DRIVE FOR GYM FUNDS NOW ON

Carl A. Badger of Salt Lake Tells of Importance and Makes Contribution

The immense advantages which a community may derive from a gymnasium such as the proposed Weber gymnasium, have so thoroughly impressed Carl A. Badger of Salt Lake, that Mr. Badger has voluntarily tendered a contribution to the gymnasium fund and in a letter has wished the campaign drive committee every success in the worthy undertaking.

DRIVE NOW ON. The drive for funds in Ogden and Weber county is now in course of preparation and during September the drive will be launched with intensity. C. A. Wright, a prominent member of the committee which will have charge of the fund, said that the fund is planning many novel features to attract attention of the residents of Weber county to the value of such an institution in Weber county.

It is explained that the L. D. S. church has done its part in offering to pay one-half of the expense, providing the people of Weber county will subscribe the other half portion. This money must be actually raised by solicitation with no indebtedness against the gymnasium after completion.

The success of the undertaking, it was explained, rests entirely upon those in Weber county who desire the clubber institution to be completed promptly. The ground adjoining the Weber academy, has been purchased and work of excavation has been begun.

VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTION. Mr. Badger, who is a prominent member of the Deseret gymnasium in Salt Lake, and is interested in the welfare of Weber county to the extent that he has offered a voluntary contribution to the Weber gym, explains the advantages of such an institution, as follows:

"Health next to religion (which necessarily includes morals) is the greatest human blessing. The duty of every man and woman, especially of those upon whose shoulders rest the problems and responsibilities of the home, the school, the church, is to be not only efficient, but one hundred per cent efficient. No man can truly say that he is in the highest sense a loyal citizen, an efficient business man and a lover of his family and his home unless he keeps himself fit to protect and to promote their interests. The greatest blessing that can be bestowed upon a family is to have the father and mother, and the children, will help solve the problems of the training of children and young, and make them companions and friends of their children.

"I have belonged to the Deseret gymnasium since it opened its doors and have for many years, the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. Success in your worthy undertaking. Allow me to endorse my endorsement of the gymnasium with a contribution."

MORRIS TALKS ON PROPHECIES

Salt Lake Speaker Addresses Priesthoods of North Weber Stake

President Nephi L. Morris of the Salt Lake stake, delivered an address on the subject of prophecy, at the stake priesthood meeting of the North Weber stake in the Weber Normal college Sunday afternoon. President James Wetherston presided over the meeting that was attended by several hundred members of the stake priesthood.

President F. W. Stratford, in a brief address, said the meeting was not attended as largely as could be desired. He thought a little more discipline would have benefited results. All members should assume responsibilities and bring others to the meetings, he said.

President Morris congratulated the stake for the large attendance at the meeting, stating that meetings in his stake were never as largely attended as those held by the North Weber stake.

DISCUSS PROPHECY. The speaker said he would discuss the subject of prophecy. Prophecy, he said, was a great miracle and was only sent to the world to be obtained only through the priesthood and the Holy Ghost and was the highest evidence of divine communication.

Four latter day prophecies that have been literally fulfilled were discussed by President Morris. The first were those of Orson Hyde. The speaker said he had recently delivered an address at Ely, Nevada, and before going there he had studied a little of the history of that state and in so doing discovered that Orson Hyde, an apostle of the church of Latter Day Saints was one of its earliest colonizers. He left the state at the time of the invasion of Johnson's army into Utah and returned in 1850 when he sought to regain possession of his property which he had sold at a great sacrifice. Failing in this endeavor, the speaker said that Orson Hyde cursed the city of Frankfort, declaring that it would be destroyed by fire and flood. This curse came upon the city when the dam broke, causing floods that damaged all property.

The speaker told his congregation that Orson Hyde had been promised that he was ordained an apostle by Oliver Cowdery that he would receive power with which to smite the earth with pestilences. He was also upon the return of the Jews. Hyde, who was of the House of Judah, went to the Mount of Olives in the year 1841 and dedicated the land for the return of the Jews and prayed that the curse upon the land might be removed and the land again flow with milk and honey.

In a letter written to Parley P. Pratt in 1841 Orson Hyde stated that

HELPED FRIEND; GET HEAVY FINE

Trio in Police Court Following "Lifting" of Cigarettes From Local Concern

Assisting F. R. Lowe in making up an alleged discrepancy in wages paid cost to Dean Higley and Gordon Haun, who appeared with Lowe in the city court this morning, charged with petit larceny.

Lowe, it appeared, had resigned his job at the Murphy Wholesale Grocery company. His check, he claimed, was "short." As he was working with Haun Saturday morning he mentioned taking some cigarettes, testimony allowed.

Haun admitted helping him pack four cartons of cigarettes into a burly sack and loading the sack into an old vehicle at the rear of the store.

Lowe and Haun were each fined $50 or 30 days. Higley was fined $20 or 30 days. Haun and Higley were able to furnish money for their fines, while Lowe, with $50 bail posted, faces a 10 day jail sentence.

WE WOULD, TOO. PORTLAND, Me.—Demetrius Constantino Eikospentallios asks the probate court to change his name to Demetrius Higgins, on the ground the latter name is more easily pronounced. The court may grant his request for its own convenience, if for no other reason.
