FIEROE BATTLES IN IRELAND.

Ireland is torn from north to south and mobs are killing and burning. It is to be regretted that there is not a middle ground on which the Sinn Feiners and the government can agree in determining the future of the Emerald Isle.

Just before the beginning of the world war, home rule was well along when French, Law and Carson threatened to start a rebellion, if the British government yielded to the Irish demands.

When great masses of men fight to the death, to appeal to the wisdom of either side is as useless as to attempt to reason with a wild man.

AN INDICTMENT.

In his latest book, John Spargo places an appalling story of Bolshevism before the world. He calls it the greatest failure in all history. He says he tried to make the book free from sensationalism, but a critic says:

"On looking over his work with its cumulative evidence of brutal oppression, savagery, political trickery, reckless experiment, corruption, inefficiency and despotism, one feels that he has made a terrible book. In his introduction Spargo says:

"Yet more agonizing still is the consciousness that here in the United States there are men and women of splendid character and apparent intelligence whose vision has been so warped by hatred of the evils of the present system, and by a cunning propaganda, that they are ready to hail this loathsome thing of hatred, this monstrous tyranny, as an evangel of fraternalism and freedom; ready to bring upon this nation—where, despite every shortcoming, we are at least two centuries ahead of Bolshevized Russia, politically, economically, morally—the curse which during less than thirty months has afflicted unhappy Russia with greater ills than fifty years of czarism."

Mr. Spargo accuses the Bolshevik dictators of having proceeded contrary to every promise they made of freedom, peace, industrial efficiency and plentiful production. Workers, in particular, who were to be masters of the machines, have become bondslaves, "forced to take the place of beasts of burden."

FROM OUR FARMS.

This country of ours is the greatest in the world in more ways than one. Mightiest in war, greatest in education, most productive in factory, richest in soil fertility.

The crop reports just issued indicate an unprecedented total of yield of the millions of acres of cultivated soil.

Last year there were 2,917,000,000 bushels of corn. This year the total is over three billion bushels.

Oats of 200,000,000 bushels more this season than last.

Winter and spring wheat fall a little short of a year ago, but the production will be 830,000,000 bushels.

Potatoes advanced to unheard of prices last winter and this spring, but with an output of 394,000,000 bushels the country should have the tubers at a more reasonable figure when the harvest is completed.

The cotton yield, is two million bales larger than in 1919, and the southern farmer should enjoy much prosperity.

Hay is not quite equal to the output of last year. This refers to the whole United States. In the intermountain region, particularly in Utah and Idaho, the hay yield is very large.

In all those products of the farm the United States outclasses all other countries.

A LESSON FROM LIFE.

"Why he failed." That is the subject of an article appearing in the "Employer's Magazine." It makes good reading for those who need a little prodding. He failed because—

- He grumbled. He was always behindhand. He had no iron in his blood. He was willing, but unfitted. He didn't believe in himself. His stock excuse was "I forgot."

CLOUDS SCATTERING

Bankers, who some time ago, predicted a strained credit situation this fall and winter, were, it now appears, unduly pessimistic. Money for the moving of crops is more plentiful than they thought.

This condition, bankers say, is the fruit of precautionary methods adopted last spring by the federal reserve authorities—plus the quick turn for the better of the railway patient.

Probably American business may not need another such lesson. It is to be hoped that never again will the arteries of trade be so clogged with unmoving cars and gamblers in necessities given such a warm welcome in the loans division of the banking houses.

BONES OF BIG REPTILE FOUND

Ancient Specimen Uncovered in Quarries in Uinta Basin

VERNAL, Aug. 30.—A specimen of ancient reptile, unknown to science, is being uncovered in the Bismarck national monument quarry near Jemison, fifteen miles from Vernal, according to word which reached here yesterday.

There has been some thought of abandoning the quarry, but with every day of excavation some new and valuable specimens are uncovered.

It is an easy run from Vernal to the quarry and many of the ocean-to-ocean tourists are visiting it daily.

