Troop B Starts Rifle Competition on Completed Grounds at North Ogden Today

Regular practice on the rifle range at North Ogden will be started this morning by officers and men of Troop B, Utah national guard. The range was abandoned during the war, but since then has been placed in regulation shape.

Captain W. E. Lindquist also announced last evening that Sergeant Peter V. Christensen and Private Basil B. Nelson will represent the Ogden troop on the state team of four officers and twelve men which will take part during August in the national guard rifle competition at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Outdoor drill with mounts and full equipment will take place each Tuesday during the summer. Grounds have been selected on the West Ogden sandridge.

A recruiting campaign to bring the troop's strength to eighty men will be launched this week. The troop at present has seventy men. Enlistments will be discussed and accepted each Tuesday evening at the armory.

WALLACE REID, GAVE MAN AND JAZZ DANCER

Is Jazz King in New Photoplay, "The Dancin' Fool," at Utah

The new Wallace Reid picture, "The Dancin' Fool," coming to the Utah theatre next Wednesday is a veritable revue of the latest jazz dance steps as well as an unusually entertaining screen comedy.

As a country youth lately come to New York to work at a six-dollar-a-week job in his Uncle Enoch's factory, Mr. Reid, as "Vic" Tibble, discovers that his fortune lies in his feet and blossoms forth as the sensation of a Broadway cabaret. With pretty Bebe Daniels as his partner, Wallie exhibits a choice variety of unique dances ranging from an Apache number to a jazzy expose of the manner in which the caveman used to woo his mate.

The latter dance required the handsome star to don a costume of animal skins. "The animal used for my outfit must have been very small," laughed Wallace afterward. "The scene was made on an outdoor stage at the studio on a February morning. If my caveman's dance degenerates into a quite modern shimmy, please blame it on the cold."

The picture will be shown Wednesday and remainder of week at the Utah theatre.

