SEVEN AGAINST FOUR. BUT THE COPS WON

—SHREVEPORT— It was seven against four—but the four had all the edge on the seven negroes who were caught playing with the galloping dominoes. "Ah, sergeant, we wasn't shooting no dice," said one. But the quartet of "de law" won.

The golden plover, when flying south, will make 2400 miles without a stop.

OGDEN MEN AT S. L. BANQUET

Mayor and Other Prominent Citizens Attend Insurance Company Event

With a banquet at which many prominent business men of Ogden were speakers and guests, the convention of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company representatives of the intermountain country closed last night in Salt Lake. Mayor Frank Francis and Warren L. Watts were the principal speakers from Ogden, while George D. Bennett, manager of the Ogden branch of the insurance company, O. J. Stilwell and W. H. Watts were present.

Senator Reed Smoot and Haley Flake, prominent eastern financier and president of the Metropolitan company of New York, addressed the insurance men following the banquet. Motion pictures were flashed on a screen at the completion of the talks, illustrating home service and home office activities.

Business sessions of the convention were held at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. yesterday. Speakers were President Flake, Frank O. Ayres, second vice president, Robert L. Cox, third vice president, Lee K. Frankel, head of the nursing service, J. E. Kavanagh, head of the group life division, George B. Scott, manager of the Pacific coast division, and Edward G. Galt, superintendent of agencies, all of New York; S. M. Godde, F. C. Scanlon and H. H. Chasler of San Francisco.

The purpose of the Utah state triennial convention is to bring the men of the home office in touch with the agents in the field and bring to them a sense of co-operation and consciousness of the aims of the company. About 150 representatives were present.

BURGLAR SEEN; MAKES ESCAPE

Man Detected in Wilson Grocery Store Makes Getaway With Small Loot

Though detected in the act of rifling the cash register and safe at the Wilson Grocery store, Twenty-eighth and Wall, at 4:30 this morning, an unknown burglar escaped, notwithstanding that officers were on the scene within a few minutes following receipt of the information at the station.

William Wright, who was returning home from work, saw the burglar through the store window. Thinking himself unnoticed, Wright ran to the home of Tom Wilson, near the store, and informed him of the intruder. The police were called.

M'KAY ATTENDS HIGH SCHOOL BOOK IS READY

"The Classicum," Fresh From Press Being Distributed to Students

David O. McKay of Ogden participated in the closing of the summer school at the Brigham Young university at Provo held Wednesday. The school has been held under the direction of the L. D. S. church and has been attended by more than 200 students who were selected from auxiliary organizations in all stakes of the church.

The courses included "Social and Recreational Leadership," "Teacher Training" and "Charity and Relief Work." Besides Apostle McKay the exercises were attended by Apostles Roger Clawson, Richard R. Lyman, Reed Smoot, Professor George H. Brimhall and Professor Adam Benion.

Professor Brimhall delivered the address of welcome and the reply was made by President Clawson. Ten two-minute talks were given by students who expressed their great appreciation at being selected by the church authorities to take the courses. They stated that it was the finest thing in which the church had engaged and some stated they would be willing to continue the courses next year at their own expense. The courses were given this year at the expense of the church and have lasted for the past five weeks.

Music and songs were also included on the program and a luncheon was served in the grove at noon. There were also present representatives of the general boards of all the auxiliary organizations of the church. A number of young men and women from Ogden are included among the students.

Three Make Escape From Reform School

William Chapman, 13 years old, Marion Backford, 19 years old, and Floyd Wright, also 19, escaped from the state industrial school last night. The three boys live in the southern part of the state.

A dance was held at the school last night, at which the boys appeared in full dress uniforms. They were wearing these uniforms when they escaped, it is thought. The report was received at the police station at 11:30 o'clock.

They were carrying a .32 caliber revolver, a .22 caliber revolver, a dark coat and striped overalls, Captain said.

It is the belief of the police that the man who attempted the robbery knew that there was considerable money in the store. Yesterday was payday for a number of concerns of the city and Wilson had on hand nearly $1600 in currency and silver to cash checks. The intruder failed to find the hiding place of the money.

The store was searched, and it became apparent that the man had seen Wright and had made good his escape, taking with him $4 in silver, a quantity of cigarettes, and a .32 caliber revolver.

High School Book Is Ready

"The Classicum," Fresh From Press Being Distributed to Students

"The Classicum," the year book published by the students of the Ogden High school, is now ready for distribution. Students may get their copies at the high school.

