THE OLD, OLD SONGS.

No well of sentiment is deeper than that which opens when the old songs reach the ears of the aged. This was made evident on Tuesday when the old folks heard one of the songs of long ago and became deeply affected.

In "Ben Bolt" this call on memory is presented: And don't you remember the school, Ben Bolt, With the master so kind and true.

Another heart throb is produced in that song of forty years ago, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie": I wander today to the hill, Maggie, To watch the scene below.

A city so silent and lone, Maggie, Where the young and the gay and the best, In polished white mansions of stone, Maggie.

Not one of the old songs brings a more mellowed effect than "Silver Threads Among the Gold": Darling, I am growing old, Silver threads among the gold.

Oh, my darling, you will be, will be, Always young and fair to me. When your hair is silvery white, And your eyes no longer bright,

Oh, my darling, you will be, will be, Always young and fair to me. Somewhat different is "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," the song which offers an abiding consolation:

WHO WILL BE NAMED?

This is Democracy's greatest day. Much depends on the wisdom of the delegates gathered in San Francisco as to whether the party shall continue to be at the head of national affairs.

With a man, behind whose record they can unite, the Democrats will have a fighting chance in the mighty contest of parties which is impending.

The news from the convention late last night was to the effect that William G. McAdoo had been placed in nomination and his name had aroused a demonstration unparalleled by any of the other outbursts in support of candidates.

Next to McAdoo, Governor Cox of Ohio has popularity on his side. He is winning favor because he has been able to defeat the Harding forces in Ohio.

Attorney General Palmer has a formidable following but evidently lacks the power of personality to grip the delegates.

JAPANESE EMBITTERED.

When the outburst against Japan in the United States senate was most bitter, this paper predicted that the agitation would bring us no good. Dispatches from Japan now tell of a widespread discussion of the seriousness of the international relations.

The national convention of chambers of commerce has adopted a resolution declaring that the agitation is assuming grave proportions and expressing the fear that if it is left unchecked the interests of Japanese in California, the result of years of toil and labor, will be doomed.

"This is regrettable for American-Japanese amity," the resolution says. "We must arouse public opinion, raise the voice of justice against the anti-Japanese movement and seek permanent solutions of the questions involved."

DR. VANCE'S DAILY ARTICLE

BY DR. JAMES I. VANCE.

What a pleasant glory the flowers put on every spring! Note them as the parade goes by. First come the crocuses and the daffodils, and then the stately hyacinths and ardent tulips and blue-eyed violets.

The flowers keep coming every spring, saying: "Winter is gone! It is as though they would say that winter cannot be permanent. Some time it will go never to come back.

Suppose God had grown no blossoms in His garden; what a lame, dull, brown world it would be! He is a great artist who colors a rose and paints the buttercup.

The same flowers come back to us.

A tulip never makes a violet, a dahlia never slips into a rose. The flowers sleep through winter and when with the first caress of spring, but they are themselves when they awaken.

HEALTH BY UNCLE SAM, M. D.

FEEDING YOUR CHILDREN.

Your candid opinion as to the feeding of cabbage, cinnamon rolls, peas, beans, corn, pie, cake, fruit sauces, nuts and pancakes to children between 2 and 3 years of age, is requested.

A milk should constitute the principal article of diet in a child of this age. Care should be observed to obtain as pure a quality of milk as possible.

Very cold milk should never be given to the child, and if necessary this might be warmed before feeding, especially in cases of very young children.

The child should receive food in proportion in which the different food elements are to be found in mother's milk; namely, protein 1.5 per cent, fat 3.5 per cent, carbohydrate (sugar and starches) 6.5 per cent, salts 0.2 per cent, other constituents 0.6 per cent, water 87.7 per cent.

Fruit juices, especially the juice of oranges and strained tomato juice, are essential articles of diet from the standpoint of scurvy prevention.

In the event fresh cow's milk is not available, the most excellent substitute may be found in a good preparation of whole dried milk, which usually comes in five-pound tins.

A child should have about 12 hours' sleep in a well-ventilated room each 24 hours, and allowed to play out of doors in the sunshine as much as possible.

Finally, the bowels may be carefully regulated. A child of two years of age should have from one to two bowel actions each day.

MEXICO.

Old Mexico's been aching a long and weary time, and every day on her hills and in her valleys, she cries for her heroes' rallying.

Old Mexico is plastered with wealth of every sort, and if the chumps were marking who was raw and snort she would be lap-sided with profits undivided.

Jealousy Believed Motive for Fatal Shooting of Salt Lake Girl in Arizona

DOUGLAS, Ariz., July 1.—Jealousy is believed to have been the motive for the fatal shooting of Miss Thelma Laura Gutke, daughter of Mrs. Laura Gutke, 302 Harrison avenue, Salt Lake City, by W. E. Smith, who, after firing three shots at the fleeing girl, turned the revolver on himself and committed suicide last Monday night.

According to reports, Miss Gutke and Smith were on their way home from a theatre when the shooting took place. While there were no eye-witnesses to the tragedy, residents near the scene of the shooting heard some one running just before the four shots rang out.

Her body was found several feet away from that of Smith, and the police are certain that she made a vain attempt to escape before he opened fire. Smith was only recently discharged from the army, and held several medals for valor.

While some doubt at first existed concerning the cause for the shooting, this was removed when it became known that Miss Gutke had expressed the fear that Smith would some day kill her because he had learned that she had written letters to a soldier stationed in camp here.

"He always carries a gun and his actions are so strange that I fear he will kill either me or my soldier boy," the murdered girl is said to have told her friend.