ANNUAL RAM EXHIBIT TODAY AT SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE, Aug. 30.—Sale in the fifth annual ram exhibit and auction, under the auspices of the National Woolgrowers' association started at the coliseum, state fair grounds, at 12:30 o'clock today.

There are 3000 animals to be exhibited and sold," said Mr. Marshall last night, "and the first to be put up for sale will be the Rambouillet, of which there is an exceptionally good display. We expect to have a large attendance of sheepmen and of wool brokers as well."

FLOODS ROADS; GETS $25 FINE IN COURT

RUPERT, Ida., Aug. 30.—For flooding the roadway with irrigation water, E. M. Berg, an operator at the sugar factory, was fined $25 and costs by Judge Phibbs.

Reports are that threshing in the vicinity of Rupert is now on throughout the district. It is believed that previous records for yield will be surpassed.

WANT CARS TO REMOVE WHEAT

Three Million Bushels Are Held Near Twin Falls for Lack of Carriage

TWIN FALLS, Aug. 30.—Because cars are not available, three million bushels of wheat are being held in the Twin Falls district, awaiting opportunity to be transported to market, according to messages dispatched yesterday by Addison T. Smith, representative, to the interstate commerce commission.

The bankers declare that "a deplorable condition" exists, caused by shortage of cars preventing moving of the 3,000-acre wheat crop of this season.

ORGANIZE HOLDING COMPANY FOR R. R.

TWIN FALLS, Ida., Aug. 30.—Organization of the Idaho-Nevada Holding company to collect $500,000 funds to be paid as a bonus to the corporation building the railway line from Twin Falls to Wells, Nev., was effected yesterday.

Among his "unfavorable" votes the committee's report included these:

Motion to strike labor charter from league of nations; motion to extend federal control of railroads for two years; final passage of railroad law, making strikes unlawful; Borland amendment increasing hours of government employees and his senate pair on accepting the railroad bill conference report.

Among the 53 measures the committee listed as those Governor Cox had acted upon "favorably" while governor, were bills providing for an eight hour day on public works; regulating the hours of employment of women; workmen's compensation act, prohibiting the employers of labor from interfering with political activities of their employees; relating to safety appliances upon railway locomotives and cars; providing for the creation of an industrial commission to have supervision over all state departments relating to labor.

RUPERT ELECTRICIAN IS SEVERELY BURNED

LABOR REPORT FAVORS COX

Democratic Candidate Listed as Having Voted Right on Workers' Bills

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Organized labor's non-partisan political campaign committee, composing the public records of the Republican and Democratic presidential nominees, declared in a report made public today that Governor Cox has "shown himself possessed of a fuller understanding of his needs of the working people."

The report, signed by Samuel Gompers, president; Mathews Wolf, vice-president and Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, is the first ever made on presidential candidates by a federation committee.

Taking up the senatorial record of Senator Harding, the committee declared that on eighteen measures dealing with labor his score stood: Favorable 7; unfavorable, 19; paired unfavorably, 1.

The Republican nominee's vote on labor issues during his term in the state senate of Ohio, as reported by the committee, stood: Favorable, 5; unfavorable, 6. In this connection the report said:

Reviewing Governor Cox's record the report said that while Governor of Ohio, he had "acted upon 39 measures of interest to labor without acting on a single one adversely to labor."

FINDINGS SUMMARIZED.

The committee summarized its findings in this language: "There can be but one conclusion based upon a careful and impartial survey of the actions and declarations of the candidates. Governor Cox has shown himself possessed of a fuller understanding of the needs of the working people, a readier response to their needs and to their proposals and a broader statesmanship in his public discussions of the problems of the industrial world."

"In addition to his superior understanding, Governor Cox is the candidate on a platform which labor has declared "more nearly approximate the desired declaration of human right than any other platform found in the Republican platform."

"Not only in the specific utterances relating directly to questions held paramount by labor is the comparison favorable to Governor Cox, but his progressive and constructive viewpoint holds throughout his declaration of public questions, though he slips at times into that ambiguity which unfortunately has marked to a greater or less degree the platforms of both parties and the utterances of both candidates."