The 1920 issue is dedicated to J. E. Beeson, retiring principal, who is quoted in the foreword: "It is the patriotic duty of every boy and girl in the United States to see the best education possible in order that he may become more valuable as a citizen and thus raise the character of our glorious country to the highest state of culture and civilization."

The book is a refreshing resume of school life and activities of the year just closed reflected in well written articles and snapshots about the campus.

Business staff: Claude Hollister, business manager; Paul Garver, first assistant; Ralph Nye, second assistant; Bonnie Libert, third assistant; Hillard Wherry, circulation manager.

Milton Man Famed as Killer of Lions

That the death of no less than 1300 sheep was avenged by Bert Allen, of Milton, Morgan county, by killing or trapping four mountain lions near Morgan, is the information received in Ogden.

Allen started about two weeks ago in pursuit of a huge female lion which killed 80 sheep in one night. He captured the lion, together with four smaller ones. Yesterday he returned to the hills after another lion, and a number of kittens which are known to be in the hills.

During the past five years Allen has killed no less than nine lions, it is stated, and one of the beasts measured fourteen feet from tip to tip. In making his largest capture, Allen shot at the gigantic feline and succeeded in knocking it loose from about eight and a half of its nine lives. The vitality of the animal enabled it to travel all day long, however, and the animal still showed fight when Allen cornered it at the end of a day's chase.

DROUGHT HURTS GRAIN OUTLOOK

Unirrigated Sections Show Depreciation, Says U. S. Crop Report

Although temperature is favorable, drought conditions in many unirrigated regions of the west are causing considerable depreciation, says the weekly crop and weather bulletin issued by the district weather bureau at Salt Lake.

Good rains fell near the end of the week in the Owens Valley in California, and in Nevada and southeastern Idaho. A few showers also fell in western Washington in extreme northwestern Oregon and at scattered places elsewhere, especially in the mountainous districts. Sunshine was generally deficient, and temperatures were everywhere below normal, except in the San Francisco Bay section where it was slightly warmer than usual. Light frosts on several mornings slightly injured some vegetables in Oregon.

Generally, throughout the district, crops are backward, and growth during the week was slow, but otherwise satisfactory. Drought conditions in Utah have become more acute in many unirrigated grain regions, and the streams in the interior of California are unusually low, the Sacramento river being the lowest of record so early in the season.

The barley and wheat harvest is progressing under favorable conditions in California. And the oat harvest is practically completed. Not much threshing has yet been done. More grain has been cut for hay than usual. Droughty conditions have caused some depreciation in the unirrigated grain regions in Utah, though showers near the end of the preceding week were beneficial. Both spring and winter wheat, barley and oats are making satisfactory progress and in the North Pacific states, barley is reported to be exceptionally good and oats are excellent in Washington. Some rye has been cut in Idaho.

Truck Crops and Potatoes. The cool weather was favorable for truck crops which though backward, are generally in a healthy condition. Foggy mornings in the coast counties of California greatly revived the field bean crop which now is doing nicely. Potatoes in California are in all stages of growth, many have finished digging their first crop, while in some localities planting is only just begun.

Hay, Including Alfalfa and Clover. Having made excellent progress during the week though interrupted somewhat by rain in Nevada during the last day or two. The second crop of alfalfa at lower levels in Utah is being retarded by weevil, and this crop which has been cut in Idaho is curing slowly on account of deficient sunshine.

Stocks and Livestock. Generally throughout the district are in excellent condition, though in lower ranges are drying up rapidly and green feed in the low valleys has disappeared. Dry feed still holds out fairly well and so far there has been little, if any, suffering for want of feed.

In English prisons neither male nor female convicts may see a mirror during their imprisonment.

Seven Fruit Trains Handled Here Daily

Seven trainloads of citrus and deciduous fruits, three from the Southern Pacific line and four from the Salt Lake and Los Angeles route, are arriving in Ogden daily, according to information from the Pacific Fruit Express company offices in this city. The movement of fruit is reported to be unusually heavy, especially from southern California. The average train is made up of at least 20 cars of fruit, making a total of approximately 210 carloads of fruit in Ogden daily.

The P. F. E. company has leased 4000 foreign refrigerator cars for the purpose of handling the Southern California fruit crop, it is stated.

The world's output of raw cocoa in 1920, is estimated, will total more than 800,000,000 pounds, of which the United States will consume nearly half.
