later deliveries.
 Oats ascended with corn. Cash demand, however, was slow. After opening 1/4¢ down to 1/2¢ up with January 7 1/4 to 7 3/4, the market scored a moderate advance.
 Firmness in the hog market strengthened provisions. Sellers were scarce.

WORLD'S MARKETS

Heaviness of specialties caused some uncertainty in the general list in the first hour of today's stock market. Speculative issues such as Lackawanna Steel, Royal Dutch Oil and Beet Sugar forfeited 1 1/2 to 2 points. Shippings were moderately firm with Studebaker, United States Rubber, American Woolen, American Sugar, but United States Steel and high grade issues showed no pronounced trend aside from Canadian Pacific's decline of 2 points.

LIVESTOCK SHOW OPENS SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Prize-winning livestock from such widely separated districts as New York, California, Mississippi and Canada will be on exhibition at the International Exposition which will open here tomorrow and continue seven days. Prizes will total $75,000.
 "The world's greatest livestock show" is the way those in charge characterize the eighteenth annual exposition, which has a larger entry list and will be conducted on a larger scale than any of the preceding shows.
 Officials of the exposition say that despite the war drain on this country's livestock supplies, America still is in a position to assist Europe in replenishing her depleted stocks. Cattle raising which had dropped to low ebb in 1914, gained fresh impetus under the stimulating influence of war prices, officials say. With the war over, stock-raising is given additional incentive by the need of America furnishing a big percentage of the food for stricken countries of Europe during the next six months.
 Officials predict that war prices for meat will continue for some time.
 A department given over to food economics and conservation will be under the direction of Miss Catherine McKay, dean of household science at Iowa State College. Lectures will be given how to select coarser cuts of meats and how to prepare them into delicious dishes.
 "It must be the desire of every American to see our herds maintained and improved," wrote Food Administrator Hoover to B. H. Heide, secretary of the exposition, in endorsing this year's show. "We have an enormous burden to shoulder in furnishing food to the people of devastated countries of Europe during the reconstruction period. This burden will be even bigger if the world is to recover from the enormous destruction of animals, without even greater human hardship than at present.
 "The exposition, with all its collateral work, naturally becomes a huge food training camp and in so doing it is performing a great service to the country."
 A big corn show in connection with the exposition is intended to encourage greater care in selection of seed corn. Officers of the exposition declare the United States has been able not only to preserve, but to greatly augment its seed stock during the war. A junior judging contest will be held and cattle and other stock raised by boys and girls in the corn belt will be exhibited.
 Representatives of the Department of Agriculture will attend the meeting. Secretary Houston advised, Secretary McAdoo also tentatively accepted an invitation to deliver an address.

DEMOLIBIZING BRITISH ARMY

LONDON, Nov. 5. (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The British government has completed its basic plans for demobilization of the army and providing employment for the men whose sole business for four years has been war. It is calculated that 60 per cent of the men in the army will go back to their old jobs or have new ones awaiting them but taking care of the remainder even though every ounce of man-power will be needed after the war, presented a most difficult problem.
 It will be a long tedious task to transform millions of men from khaki to civil life and must be done by degrees. By the plan agreed upon these degrees have been fixed upon, the needs of industry with certain consideration being given to married men or those who may otherwise be needed in the home.
 The government has a record of what each man is best fitted for in civil life. The ministry of public service which has efficiently compiled this data, has, together with other official agencies, prepared a list of what is deemed their importance. The first few are called "key" trades, many of which produce materials needed for use in other trades. The idea is that it would be useless to release a lot of structural steel workers ahead of the men who produce steel. The trades list is complete but will not be announced because of contro-versies it might arouse.
 The fact that a man has a job awaiting him will not insure his early release. The government would like to get rid of that class but it cannot handle more than half the army at one time hence a rigid adherence to industrial needs. A soldier may be a diamond setter with a job to go to while his trench mate may be a railway brakeman without a job. The brakeman will be taken first and given an opportunity to go to work.
 It is reasonable to suppose that railway workmen, if not heading the top "key" list, are very close to the top of it and also that miners are well up. It is vitally necessary to demobilization plans to have the railways in running order and the miners are needed to increase the fuel supply for industries and home comfort. And so on down the long list practically every recognized trade is included.
 When a man has been selected for discharge he will be sent to a collection camp, the most of which of course will be in France. He will then be sent to a distributing camp in England where he will receive his allowance for civilian clothing. He will then be given a month's furlough which will mean that he will be on army pay while getting located in new work. From this stage the Minister of Labor assumes charge. He will have the aid and co-operation of local employers, associations and labor unions. Already long lists of jobs open to soldiers have been prepared. It remains for the government, employers and unions to get the job and the man together.
REICHSSTAG CONVOKED.
 PARIS, Dec. 2.—The German reichstag will be convoked shortly, according to reports in south Germany, says a Zurich dispatch to L'Informateur.

