HARDING CLINGS TO FRONT PORCH

Nominee Adheres to Program After Consultation With Party Leaders

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 11.—Unaltered adherence to Senator Harding's front porch program was announced last night after a consultation of the Republican nominee with party leaders.

Chairman Wm. H. Hays, said the candidate and his advisers agreed that most of his addresses should be delivered here, though he might go elsewhere for a couple of special speeches for exceptional events.

Harry W. Daugherty, member of the campaign executive committee, also declared there was perfect agreement on the subject.

Many details of campaign management were considered at the conference. The suffrage situation in Tennessee is understood to have been discussed and it was indicated that the Republican organization probably would bring increasing pressure to bear for ratification.

His talks with party leaders occupied virtually all of Senator Harding's day and he left his office only to vote in the state primaries.

LEAGUE'S LABOR OFFICE OPENED

International Body Will Study Problems and Difficulties of Workers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—An organization for the international labor office of the league of nations has been completed and is now functioning, the department of labor said today in a statement which contained the information that Dr. Royal Meeker, former United States commissioner of labor statistics, had been placed at the head of one of the two main divisions of the office.

Dr. Meeker has charge of the scientific research section which plans to investigate social, economic and political problems of the world, and to publish reports on the findings.

E. J. Phelan of Great Britain, chief of the diplomatic section, is engaged in negotiating to obtain formal ratification of the series of conventions drafted by the first international labor conference held under the peace treaty, the most important of which was the recommendation of a universal 48-hour week for workers in all industrial operations.

As previously announced Albert Thomas of France is director general of the entire office. In addition to the main divisions, six sections have been created under the main organization, to deal with unemployment, emigration, seaman, agriculture, Russian inquiry, social insurance and co-operation, respectively.

The Russian section, headed by Dr. Fardo, is considering proposals to send into Russia a commission to make a first-hand report upon soviet conditions and is already compiling a study of labor legislation and industrial operations under the Bolshevik rule.

By the sheer motive power of its acting, "Mamma's Affairs" which opens its engagement at the Orpheum tonight for its one performance only, has driven itself well upward toward the front row of the plays one likes to remember.

"Mamma's Affairs" is a Harvard piece comedy, the work of Hazel Eaton Butler, and has proved one of the distinct successes of the New York and Chicago season, with its unending laughs and exciting situations.

The play is realistic and refreshing, the dialogue crisp and the situations original. The success of "Mamma's Affairs" is in its character drawing; it does not contain a single "sole-thus" cut in commonplace pattern.

That Mr. Lloyd George's policy toward the Bolsheviks will eventually triumph in this country seems assured by the strong attitude taken by labor.

Means of Escaping the Heat of Summer A number of the people in Ogden are escaping the intense heat of summer by installing asbestos insulation over their ceilings, which renders their homes cool and comfortable.

WHISKY LADEN AUTOS STOPPED BY BULLETS BUTTE, MONT., Aug. 11.—The county attorney's dry squad reported capture today of two automobiles just outside the city with 228 bottles of Canadian whisky and a few dozen bottles of Alberta beer, after a chase of seven miles over rough roads.

The heaviest snowfall in the United States is in the Cascade mountains of Washington and Oregon and the Sierra Nevada of California.

DENIES DAMAGE DONE TO CROPS

Reports That July Drought Had Wrought Havoc Unfounded, Says Director

Reports that the July drought had done serious damage to crops in Utah were unfounded, according to a statement sent out yesterday by Miner M. Justin, director of the state bureau of crop estimates. On the contrary, he states, the hay crop in the state, for instance, is 50 per cent larger than last year. While the increase in other crops is not so large, their condition is reported to be most satisfactory and a bountiful yield is assured.

Corn is 90 per cent normal and there promises to be a production of approximately 44,000 bushels from an acreage of 24,000 of winter wheat there are 156,000 acres planted, which promise an average yield per acre of seventeen bushels, or a total of 2,652,000 bushels. The spring wheat is 88 per cent normal; 136,000 acres are to be harvested, and the probable total yield is placed at 2,899,000 bushels.

Oats is 95 per cent normal; the total acreage is 70,000, and the final yield is figured at 2,890,000 bushels. The calculated total yields of all grain are greatly in excess of the 1919 yields.

Barley and rye are in excellent condition, promise a higher average yield than 1919 and a greatly increased total production over last year. The sugar beet yield promises to surpass the 1919 output by 269,000 tons. Their condition is 95 per cent normal and 5 per cent above the average. One hundred and thirteen thousand acres are to be harvested, which is 10,000 acres more than in 1919, and 35,000 acres above the average.

The potato crop is 94 per cent normal, or 13 per cent above the average. The production is estimated at 3,284,000 bushels. Hay is 99 per cent normal and 12 per cent above the average. It is estimated that the total production in tons will be 1,531,000.

Because of worms, apples deteriorated during July. Peaches show improvement. Pears promise fair yield of average quality. The production of blackberries and raspberries was better than ever, and grapes are in excellent condition. Tomatoes are late, but thrifty. Cabbage promises a good yield. Onions have improved and promise a large yield. Beans, while good, will not constitute an important crop.
