WEBER CLUB ASKED TO AID DRIVE FOR EDUCATION

SALT LAKE, Dec. 30.—“Utah has one of the best educational systems in the union, but there is still much room for improvement,” according to George N. Child, state superintendent of instruction, in an address yesterday before members of the various business and civic organizations of Salt Lake at the Commercial club.

“A sad condition prevailing at present is the fact that many of the best teachers in the state are leaving the schools to enter other fields of endeavor where they will receive greater compensation for their efforts,” Mr. Child continued.

The National Educational association will hold its national convention in Salt Lake July 4 to July 10, 1920, according to a telegram received yesterday by Superintendent Child. He estimates that about 10,000 teachers from all parts of the United States will attend. The telegram was read at the luncheon yesterday.

Outlining the aims of the educational program for the coming year, Mr. Child stated that the board of education has three big objectives, namely, health education, the teaching of good citizenship and practical education. “These,” he added, “can not be attained unless we receive the whole-hearted co-operation of the people of the state in support of this program.”

Following a discussion as to what immediate action should be taken, it was moved by Nephil L. Morris that a committee of five be elected to inaugurate the campaign and appoint a general committee to handle the details in each locality. The general committee will consist of representatives of the Kiwanis, Commercial and Rotary clubs, the Utah Federation of Labor, Utah Associated Industries, Utah Manufacturers' association, the Weber club of Ogden, the Woman's clubs of the state and representatives from Ogden, Price, Provo, Logan and Richfield. This committee will receive the cooperation of the educators of the state in any way desired. Those elected to the executive committee are: Frank B. Stephens, Nephil L. Morris, Herbert Van Dam, Jr., Frank Driggs of Ogden and Curtis B. Hawley. This committee will meet today at the Commercial club and outline in detail the plans for the campaign, including the naming of the general committee.

NAMES WANTED OF PERSONS WHO HELPED BUILD OLD UTAH CENTRAL

All residents of Weber county, who took part in the construction of the Utah Central railroad fifty years ago are urged to get in touch with the Utah Central Railway Jubilee committee at the capitol, Salt Lake.

The committee is desirous of paying the railroad pioneers proper recognition at the jubilee to be held in Salt Lake January 10.

D. W. Parratt, secretary of the jubilee, has asked the aid of The Standard in getting in touch with these pioneers. He writes: “A jubilee celebration of the completion of the Utah Central railway fifty years ago is to be held in Salt Lake City on January 10, 1920. We are anxious to get in touch with all those who took part in the construction of the railway so as to give them proper recognition in connection with the celebration. We would, therefore, appreciate your calling attention to this in your paper, asking all who were thus engaged to send their names, ad-resses, and information as to just where they worked, what they did, and the like to our office at a very early date. The members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the jubilee are: General committee—Governor Simon Bamberger, Mayor Mont Ferry, Mayor-elect E. A. Bock, C. W. Penrose, C. F. Stillman, Andrew Jensen, D. S. Spencer, John A. Whitson, D. W. Parratt, Emma Lindsay, B. H. Roberts, H. V. Platt, J. E. Gallagher, A. C. Reese, Elizabeth Hayward, General Richard W. Young, J. S. Early, Jerrold R. Letcher, Joseph Decker, Lily C. Wolstenholme, George D. Pyper, Early Jay Glade, Col. Willard Young. Executive committee—Mayor-elect E. A. Bock, chairman, Andrew Jensen, vice chairman, C. F. Stillman, D. S. Spencer, A. C. Reese. D. W. Parratt, secretary and treasurer, Room 121 State Capitol, Salt Lake City, Utah.

sode, when she appears as the opera star. This episode, by the way, is by far the best in the story. Many fine examples of acting are displayed by the cast in support of Miss Young. Ralph Lewis, Milton Sills, Sara Sothren, Gareth Hughes, Pauline Starke, Edmund Lowe and Vincent Serrano are seen in the play. And a magnificent bit of child acting is seen. This infant artist is wonderful and “steals” all the school-room scenes for himself. The picture will run all this week at the Utah theatre.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG IN “EYES OF YOUTH” HER BEST PICTURE

Most wonderful. I have never seen Clara Kimball Young perform such wonderful acting before, was the expression remarked as people passed out after the show.

“The Eyes of Youth” received the high praise and applause of any picture ever screened at the Utah theatre. Many people were turned away, unable to get standing room, three times the box office had to stop selling tickets and Manager Ehn claims the crowds who went away unable to get in were big enough to fill any theatre in the city.

It is perhaps the best thing Clara Kimball Young has done, and as a whole, the picture is, perhaps, the best that has ever adorned the screen. In transferring “Eyes of Youth” to the screen, the producers appear to have expended money, skill and intelligence ungrudgingly, and the reward of their labors is a production of pictorial magnificence. The picture has finish and finesse.

Miss Young's performance is surprisingly fine in a role that requires the expression of particularly all of the emotions. Before the play has been completed, Miss Young has appeared as a young woman apprehensively standing upon the threshold of mature womanhood, a self-sacrificing drudge to the whims of weak relatives, a courtesan, and lastly, the woman who marries wealth and thereby divorces herself from happiness. And through all this Miss Young moves successfully, at times giving a performance of considerable impressiveness. She has her best opportunity in the second ep-

ROBBER OF WOMAN IN HOTEL IS GIVEN NINETY DAYS

D. R. DuMont, arrested last week in connection with the murder of George Lowes, pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny in the city court this morning and was sentenced to spend 90 days in the city jail by Judge D. R. Roberts.

DuMont when arrested had a large amount of money and as he was in destitute circumstances a few days prior to the murder, he was held as a suspect. He later confessed he obtained the money by robbing a guest at the Marion hotel.

DuMont is married. He was employed by the American Railway Express company.

PRETTY CHILLY THIS MORNING, BUT IT'S TO BE WARMER

Three above zero. That is the mark at which the mercury stood at 8:30 o'clock this morning. During the past three days the mercury has dropped from 7 degrees above to 3 above but now the weather man comes forth with the news that it will be warmer tonight.

This ideal weather for coasting, skating, and general winter sports—but with the dial of the thermometer reported rising the snow that now covers Ogden—is due to depart, unless more comes.

The weather prediction for tonight and Wednesday is: Partly cloudy and warmer tonight and Wednesday, possibly snow in northwest portion.