TAKE LIFE EASY, DON'T WORRY, PRIEST'S ADVICE

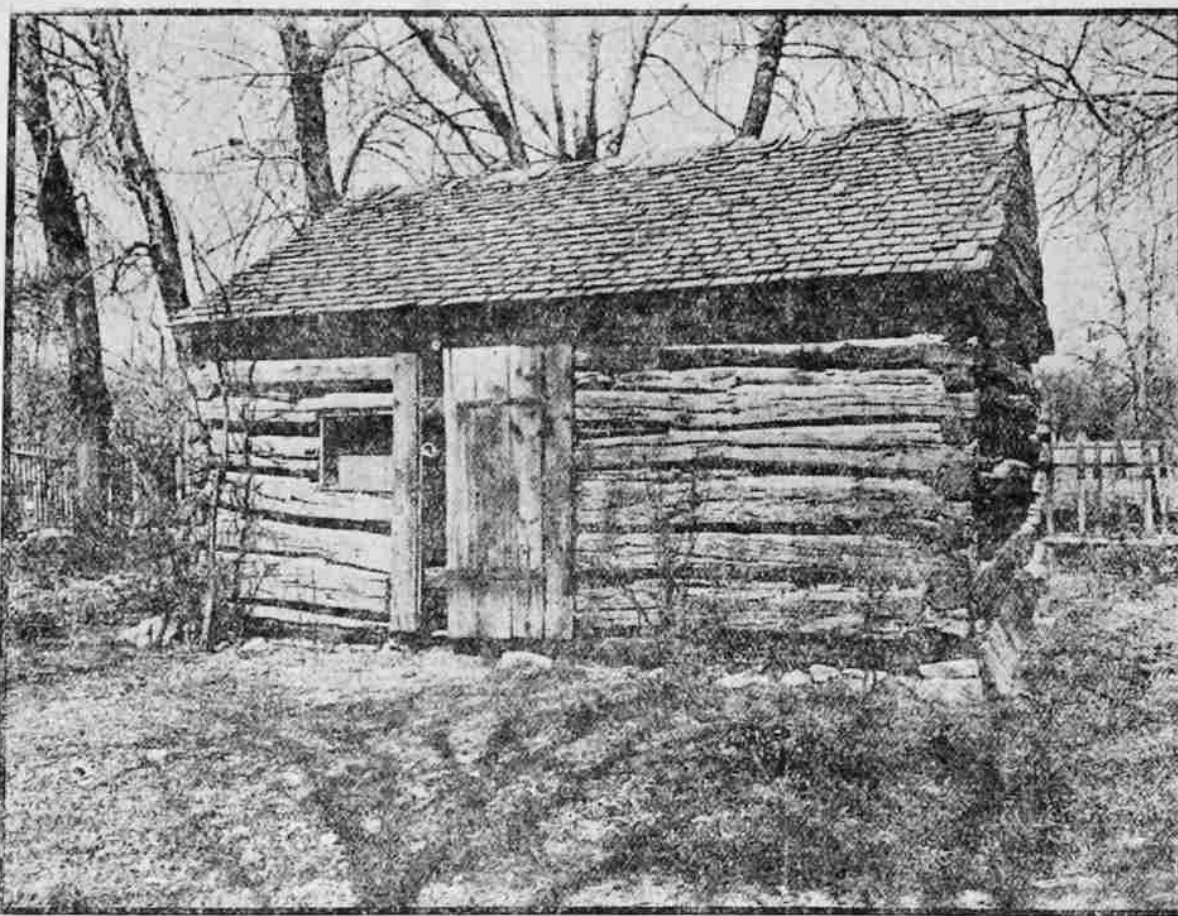

(By International News Service.) WASHINGTON, D. C.—If you would live beyond three score years and ten and enjoy full strength and vigor, take life easy and, above all, don't worry is the advice of the Right Rev. James F. Mackin, pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic church here, who is 82 and hale and hearty. For 52 years Father Mackin has been a member of the priesthood, though as a young man he was a sailor before the mast on a New Bedford whaler and roamed the seven seas with the many varied experiences which attend such a life, including shipwreck on a desert island.

KIDDIES MADE MUD PIES, UNCOVERED STOLEN BONDS

OWATONNA, Minn.—"Mud pies" molded by the chubby fingers of two little girls on the river bank here, led to the recovery of $110,000, part of the loot from the Great Northern State bank of St. Paul, robbed recently. The tots were playing "store" as the policeman passed them. As he saw the "purchaser" of the "shop keeper" a piece of water-soaked paper for a "pie." He stopped suddenly, rubbed his eyes and took another look. The "piece of paper" was a $1,000 bond. Bailey counted the remainder of the bundle of "paper" and found that it totaled $110,000. The bonds were inside a pillow case which the children had found floating in the water and towed to shore.

Shurtliff Points Out Historic Ogden Spots To Group Of Citizens

The first building constructed in Ogden, the cabin of Miles Goodyear, from whom the site upon which Ogden stands, was purchased by Captain Brown. The cabin was one of the objects pointed out by President Shurtliff.

A tour of Ogden and its vicinity, personally conducted by Lewis Warren Shurtliff, Ogden pioneer, who celebrated his 80th birthday yesterday, was an event enjoyed by a group of Ogden citizens recently.

One of the objects of interest on this tour was the visit paid to the first house built in Ogden. This is the Miles Goodyear cabin, the picture of which is shown with this article. By reason of his active life since coming to Utah so many years ago, President Shurtliff was able to make the trip decidedly interesting.

One party lectured that just off Twelfth street and Washington avenue there was built a fort in which the settlers of that district sought refuge when menaced by Indians. From this old fort the name of the district came to be called Mound Fort.

Then the story was told of Urban Stewart, who was ranching at Four Mile Creek, now called Harriedville, and how he shot into a field where he thought somebody was stealing his corn. His shot killed Terrike, chief of a band of Indians and resulted in much trouble.

The field in which the chief was killed was pointed out as lying just across the highway from the Harrisville district school building.

The site of Binham's fort was pointed out at Twenty-third and Maudslowi.

How Captain James Brown of the battalion purchased the site of what is now Ogden from Miles Goodyear, the trapper and trader, was told in connection with the visit paid to his cabin, which is now standing at the Fire Station No. 3 on Washington avenue and Ninth.

The story of the famous cheese-meat and apple pie, known as Captain Brown also was related.

AGED WOMAN FOUND IN STREETS, DEMENTED (By International News Service.)

HOUSTON, Tex.—Roaming the streets in an apparently demented condition and carrying nearly $2,000 in currency concealed in her bosom, an aged woman, believed to be about 70 years old, was taken into custody here a few days ago.

The small fortune was discovered after she had been searched at the jail and she cried bitterly when the hoard was taken from her for safekeeping.

She is being held pending enlightenment on her identity and the location of relatives.

