Honorable Prevention of War by Reason, Not Force, Is Urged

Arrangements Made for Limited Number of Harding Speakers From Marion

CAMP Perry, O., Aug. 12.—Honorable prevention of war by "the arbitrament of reason rather than of force" was urged by Governor Cox today in an address opening the Democratic presidential nominee's speaking tour.

Speaking at the national rifle contest, he emphasized the toll of war and declared that the peoples of the world now seek peaceful modes of settlement.

"I recognize," he said, "that in a sense you are assembled here for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of our military strength, and yet I am convinced that the great cause of our soldiers is united in purpose and prayer to prevent wars in the future, if it can be honorably done."

There will always be a national guard in the states, if for no other reason than domestic defense, and the military arm of the federal government will be maintained, but the hope that vast expenditures for armaments are a thing of the past possesses every home in America, while the common impulse that moves the great masses of people world-wide, is inspired by the vision of peace and the settlement of controversy by the arbitrament of reason rather than of force.
