

JOIN THE RED CROSS

All You Need is a Heart and a Dollar

The White House, Washington, D. C., November 26, 1918.
To the American People:
One year ago twenty-two million Americans, by enrolling as members of the Red Cross at Christmas time, sent to the men who were fighting our battles overseas a stimulating message of cheer and good will. They made it clear that our people were of their own free choice united with their government in the determination not only to wage war with the instruments of destruction, but also by every means in their power to repair the ravages of the invader and sustain and renew the spirit of the army and of the homes which they represented. The friends of the American Red Cross in Italy, Belgium and France have told, and will tell again, the story of how the Red Cross workers restored morale in the hospitals, in the camps, and at the cantonments, and we ought to be very proud that we have been permitted to be of service to those whose sufferings and whose glory are the heritage of humanity.

Now, by God's grace, the Red Cross Christmas message of 1918 is to be a message of peace as well as a message of good will. But peace does not mean that we can fold our hands. It means further sacrifice. Our membership must hold together and be increased for the great tasks to come. We must prove conclusively to an attentive world that America is permanently aroused to the needs of the new era, our old indifference gone forever.
The exact nature of the future service of the Red Cross will depend upon the programme of the associated governments, but there is immediate need today for every heartening word and for every helpful service. We must not forget that our soldiers and our sailors are still under orders and still have duties to perform of the highest consequence, and that the Red Cross Christmas membership means a great deal to them. The people of the saddened lands, moreover, returning home today where there are no homes must have the assurance that the hearts of our people are with them in the dark and doubtful days ahead. Let us, so far as we can, help them back to faith in mercy and in future happiness.

As President of the Red Cross, conscious in this great hour of the value of such a message from the American people, I should be glad if every American would join the Red Cross for 1919, and thus send forth to the whole human family the Christmas greeting for which it waits and for which it stands in greatest need.

PALS SEPARATE AND GO BACK HOME ONCE MORE

"So long pal, and a merry Christmas to you," and two soldiers came to the parting of their ways at Ogden this morning. After several months of training in the same camp, after going through all the gruffness and strangeness of army life, which to the majority was a new experience in the manner of living, they had become firm, fast friends. And such has been the case with hundreds of thousands of men. Friendships of lifelong standing have been established, through the gathering together from the four corners of the earth of the men who came for the one purpose. And now the time has come, when they are parting—going back to their own homes. But truly, the whole world will be friends now, for men have met men, they have learned, cursed, and in some cases suffered the same things together. And what firmer ties of friendship can be had?
They have had the greatest spirit in the world at heart and in common, the freedom of the world—and this ideal alone has brought together men of all classes, and taught many that outside their class were men whom it was good to know.
So now it is "So Long Pal, and a merry Christmas to you." For many it is over, and they are going to their homes with a bigger, better and broader outlook on life and the lives of others than they have ever held before.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our thanks to the many friends who so kindly assisted us through the sickness and death of our son and brother.

WORLD'S MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Extensive selling of Liberty bonds, notably the fourth 4½s at the low record of 94.74, obscured operations in the stock market during the greater part of today's unrestricted session. Sales approximated 400,000 shares.
Advances of 1 to 5 points in shipplings, oils and tobaccos and reversals of 1 to 2 points in local traction and specialties afforded an indication of the irregular tone of the stock market at the opening of today's session. Some of the popular equipments improved from fractions to a point, but rails held within contracted limits, although Baltimore and Ohio rose almost a point despite the cut in the semi-annual dividend to 2 per cent. Liberty fourth 4½s fell to the new low record of 95.22. The market drifted aimlessly after the opening, dealings for the forenoon dwindling to slender proportions. Such initiative as was shown by the list at rare intervals originated with oils and a few specialties dominated by professional traders. Brooklyn Transit was conspicuous for its weakness, falling 3½ points to 23½. Its lowest quotation since 1907. Liberty fourth 4½s sagged to 94.98, a discount of over five per cent but the bond market as a whole was steady.
Stocks were unresponsive to the earlier money conditions reported later in the day. Investment rails, including Atchison and Chicago and Northwest, terna, eased about a point; shippings, oils, coppers and tobaccos reacted 1 to 3 points and steels became irregular.

