LABOR ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Ogdenites Honored At State Federation Sessions at Provo

PROVO, Sept. 16.—Resolutions adopted by the Utah State Federation of Labor in its convention session here yesterday asked increased pay and more agreeable working hours for postoffice employes, support of the Farmer-Labor party, approval of the congressional act providing for vocational rehabilitation, creation of law compelling health insurance, physical examination of those handling foodstuffs, removal of armed guards from mining camps and support of British and French workers in their opposition to exportation of war munitions and troops to other countries.

Seventy delegates were in attendance and spirited discussions characterized adoption of many of the resolutions, among them that indorsing the Farmer-Labor ticket and urging unorganized groups of farmers and laborers, small business men, clerks, store and office employes to support candidates on the ticket. The resolution after prolonged consideration was adopted by a vote of 37 to 19.

W. F. Evans of Denver, district representative of the federal board of vocational education, was the principal speaker at the session. He told the delegates of the aims, purposes and objects of the board in its work to rehabilitate disabled soldiers and extension of the board's activities to include those injured in industrial pursuits.

OGDENITES ELECTED.

With the exception of four vice presidents, all officers of the federation were re-elected as follows: M. F. Bales of Salt Lake, president; W. L. Keating of Ogden, first vice president; Cyetta Swenson of Ogden, second vice president; James Doran of Wattis, third vice president, and J. J. Sullivan of Salt Lake, secretary-treasurer.

Newly elected officers are as follows: Raymond Peterson of Provo, fourth vice president; D. M. Bearnhiesel, of Provo, fifth vice president; Joseph Banville of Ogden, sixth vice president, and Ray Spaulding of Ogden, seventh vice president.

The resolution demanding increased pay for postoffice employes provides that the federation shall make an appeal to congress for legislation advancing salaries either by a new classification of the salary schedule or by a yearly bonus of from $300 to $500 based on the present salary schedule.

OVERTIME PAY.

The resolution also demands overtime pay for postoffice workers after eight hours, and shorter hours for night work, or a six-hour night shift at the same pay as is now allowed for eight hours. A refund of wages which, it is said, were returned by employes after they had been paid for holiday work was demanded. Return of the wages, the resolution said, was exacted after employes had once been paid under the compensatory time law, which, after the payment, was discovered to be erroneously worded.

The act of congress of June 2, 1920, promoting vocational rehabilitation of those injured in industrial pursuits or otherwise, was indorsed. The act provides for aid to those injured while employed by others and is based on principles similar to that governing those suffering military disability. Before the law becomes operative in the various states it must be ratified by the state legislatures which must also agree to pay half the expenses involved in cases arising in the respective states.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

Other resolutions demand the appointment of a state boiler inspector; provide for the state federation opening an account with the State Bank of North Dakota; recommend a state law providing for physical examinations by county or city physicians of those engaged in selling and serving foodstuffs and the enactment of a law making health insurance compulsory in order to eliminate private subscriptions and charitable contributions for the maintenance of the sick.

Constitutional amendment No. 4, which is to be submitted to Utah voters this year, and which provides rights of action to recover damages for injuries while at employment, was indorsed.

Still another resolution seeks to obtain amendment to the workmen's compensation law. The principal changes desired are increases in maximum benefits for injuries and deaths, higher allowances for hospital and medical service and payment of attorneys' fees.

BRIGHAM PEACH FESTIVAL ENDS

Annual Fete Featured By Colorful Pageant and Gov. Cox Address

BRIGHAM, Sept. 16.—Brigham City's 16th annual Peach Day will go down in history as one of the greatest celebrations of its kind ever held in the city. The weather was ideal, not too warm to be uncomfortable, and just enough of the rest of autumn to produce life and energy in abundance.

The crowds began to arrive at 9 o'clock and for an hour there were train loads coming every little while. The automobile was used more generously this year in bringing in visitors and during the day there must have been fully 2000 cars in the city. The streets were jammed with autos until after the parade. Then people parked their cars along the side streets and mingled with the crowds along the sidewalks.

PARADE SUCCESS.

The big morning feature was the parade and nothing finer has ever been seen in this part of the state. Stretching over a course several blocks in length, the pageant moved promptly at 10 o'clock led by the Peach Day executive committee in a decorated automobile. Then came the Brigham City Military band followed by D troop, national guard, mounted, and led by Captain J. C. Lillywhite. After the soldiers came the individual floats illustrating growth and development of Brigham City and Box Elder county and the wonderful resources of this great empire.

Notable among the floats which made a striking display might be mentioned the Commercial club contribution, which was a huge peach basket brilliantly decorated and filled with a bevy of beautiful young girls, the real "peaches" which this community produces, and the Relief Society float illustrating the spirit of 1842 and 1920, a beautiful group in white, the center of which was Mrs. Emelia D. Madsen, one of the first Relief Society workers in Box Elder county.

The Cash Feed & Fruit company had a splendid display of choice fruits and vegetables arranged in an artistic manner on a big truck. The Jensen Brothers Milling & Elevator company was represented with a magnificent truck load of flour arranged artistically. Manager A. L. Stout of the Consolidated Wagon & Machine company arranged a novel float by using a big plaster of paris Holstein cow standing in a patent stanchion and flanked with cream separators and milk cans.

Hansen Furniture & Music company was represented with a mammoth Edison talking machine, which discoursed music along the line of march. The Stohl Furniture company had a magnificent drawing-room display in which the human element was not forgotten, for two beautiful young ladies sat in comfortable rockers and listened to Victrola music as the pageant moved along.

BLOODED STOCK SHOWN.

