BEE CULTURE IN THIS COUNTY.

In searching for occupations suitable to disabled soldiers, the federal board devoted to vocational training of the men, has suggested bee culture. Before sugar was made in quantities from cane for commercial purposes, says a board member, much of the sweet in food came from honey. Shortage of sugar during the war restored honey to its former popularity, and this increased demand served, as it usually does, to raise the price. For these reasons the production of honey promises to be a profitable business. The federal board for vocational education encourages the disabled soldier, who has a leaning towards outdoor life and who wants independence, to take up the subject of beekeeping. The work is light and the hours short. The investment requires little money but a large amount of brains, and the financial returns are good.

Weber county offers an opportunity for beekeeping, although the conditions are not as favorable today as when a greater area of the county was in alfalfa and the bees found nectar in the bloom.

A new phase of bee culture has been developed of late. Bee men now bring bees in by the carload from southern California. The shipments are made in early spring and late in the fall the bees are shipped back to the warmer climate, and the transporting of the colonies is said to prove profitable.

PRESIDENT IN OGDEN.

That was a pleasing message which came from Washington yesterday, assuring the people of Ogden they would have an opportunity, on the afternoon of September 23, of entertaining the President of the United States.

Now that Ogden is included in the stops which the President will make, preparations should proceed to give the distinguished man a hearty welcome.

Without delay a meeting should be held for the purpose of planning the reception and issuing invitations to the good people of northern Utah and southern Idaho to join with Ogden in paying tribute to the head of this nation.

Towns nearby should be urged to send large delegations. A big part of Brigham City, Corinne, Tremonton, Malad, Garland, and of Logan and other Cache valley communities should be present.

President Wilson will go down in history as the man who had more to do with the changing of the map of the world than any other man, and those who hail him will be greeting the most prominent ruler among the living. Those not of his political faith may say the President has blundered, and that, therefore, he is not to be accepted as other than of the ordinary mould of clay, but all must concede, who are not blinded by prejudice, that Woodrow Wilson is of great mental caliber and has made a deeper imprint on our national life than any President since the time of Lincoln. More great problems were brought to President Wilson than confronted all the presidents since 1865, and, whether the solutions were correct, matters not as bearing on our statement as to the power that came to this man in the White House and the influence his acts have had on mankind.

As an historical figure, President Wilson should be seen by the children of all this region.

As head of the nation, in this time of lessening disrespect for constituted authority, the President should be honored as never before.

AFTER THE TOURISTS.

France is not slow to capitalize its misfortunes as the following from W. E. Nash, cabled from Paris, discloses:

Existing tourist agencies are to have a rival in the French government. Recently there has been attached to the ministry of public works an official travel bureau. Its job will be to show American tourists the battle fields on the western front and other points of interest that they may wish to see in France.

The undertaking is large, as the bureau has to provide transportation and hotel accommodations in districts which are now almost devoid of them.

The plan was explained to me by the director, M. Famechon, as follows:

"There is now before the chamber of deputies a bill asking for a grant of 30,000,000 francs (normally $6,000,000) to subsidize the national tourist office of France and it will probably be passed next week. This money will be used chiefly for hotel construction in the devastated regions, where everything in the nature of tourist accommodations was destroyed during the war. The buildings will be plain outside, but luxurious within. Work has already been started among the ruins of Verdun, Soissons, Rheims and Amiens. Our bureau will provide everything necessary for the comfort of tourists.

"We intend to establish branch offices in New York, Chicago and other large American cities, where a complete tour of France can be mapped out, steamship and railroad tickets can be bought, and hotel rooms to fit the pocketbook of any tourist will be listed. Our lists will be strictly adhered to once the traveler arrives in France. In short, a complete estimate of the expenses can be made beforehand. From New York to the battle fields and return everything can be arranged through our agents.

"On the fields of combat themselves the guides will be demobilized French soldiers, who have passed a special examination to enter this service. Most of them have fought on the very spots which they will show to the visitors. A large proportion of them will speak English.

"Transportation from the railroad to the battle sites will be provided by comfortable touring cars. Besides the devastated regions our parties will visit other parts of France interesting to tourists.

"This is a work the co-ordination of which ought to have been accomplished even before the war. We expect that both France and America will derive much benefit and satisfaction from it."

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL GIVE AN HOUR TO OGDEN ON THE AFTERNOON OF SEPTEMBER 23

President Woodrow Wilson and his party will pay Ogden a brief visit of an hour on the afternoon of Tuesday, September 23, according to word received here by President Warren L. Wattle of the Weber club and the Ogden Publicity bureau. The President and his party will be taken for a ride through the streets of Ogden and if time is available, the leader of the nation will be offered a brief trip to Ogden canyon. The train will arrive from the west at 2:30 on that afternoon, and it is expected that thousands of

Columbus People Forced to Walk to Work by Strikers

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3.—Columbus awoke this morning to find an unexpected strike of motormen and conductors on its street car lines. Thousands of workers were forced to walk or ride to work on wagons and trucks.

The union car men stated the strike had been called to obtain better working conditions and higher pay, but their demands were not made public early today.

After the last owl car had been run into the barn, the company made no attempt to operate cars on the regular day schedule.

American Minister To Poland Confers With Delegates

PARIS, Tuesday, Sept. 2.—Hugh Gibson, American minister to Poland, arrived in Paris tonight from Warsaw to confer with the American delegation at the peace conference on Polish affairs. visitors from the northern part of Utah as well as Idaho will be present to get a glimpse of the first leader of the land.