X-RAY SHERIFF GAINS HATRED OF THE OFFENDER

If angry looks have in them the power to hurt and kill then at the time this story goes to press it will be right to refer to the late lamented Deputy Sheriff "Bill" Brown. The looks came from the eyes of Pete Rocheff who speaks the English language brokenly but he understands it and can make himself understood, and evidently of late all that men needed to speak to him about was, "How much for a pint?" and the broken reply would come forth.
Pete was making his way from the Union Depot when Bill espied him. Pete was carrying a neat grip and, acting upon his intuition, the "X-Ray sheriff" accosted the man and found that whisky was in the bag and on his person.
As he was being searched at the sheriff's office, Pete's eyes told a tale of lingering anger for all who averted the whisky carrier. The search revealed twenty-three pints of "Old Pepper Whisky" bottled in 1914 and sold in 1918.
"Green stuff," said a knowing one. It looked well nigh red to the reporter.
Pete will appear before Judge Roberts tomorrow morning in municipal court.

Chicago Quotations

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Absence of any aggressive buying led to moderate declines today in the corn market. The fact that rains which had been predicted were not in evidence counted to some extent as a bearish factor. Notice was also taken that it had again become permissible to carry grain in store for an unlimited period. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c off to ½c advance with January $1.36 to 1.26½c and May $1.35½ to 1.25½c, were followed by a general sag and then by partial rallies.
Oats reflected the action of corn. After opening a shade to ½c lower with January 71½ to 71¾c, the market continued to descend.
Provisions, like grain, lacked support. Marking of hogs has been so heavy that buyers were cautious.

ONE MAIL DELIVERY APPEARS TOO LATE TO FACE THE POLICE AT CITY HALL AND SANTA CLAUS APPEARS TO BE WELCOMED

In accordance with regulations, there will be one delivery of mail on Christmas day, says Postmaster W. W. Browning.
This delivery will be made in the morning, as is the usual custom, giving the carriers the remainder of the day. It is impossible to dispense with a delivery at this time, as a delay would cause considerable congestion and, furthermore, much disappointment would occur through the failure to receive Christmas boxes which were expected on that day.

Clarence Prihdo, a Mexican under arrest for disturbing the peace out at West Twenty-first street, failed to appear in court this morning at the time appointed, but after court was dismissed and the judge departed, he came along, saying he had been to work.
Under the conditions, his case will be called tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Prihdo has deposited bail to the amount of $50.
James Holland, who has been held by the city police while they made investigations into the circumstances of an acquaintance with whom he keeps company, was released this morning on recommendation of Assistant City Attorney David L. Stine who said that the man had very clearly demonstrated that he had nothing whatever to do with his friend's actions in the attempt to pass worthless checks.

Did ever anybody in the world before see Santa Claus before Christmas? The city commissioners and a very discreet reporter did, right in the office of Mayor T. S. Browning this morning. He came along there so quietly that nobody heard him at all. Nobody saw that he was there, until they just kind of looked up and saw him.
Well, for what do you think he was there? He didn't say that the reporter might tell, so the reporter isn't going to say what he said. But first of all he hushed them all up. And if you know the city commissioners as reporters do, you will know what that means. But Santa is a very wonderful, for all his thousands and thousands and thousands of years. He hushed 'em all up, he did, and then very slowly he said something, and Mayor Browning smiled above his funny specs, and Miles Jones smiled, and Mr. Flygar beamed, and the reporter smiled, and although Santa very nearly couldn't be heard, the reporter heard what he said because that is what reporters are paid for, and the reporter heard something about "poor children" and "very busy" and "almost out of gifts," and then the mayor spoke up and he said:
"Well, old friend, suppose we give you so and so." And Santa said that will be altogether too much, and "if some of the rich little boys and girls don't get all they want, they will remember that it was because with the war and everything and all these French and Belgian and Serbian and Armenian children over in Europe, I couldn't even do everything that I wanted to. But every little boy and girl who is good will believe that I am still in the same old business. Thank you, ever so much, for your help, Mr. Mayor and commissioners. You have helped me a lot and the blessings of little children who are poor will be upon you."
And then the reporter rubbed his eyes and Santa was gone.

SURPRISES THE FOLKS AT HOME

Private Raymond E. Wardleigh, 49th balloon company, U. S. army, delighted the hearts of his parents by walking in on them from the 10 o'clock train from the east yesterday morning by which he had traveled from Camp Morrison, Newport News, Va.
Private Wardleigh is the son of Captain H. H. Wardleigh, of the fire department, and will take up his duties as a fireman on the Southern Pacific railroad at the beginning of the new year.
Little Hazel was visiting in the country last summer, and, seeing a black, red and white calf in the barn, she ran to her Uncle Harry and said, "Oh, Uncle Harry, come out to the barn and see the cute little cow with the calves skin."