PUBLIC EXASPERATED.

"It must be exasperating to the whole American public that political parties bidding for the suffrage of the whole citizenship can not state in definite terms what are their proposals and what are their pledges. The same exasperation must be left regarding many of the utterances of candidates. However, the viewpoint of Governor Cox is, we find, more clearly expressed and less open to the criticism of lack of clarity."

The American labor movement asks from no man or woman a pledge of political conduct. It seeks to dictate to none. Its field is limited, and properly so, to furnishing to the rank and file the information upon which it may base conclusions.

There is no intention to depart here from that rule which binds the officers individually as well as collectively in serving the great labor movement. But it would be a large and forgettable remissness of duty in this crucial hour were the facts not presented with the utmost freedom and completeness.

With the workers of America rests the right of deciding for which candidate they shall vote. As they vote they will determine to a large degree the welfare and progress of the working people of our Republic in the years just ahead."

FAVORABLE TO HARDING.

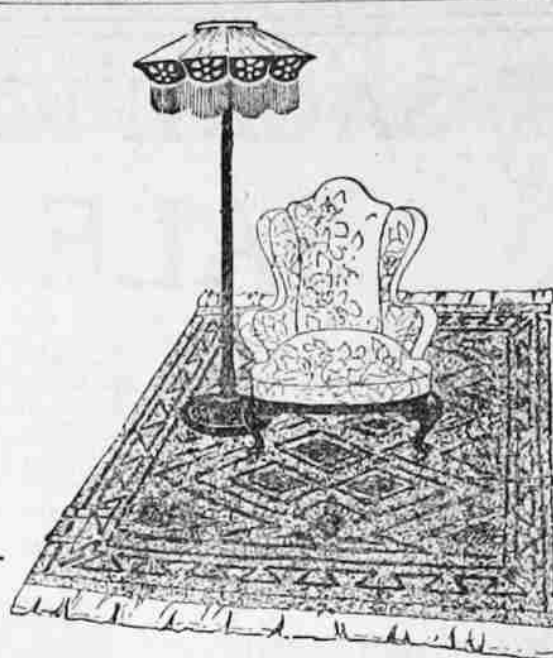

The same measures which Senator Harding was given a "favorable" rating were:

Passage of immigration restriction bill and his senate pair on accepting the railroad bill conference report.

Among the 53 measures the committee listed as those Governor Cox had acted upon "favorably" while governor, were bills providing for an eight hour day on public works; regulating the hours of employment of women; workmen's compensation act, prohibiting the employers of labor from interfering with political activities of their employees; relating to safety appliances upon railway locomotives and cars; providing for the creation of an industrial commission to have supervision over all state departments relating to labor.

The Development of Home Furnishings

Our most prosperous forefathers in "Merric England" used to consider themselves lucky if they had fresh rushes to strew over their parlor floor or good clean sand for their kitchen.

Today all is changed. Rich soft carpets and rugs of Wilton have replaced the rushes; beautiful linoleums the sand; an endless variety of distinctive designs in brass and wood has appeared to replace the four posters and trundle beds; awkward stools are no longer seen but, instead, comfortable chairs, lounges and rockers; beautiful dining sets have taken the place of the stationary tables with the long side benches.

This great development of home furnishings hereabouts, is due in no small part to Boyle's, who have intelligently aided the introduction of new ideas and, by an efficient system of distribution have placed the most modern designs within the reach of all.

The Boyle Furniture Company looks with pride upon the part it has played in furthering this development in Ogden and Utah. During the sixty-four years of its existence its high position in the community has enabled it to lead out in this evolution. Its individual service extends cheerfully into every home upon request.

ern flank of the volcano, about six miles from the main crater, December 21, last. It is still in action and shows few signs of diminishing in volume. In point of duration of time the flow, or combination of flows now running, have exceeded only once in the known history of Kilauua, by the flows of 1880-81, which were active ten months, traveled more than forty miles and reached to within one mile of this city. Volcano observers expect the present flow to establish a new duration record.
