

Shortest Nominating Speech on Record Made By Jenkins

Convention Breaks Loose When Dr. Burris Jenkins of Kansas City says: "I Nominate William G. McAdoo"—Police Called to Get Jam Untangled.

AUDITORIUM, San Francisco, June 30.—William G. McAdoo was placed in nomination for the presidency late this afternoon at the Democratic national convention in one of the shortest nominating speeches on record, by Dr. Burris Jenkins of Kansas City.

After Cox, Palmer, Gerard, Cummings, Hittcock and others had been placed in nomination, Jenkins took the platform and told the convention that in view of the persistent and insistent demands for McAdoo that no nominating speech be made for him, he would accede to that request, but that it might be necessary to "draft him for the service of the nation."

Rumors that McAdoo would not serve if nominated, Jenkins said, the convention could be dismissed as the "work of enemies."

Jenkins merely said: "I nominate William G. McAdoo," and the post-up enthusiasm of the McAdoo forces broke loose in a noisy demonstration.

So great did the crush become around the assembling point that the police were called on to get the jam untangled and to keep the demonstrators from breaking down the little platform used by the speakers. This jostled out from the front line of the stage and convention officials seemed to fear that it would be stripped away entirely.

The end of thirty-five minutes of demonstrating saw another attempt to get the shouters into union, and for a little while a man with a megaphone got considerable harmony behind a repetition of "We want McAdoo," "We want McAdoo."

It was not for long, however, for the enthusiasts preferred to keep the demonstration in their own hands and to keep it up from their own diversified ways.

Forty minutes from the start of the noise, Senator Robinson made his first attempt for order. It was apparent that the demonstration was dying out, but there still were many who wanted to keep it alive a little longer, and they paid no attention to the exhortations of John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain, who was the only man on the list of those for whom nominating speeches were to be made who was not reached on the day's program. The candidates placed in nomination were Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Attorney General Palmer, Senator Hittcock of Nebraska, Tippecanoe Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, William G. McAdoo, Governor Smith of New Jersey, Secretary Meredith, Governor Cox of Ohio and James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany.

The big demonstrations of the day came at the presentation of Palmer, Cox and McAdoo; also there was a spontaneous outburst with the presentation of Governor Smith.

The Cox and Palmer demonstrations were fully expected, but the McAdoo nomination, coming after days of uncertainty as to whether a nominating speech was to be made for him, added an element of interest and surprise. It easily was the longest, loudest and most tumultuous demonstration in an uproar for the best part of an hour.

Dr. Burris Jenkins of Kansas City, who was ready to place the former secretary of the treasury in nomination, finally decided to yield to the wishes of Mr. McAdoo and not make a nominating speech for him. He simply explained the situation to the convention in one of the shortest speeches on record, and announced he had placed Mr. McAdoo in nomination, fully assured that "if drafted for the service of the nation" he would not refuse the nomination.

CHAMP CLARK NAMED BY OLD LINE LEADERS

McAdoo Thought to Have Inside Track and Enemies Conspire to Defeat Him.

OPponents HOPE TO ENLIST BRYAN'S AID

Efforts Being Made By Democratic Standpatters to Get in Touch.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Seemingly in agreement that William G. McAdoo has the inside track on the Democratic presidential nomination tonight, attempts were being made within the inner circle of old-line Democratic party leaders to prevent his selection by the convention. The plan includes prominent consideration of Champ Clark, former speaker of the house of representatives, as a candidate.

It was understood that efforts were being made to get in touch with Mr. Clark to learn if he would accept the nomination. It is understood that among those whom the combination would hope to enlist in its support is William Jennings Bryan, who encompassed the defeat of Clark at Baltimore in 1912 after a majority had voted for him, and forced the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

Bryan's acknowledged veto power over any candidate through the operation of the rule which requires two-thirds of the delegates for a nomination, made his support a factor sought by the plank managers. Conferences among the old-line leaders were going on actively immediately after today's session of the convention, and they made it plain in their private expressions that they were going to any possible length to beat McAdoo.

Barnard of Renville, attorney for 25 citizens of the Seventh congressional district, announced today that action will be instituted contesting the nomination on the Republican ticket of the Rev. O. J. Kvale of Benson, who defeated Congressman A. J. Volstead in the June 21 primary.

Inferential charges alleged to have been made in a pamphlet circulated a week before the election in behalf of the Rev. Kvale's candidacy will form the basis for the contest under the corrupt practices act. Mr. Barnard states Kvale was endorsed by the Non-Partisan league.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrup," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
