

PROF. HOBBS DEBATES LEAGUE

Quotes Wilson, Wood and Roosevelt, and Believes It Best to Abandon Idea.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 30. — Quoting from President Wilson, General Wood and Theodore Roosevelt, Professor William H. Hobbs, of the University of Michigan, told the American Association for the Advancement of Science today that it was time to determine whether we had not better abandon the idea of the league of nations before it was entered upon.

"President Wilson has admitted of the scheme for which he stands sponsor before the world, that with its adoption we would embark upon uncharted seas," said Prof. Hobbs. "We need then, the advice of those best qualified to forecast the storms we are likely to encounter and to determine whether we had not better abandon the adventure before it is entered upon. The real question before the American people has from the start been one of the reliability of judgment of its political prophets."

In quoting President Wilson, Prof. Hobbs said: "Standing in the presence of the assembled delegates to the peace conference at the formal presentation of the covenant of the league of nations, Woodrow Wilson declared of this instrument: 'It is definite as a guarantee of peace. It is definite as a guarantee against aggression.'"

"On the other hand General Leonard Wood has made the statement that the claim that any covenant will protect the world from future wars is idle chatter and a dream of mollycoddles. The pacifists, moreover tell lies when they say war is an institution. It is dead. Don't listen to the mollycoddles. Be a citizen of common sense."

"Which guide are we to follow? Each has been a leader in the recent past when the issue was, as now, both national security and world idealism. Woodrow Wilson declared we could not become involved in the war and that the affairs of Europe were not our concern, so he advocated non-preparedness as the remedy. Leonard Wood declared that we were very likely to become involved in the war, that our only safety was in making preparations for any contingency, that the world struggle was our war and he urged all that he had to save the country and his country's honor."

"The pacifists' solution did not then want to keep us out of war, despite Mr. Wilson's counseling promises, and the internationalists' solution which is now no less confidently offered to charm away future wars has an equal chance of success."

"Theodore Roosevelt tells us: 'It is well at this time for sober and resolute men and women to apply that excellent variety of wisdom colloquially known as "horse sense" to the problems of nationalism and internationalism. Nations are made, defended and preserved, not by the illusionists, but by the men and women who practice the homely virtues in time of peace and who in time of righteous war are ready to die, or to send those they love best to die, for a shining ideal.'"

Shepherd Dog Stands Guard Over Master's Body for 60 Hours

PHOENIX, ARIZ., Dec. 31.—How a shepherd dog stood guard over her master's body for two days and three nights to protect it from prowling animals and birds of prey has been related here by Humane Officer J. W. Manning.

Ernos F. Williams, son of J. H. Williams, of Phoenix, died July 15, last, while herding goats and sheep in the mountains about 55 miles north of here. He fell over as though from heart disease, his father heard afterwards.

A Mexican herder called "Lady," the shepherd dog, to the body and said: "Stay with him." The Mexican walked toward Phoenix until he met an American who telephoned news of the death to the youth's father.

J. H. Williams started from Phoenix at once. Because of hard rains and snows, he had difficulty in getting into the mountain fastnesses where the flocks pastured. Finally he reached the spot where the body lay, the dog still on guard. She growled viciously as he approached, he said, but as soon as she saw he meant no harm, she licked his hand. She was worn from her long vigil, half starved and faint with thirst but when he tried to lead her to a place to drink, she refused to budge and ran back to her master's body.

There she stayed until neighbors had been summoned from miles away to take the body to the mortuary. Then she consented to be turned over to the head shepherd of the Williams' flocks who had instructions to take her to the place where she received always the best of care.

Whisky Smuggling Across Border Cause of Grave Concern

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 31.—Whisky smuggling across the border from Mexico into the United States at El Paso, is causing customs officials grave concern, according to agents here. Since July 1 last, 120 lots of smuggled liquor have been seized by government agents and much of it has been sent to the army and navy hospitals in the United States.

The federal grand jury returned 162 indictments for smuggling between April and October and convictions have been obtained in about 90 per cent of the cases. Sentences of from one to two years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans., were imposed in most cases.

It is stated here that American intoxicants are being exported into Mexico and that customs officials of that country are planning to protest against this. Such exports would be illegal after January 16 next when the prohibition amendment to the constitution goes into effect.

Hapgood Explains Attitude Toward Russian Soviets

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Norman Hapgood issued a statement here tonight in explanation of his resignation as minister to Denmark, in which he categorically denied having expressed sympathy for, or having had relations with the soviet government of Russia.

He declared his views have not changed regarding the maintenance of the blockade and that he still believes bolshevism is strengthened by it, not only in Russia but elsewhere. "In proportion as Europe suffers from the inability to get raw materials and food from Russia and to send her manufactured articles in return."

Charges that Mr. Hapgood had been in friendly relations with Lenin and Trotsky were originally made in Harvey's Weekly and the former minister said that one of his reasons for asking to be released from the diplomatic service, "was the necessity of answering Colonel George Harvey's insinuations." His attack was "foolish and vindictive," he asserted.

Mr. Hapgood said he has been opposed to communism all his life and denounced the charge that he was a plenipotentiary of Lenin and Trotsky as a "grotesque falsehood."