BAIL FORFEITED IN MUNICIPAL COURT

An echo of the wild mad rush of a group of bootleggers who tried to get through Ogden canyon early in October with a cargo of 515 pints of whiskey in an automobile was heard in municipal court this afternoon when sentence was pronounced in the case of Bud Ryan, George Thompson, and A. Matthews, the first of whom was charged with being drunk and the others with having liquor in their possession. None of the defendants appeared and bail was forfeited in the amount of $100 in each case.

ORDINANCES NOW ARE AMPLE IN COVERING GAMBLING

"We are in favor of the amendment of the Ogden city ordinance pertaining to gambling in any way that will not confide with the state law, and make the life of the gambler more uneasy still," said City Attorneys Reeder and Stine this morning.
 "It may not be known to the general public how well treated this matter is in the city ordinances," says Mr. Reeder. "It is possible for any police officer who has the evidence to bring guilty persons before the municipal court on a charge of misdemeanor, and the state law provides opportunity for the sheriff and his deputies to bring evidence that will enable the District Attorney to prefer charges in the district court. So far as the legal instruments go we have enough to make an onslaught on the gambling evil an easy matter."
 The ordinances referred to by the city attorneys are as follows, as they appear in The Revised Ordinances of Ogden City, Utah, 1915.
 545. page 184. Gaming Defined.—Every person who deals, plays, or carries on, opens, or causes to be opened, or who conducts either as owner or employee, whether for hire or not, any game of faro, monte, roulette, lansquet, rouge et noir, or any game played with cards, dice or any other device, for money, checks, credit, or any other representative value within the corporate limits of the city of Ogden, and every person who plays or bets at or against any of said prohibited games, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

LEUT. BROWNING IS 'SHELLED' BY HUN BATTERIES

Postmaster W. W. Browning has just received a very interesting letter from his son, Lieutenant W. J. Browning, now in the medical corps service overseas. The letter in part is as follows:
 "Was on leave for a couple of weeks. Had a very good time and gained in weight every day that I was away. Saw a show for every day. Some were good and some were fair but others were very poor. While in London I met Harold Browning, Oliver Ellis and James McKay, and we had a very pleasant evening together. My leave came very unexpectedly to me, made the most of it and came back very much improved.
 "When I came back I was with my old ambulance for three days and was then sent to a battalion. Am now with a Scottish regiment as medical officer. At the time I was loaned to another ambulance by special request for a show. I spent five hours of hell. Of course it is all over now, so I may tell you the story as it will do no one any good should the enemy get hold of it.
 "It was in a cellar where we had an advance dressing station. We were eating lunch when a shell dropped about ten feet from us. Well, two of us finished our lunch but the third one will never finish his. From then on, for five hours, our friend, the Hun, was trying his best to hit us. He put over 200 shells within a hundred and fifty yards of where we were. You may be able to form some opinion of our feelings when we were working and expecting to be blown to kingdom come any minute. The ground and surroundings looked as though it had had a very bad case of smallpox. Another American officer, who was a quarter of a mile away, said that he thought he had seen me for the last time alive. Every shell made a hole large enough to put your bedroom in. Hope that I never have such an experience again. I was jumpy for two weeks afterward. My leave put my nerves right again. If one thinks he has no nerves and goes through such an experience, he will soon find out that he is nothing but a good-sized bundle of nerves. Another such and I would be more than ready to quit.
 "I have had steel drop around me in all manners of shapes. I have one which hit the ground at my shoe, another which hit not more than a foot from me while I was writing, and still another which hit my belt. Of course it all happened over a period of five weeks, at which time I was in the line."

WAR SAVINGS STAMP CAMPAIGN IS NOW ON

In order that Weber county may collect its entire allotment, pledged in the war savings stamp drive of the summer, the committee in charge of this fund has started a publicity campaign whereby all delinquents are to be reminded of their pledges.
 Daily there will be reminders in the local papers during the month of December, and to all those who have neglected to fulfill their obligations, letters notifying them to this effect will be mailed at once.
 Had the epidemic not interfered, it was hoped by the committee that an auxiliary drive, in the nature of a dun on all delinquents would be made. But health conditions have prevented this and the method of publicity letters has been resorted to instead.
 Weber county is far in arrears on pledges to this fund, and although many who did not pledge during the drive have purchased these stamps in large amounts, the deficiency will not be covered, and as a matter of honor, it behooves those who pledged themselves for certain amounts at that time, to fulfill their agreement.

PULLMAN AND TICKET OFFICES NOW ARE ONE

In accordance with recent orders from the director general of the local Pullman offices and the ticket offices at the Union Station have been consolidated.
 Extension in office capacity of the ticket department is already under way and it is believed that this joining of offices will greatly convenience purchasers of tickets, as Pullman reservations may be made at the same time.
 Additional passage charges on sleeping and parlor cars were cancelled, December 1. This will cancel those charges which were to be made prior to the ending of the war.
 This does not change, however, parlor car rates, sleeping car rates, nor the minimum number of coach tickets required for exclusive occupancy of sleeping parlor car space.
 Western boys in the casualty list today follow:
 Lehi L. Smith, Mrs. Drucilla Smith Box 314, Malad City, Idaho.