20TH CENTURY MEETS STONE AGE FACE (By International News Service.)

WINNIPEG, Man.—The stone age and the twentieth century met face to face during the anniversary celebration of the Hudson's Bay company.

Three airplanes rose above the wigwag encampment of the Indians at Lower Fort Garry. They skimmed like battlebirds of the old fur post, they dived upward until they became mere specks in the blue sky.

The Indians watched the show closely with a startled interest, their stolid faces failed to show. These men of the wilderness had never seen an airplane before.

BUSINESS MEN TURN FIREMEN

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—When firemen walked out here, volunteers walked in. Bankers, cotton men, organization presidents, took up the job of protecting Memphis from fire, after a long period of agitation, the city's fire fighters offered a blanket resignation. The salaries paid the volunteers are being given to charity. The picture shows the day shift at one station, in command of Ewing Caruthers, director of the Chamber of Commerce, and one of the wealthiest citizens. He was a colonel in the Fourth Tennessee infantry and in command during the race riots at Knoxville last year. State troops have been called to guard against rioting. Organized labor is in sympathy with the underpaid strikers; and there has been some talk of a general strike.

(By International News Service.) TOPEKA, Kan.—The bars are up against fifteen-year-old Kansas girls marrying handsome soldiers, even with mother's consent.

HE WANTED NICE FUNERAL AND MIKE ARRANGED IT

(By International News Service.) DETROIT, Mich.—Just before Emanuel Domrino Peterson died he called his best friend, Mike Galanos, to his bedside and said, "Mike, I want a nice funeral. I am going to make you administrator of my estate, too." And Emmanuel passed out.

Mike gave friend Emmanuel a "nice" funeral.

He hired a band, spent good money for photographs of friend Emmanuel's remains, bought a nice tombstone and—something else—very nice.

Mike who spent nearly $1,000 on the funeral, more than half the amount left by his friend, was hailed to court.

In court the judge asked Mike to give the funeral expenses in detail. The last item Mike recited was "Programs, $5."

"Programs?" questioned the judge. "What for?"

"Well," replied Mike, "Emmanuel wanted a nice funeral, and I arranged so many nice things I thought it would be appropriate to have some programs embossed for the mourners—and then they make nice souvenirs. Emmanuel would appreciate them."

FARMER DRAWS OIL OUT OF KITCHEN PUMP

(By International News Service.) ELMIRA, N. Y.—Drawing water from the kitchen pump with which to prepare the family supper, Mrs. Jacob Miller, Jr., wife of a well known Elmira farmer, discovered the crystal liquid turn to pure oil as her pail was filled. Overjoyed at the discovery, which bears out the assertion frequently made by the residents of the neighborhood that there is oil in the vicinity about the Miller farm, the bucket was taken immediately to the Standard Oil pumping station at West Junction where an analysis showed it to be the pure product.

Oil company officials were first of the opinion that one of their pipes had burst in the vicinity of the Miller farm, thus allowing the oil to flow into the well. Employees began digging at once to locate the supposed leak, but none could be found.

Physician Explains Why He Prescribes Nuxated Iron for Run-Down, Anaemic People

Says It Quickly Increases the Strength and Energy of Men and Brings Roses to the Cheeks of Nervous, Run-down Women

Get the first hundred strong, healthy looking people you meet to tell you what they owe their strength and energy and see how many of them are taking Nuxated Iron. Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital, New York and the Westchester County Hospital says: "Thousands of nervous, run-down, anaemic people suffer from iron deficiency, but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic iron. Nuxated Iron—quickly enriches the blood, and thereby put roses to the cheeks of women and give men increased strength and energy. Unlike the other forms of iron, Nuxated Iron does not irritate the stomach, but is readily assimilated by a renewed feeling of buoyant health. No matter what other iron remedies you have used without success if you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. To be absolutely sure of getting real organic iron and not some cheap imitation metallic variety always ask for Nuxated Iron in its original packaging. Nuxated Iron increases the strength, power and endurance of delicate, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time in many instances. It is recommended above all other iron preparations which it will be known to druggists everywhere. Do not be misled by cheap imitations. Nuxated Iron is easily assimilated and does not irritate the stomach. Each tablet contains five grains of pure iron. The name Nuxated Iron is stamped on each bottle, so that the public may not be led into accepting inferior substitutes. There are many cheap imitations. Be sure you get the genuine Nuxated Iron. It is dispensed by all good druggists.