He characterized an accusation that he had used the American legation at Copenhagen as a "trading post" for the soviet government as "despicable."

Mr. Hapgood explained that Alexander Berkenheim, representing 17,000,000 co-operatives of Russia, came to America with a letter from Prince Kropotkin, and they met. He said he agreed with the Russian that the best way to overcome bolshevism was to restore trade and he gave Berkenheim letters to government officials here, urging he be permitted to ship out piled up stores of flax and hemp valued at $300,000,000 awaiting export in possession of the co-operatives and to import machinery, shoes and medicine.

Out of this, Mr. Hapgood said, arose the false charge that he had made "repeated overtures" in Wall street, to finance the bolsheviks, Berkenheim being so anti-bolshevik, he stated, as to have been arrested five times.

Imports From U. S. to Chile Increase Enormously in 1919

VALPARAISO, Dec. 31.—Leading imports from the United States to Chile have increased enormously in the last four years as shown by figures made public here. In Chilean currency they were valued at 51,964,260 pesos and in 1916 at 293,451,891 pesos, (nominally a Chilean peso equals about 36½ cents United States cents).

The increase in imports in the United States has continued in 1919 and they are expected to exceed those of last year.

This growth in business between the two countries is attributed to improvement in banking facilities, better information concerning buyers and credit and the possibility of direct negotiation of drafts instead of by way of Europe.

One leading Chilean merchant states that in the past five years North American business men have adjusted their methods of doing business so as to comply with the requirements of Chilean buyers. At present, he said, there were no difficulties worth mentioning in the way of this trade which was developing in a manner satisfactory to both buyer and seller.

Buyers, he said, find the products sent to them are in fulfillment of their orders and sellers are satisfied with the dependability of Chilean merchants.

Un-retouched photograph showing Goodyear Cord Tires that gave Monte Young's truck positive traction over its rigorous mountain route

Duchesne Freighter Proves That Pneumatics Do More Work

A year ago 20 privately-owned motor trucks were freighting between Duchesne and Helper, Utah. Monte Young's truck wore Goodyear Cord Tires, and the rest were on solid tires. The untailing traction of Young's pneumatics enabled all-year operation whereas the others were tied up from autumn until late spring. Today, due to his pioneering experience on pneumatics 20 government trucks operating between Duchesne and Helper run on Goodyear Cord Tires.

DOWNSTATE between Duchesne and Helper, Monte Young found that Goodyear Cord Tires enabled him to freight a 4,000 pound load daily over 52 miles of a difficult mountain route.

A year ago last summer nineteen other freighters were using solid-tired trucks to haul between the railroad at Helper and the mountain towns to the north, but only Mr. Young's pneumatics kept going after the dry weather.

And even in the dry weather, the Young truck was known as the one that carried the most loads every week. Its big round, yielding tires gripped the treacherous soft spots and constantly helped the driver make good time.

Later when it rained and snowed, when steep grades were slippery, the solid-tired trucks found that the going became impossible. Eight months of the year, only the Cords can traction in this region.

By multiplying the earning power of the Young truck Goodyear Cord Tires paid for themselves many times over.

As a result, it is now reported that every truck freighting between Helper and Duchesne wears Goodyear Cords. Your truck also may be able to do more work and more reliable work on Goodyear Cord Tires. Ask us to make our free analysis of your hauling conditions. Determine today whether you need Solid, Cushion or Cord Tires.

Harvest Hands and Employers Reach Agreement

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 30.—An agreement has been reached between the harvest hands and the employers, favorable to the former, at Tres Arroyos, Buenos Aires province, the center of the agrarian unrest. The settlement, it is believed, will forestall further manifestations of violence, declared to have been incited by foreign anarchistic elements.

La Epoca, the government organ, says that similar settlements are expected in other centers.

The discontent among the harvest hands of Buenos Aires province flamed into outbreak of violence December 19. The outbreaks followed upon the distribution of circulars threatening to burn the entire harvest of Argentina unless the authorities release before January 20 those convicted of violations of "the social law," under which the government has been proceeding against anarchists and other agitators. The circulars were signed "the revolutionary group."

Henry A. Wise Wood on League of Nations

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 30.—In discussing the league of nations, according to the American idea before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Henry A. Wise Wood of New York, said:

"None of us can foretell the future, but all of us can review the past. Some may fervently believe that warfare is preventable, but these must admit that never in the history of the world have men been able to achieve more than an armed truce.

"If our statutes are powerless to prevent broken faith and violence among men, we ask ourselves how then are the less definite and more indifferently sanctioned provisions of a covenant of peace to prevent irreconcilable disagreement or broken faith and violence among nations?" The law can punish, it cannot prevent—but international punishment is war, and it is war that we wish to be rid of.

"What folly therefore to erect any international structure upon the hypothesis that a complete overthrow of the combative nature of man can be brought about by a company of men, however wise, and warfare be by them brought to an end for all time.

"If we turn to the many attempts that the idealist has made to deal with warfare as an evil we find that he had failed in the past to perceive that war is a recurring phenomenon and as such is among the inevitable occurrences of life.

"He forgets that the most enduring covenant of peace practically has followed every war of history; and that war has followed every such peace."