President Wattle sent two telegrams to the Utah senators with the approval of Mayor T. Samuel Browning and other city officials and President J. S. Lewis of the merchants of Ogden. The telegram follows:

"Ogden, Utah, Aug. 30, 1919.
"Hon. Wm. H. King, Hon. Reed Smoot, U. S. senate, Washington, D. C.

"Associated Press dispatches indicate President Wilson will pass through this city twice on Sept. 23. Citizens of northern Utah will be greatly disappointed unless he can be induced to stop for a short time. We therefore request you urge through proper parties that arrangements be made for him to leave train at this junction point for short ride about city. This would prevent undesirable congestion of crowds around terminal and would permit the president and his party to see and be seen by at least fifty thousand of Utah citizens. We will not urge the making of an address unless this is entirely agreeable to the president. I am authorized and requested by Mayor Browning and by John S. Lewis, president of the merchants of Ogden, to state that they join with me in this request.

"WARREN L. WATTLE, President Weber club.

Senator King of Utah acknowledged this message and stated that he was urging the president to modify the schedule in order that he could spend a few minutes in Ogden. In a late fire yesterday afternoon from Senator Smoot to President Wattle, Senator Smoot stated that the president gladly accepted the invitation. Time, however, will not permit the president to make a public speech. The message from Senator King follows:

Message From King.
"Washington, Sept. 2, 1919.
"Hon. Warren L. Wattle, Weber club, Ogden, Utah.

"President appreciated invitation extended by you in behalf of municipal officials and organizations and citizens of Ogden and wishes to express his thanks for same. President regrets unable to deliver address but is desirous that schedule in Utah be so arranged as to permit him to spend an hour in Ogden and meet the people and drive through the city as suggested in your telegram. Please consult with governor and try to arrange if possible schedule so president can stop at Ogden as indicated.

Frelinghuysen Is Given Severe Rebuke in Senate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Sharp criticism in the senate today by Senator Frelinghuysen, Republican, New Jersey, of Attorney General Palmer drew a vigorous defense of Mr. Palmer from Senators Underwood, Alabama, and Williams, Mississippi, Democrats.

The New Jersey senator, replying to accusations made against him by Mr. Palmer in a recent statement, assailed Mr. Palmer's administration of the alien property custodian's office and flatly charged him with having pro-German sympathies before the entrance of this country into the war, declared he had received "German agents in his own house." Mr. Frelinghuysen also asserted that Mr. Palmer was the "intermediary with President Wilson for German interests seeking to condone the Lusitania incident.

In defense of Mr. Palmer, Senator Underwood declared Senator Frelinghuysen has "assaulted" and "misrepresented" the attorney general and had deceived the senate and the public.

"There is no question of Mr. Palmer's loyalty," Senator Underwood declared, adding that charges against him had emanated from German interests opposing disposition of German property seized.

Senator Williams asserted charges against Mr. Palmer were "outrageous" and "ridiculous." He also asserted the charges originated with German interests seeking to discredit him.

Senator Williams' retorts were so caustic that Senator Frelinghuysen interrupted to invoke the senate rules against the senator impugning another's motives, but Senator Williams replied that he thought the New Jersey senator had been involved in the attack upon Mr. Palmer "quite unwillingly" after it had begun by German interests.

Oldest Living Man In U. S. Celebrates 131st Anniversary

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 3.—John Shell, said to be the oldest living man in the United States, today celebrated the 131st anniversary of his birth here.

The aged mountaineer celebrated his birthday by taking his first automobile ride. He told friends that this is the first birthday on which he did not work and said he was anxious to get back to his farm on which, he said, there is a mortgage.

Shell told newspapermen that he does not expect to live to see another birthday. "I am getting old now," was his explanation. He came from Leslie county to attend a fair.

GREETINGS TO AMERICAN BAR

Famous Jurist Extends Congratulations of Bench and Bar of England.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—The greetings of the bench and bar of England were brought to the American Bar association at its annual meeting here today by Viscount Finlay, formerly lord chancellor of England. The famous jurist said that the legal profession of England was proud of the development which the common law of England had received in the United States.

"It is indeed a great heritage, that of the common law of England, to which we of both sides of the Atlantic have fallen heir," Viscount Finlay said. "You, like ourselves, are proud of its traditions and of the spirit of liberty which it breeds.

"The recent war," he continued, "has given a signal illustration of what international law owes to the supreme court of the United States. It was by that court that the doctrine of continuous voyage in its application to contraband and blockade was worked out at the time of your civil war on the lines originally traced by Lord Stowell in another connection."

Viscount Finlay said that the relations between the judiciary bench in England and the judiciary bench in America have ever been most cordial, and that the same was true of the relations of the bars of the two countries.

JAPANESE ENVOY TO PARIS GIVEN WARM WELCOME

TOKIO, Sunday, Sept. 1.—(By The Associated Press.) Marquis Kimmochi Saionji, former premier and head of the Japanese delegation at the peace conference in Paris arrived today being given an enthusiastic welcome by thousands at the station. An untoward incident occurred following an address to the crowd by a student who denounced Marquis Saionji, claiming that his work in Paris had been a failure. Several workmen threw stones at the station but no damage was done.

Marquis Saionji is quoted as saying "every nation is dissatisfied with the results attained at the peace conference but the league of nations has produced a great change in the position of Japan in international politics. Her political interests are now becoming world-wide."