The high school had a float, followed by several decorated automobiles, in which were the faculty members. Mayor John W. Peters and the members of the city council and the board of county commissioners were in decorated automobiles. There were scores of other floats worthy of mention which represented local commercial institutions and associations. John J. Caner of Corinne had a pen of blooded Hampshire Down sheep on a truck and W. S. Hansen of Fielding displayed a pen of pure-bred Rambouillet rams and Representative C. G. Adney had two of his pure-bred Hereford bulls on a truck.

Following the parade the floats were arranged along Forest street, where they were permitted to stand during the day for the inspection of the visitors.

There has been plenty of band music all day, the Brigham City Military band, the Hyde Park band, the Brown Amusement company band, Hawaiian Troubadors of Salt Lake and a local jazz band furnished music in the parade and then alternated during the afternoon in rendering a musical program.

GOVERNOR COX ARRIVES.

The train bearing Governor James M. Cox and party was late, arriving here at 2:30 instead of 1 o'clock as scheduled. The crowd gathered in the Main and Forest street intersection in front of the speakers' stand and on the court house lawns beside the stand, standing patiently for about an hour awaiting the coming of the distinguished visitor, while the band entertained with stirring music.

The party of forty members was brought up town in automobiles by the reception committee, headed by Mayor John W. Peters, and as soon as the party could be comfortably arranged on the stand, Governor Cox was introduced by Mayor Peters in a very happy speech.

Following the remarks, Governor Cox was photographed in the midst of the "girl peaches" on the Commercial club float and the party was taken back to the train.

10,000 GREET GOVERNOR COX

Salt Lake Tabernacle Crowded as Nominee Talks; Pays Tribute to West

SALT LAKE, Sept. 16.—Paying a tribute to the west as holding a people who had reclaimed an empire that is rendering great service to humanity in the production of necessities of life, and "who shall be given the consideration they deserve," James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for president, addressed a throng of 10,000 at the Tabernacle last night.

The crowd interrupted the vigorous address at many points with applause and approval. It was Democracy's day and the party members made the best of it in support of their national standard bearer.

OVERFLOW CROWD.

Another crowd estimated at 3000 or more, who were unable to gain entrance to the Tabernacle, was addressed in the temple grounds by Senator W. H. King, Congressman Milton H. Welling and Mathonihah Thomas.

Thomas N. Taylor of Provo, Democratic candidate for governor, introduced by H. L. Mulliner, chairman of the state committee, as chairman of the tabernacle meeting, made his remarks brief.

Before Mr. Taylor could mention the name of Governor Cox, the crowd was on its feet, shouting and applauding. The ovation lasted several minutes and when he was finally able to get a hearing, Governor Cox launched straightway to his speech.

He started by expressing his willingness to answer questions, and before he concluded he was called upon to define his stand on prohibition, on political prisoners, and on the wages of postal employes and on the Republican cry of "America First."

In response to the first question he extended a glass of water to the audience amid shouts of laughter. On the second he said the law should be repealed with peace; the third, he said, would be one of his first official considerations, and the fourth he compared to the shout of kaiserism, "Deutschland Uber Alles."

MENTIONS ISSUES.

The candidate did not forget last night the issues he has been constantly hammering at during his western tour, the campaign fund of the Republicans, the league of nations, the "reactionary" character of Senator Harding, and the misdeeds of the "senatorial oligarchy." On all of these he touched with a vehemence that registered deeply in the applause of the audience.

He criticized Harding's porch campaign, and after mentioning the thrones of yester year said: "I should consider it ill becoming a democracy were I to make a throne of my front porch from now until November," amid the laughter of most of the 10,000 in the hall.

Governor Cox arrived on the scene at the Newhouse a bit late, but his reception was none the less warm, and when he took his place on foot at the head of the column of marchers, the onlookers joined in the noisy demonstration.

The governor walked in last night's parade from Fourth South and Main streets to the tabernacle as he walked in the streets of Columbus during the notification ceremonies. It was, however, one of the first times he has marched during his western travels.

Governor Cox arrived at the tabernacle at 8:14 o'clock and was greeted by enthusiastic applause from the audience standing. He was accompanied by Governor Bamberger, T. N. Taylor, democratic candidate for governor, Senator William H. King, H. L. Mulliner, state chairman, and numerous party leaders. The members of the Cox party arranged themselves on the seats usually allotted to church dignitaries, along with numerous local party leaders and state, city and county officials.

Not all the crowd has as yet arrived, and while more late comers were seeking places of vantage, the organist rendered "My Old Kentucky Home."

Governor Cox began speaking at 8:42 o'clock.

"Mr. Chairman, our distinguished senator, President Penrose, and men and women of Utah," he began, "I have lived through one of the happiest days of my life, in Utah. This is its golden hour, the end of a perfect day." The remark was the signal for another round of applause. The speaker continued:

UTAH HOSPITALITY.

"My heart has been touched by the hospitality of Utah; my senses have been thrilled by the wonders of Utah, and my face has been tanned by the welcome rays of the sun of Utah. I have felt that I was quite prepared for a scene such as this. This magnificent structure lives in the traditions of the world.

"It gives me great happiness to stand in this presence and realize the breadth of view and patriotic fervor which prompted the organization which controls it to make of it a sacred shrine of America during the war."

His reference to the tabernacle brought frequent applause, after which the speaker tendered his thanks for the use of the structure, to the L. D. S. church through President Penrose, and, continuing, said:

"This is the most wonderful assemblage of people that I have ever seen. Frankly, I stand here in awe, in the presence of so many representatives of your great citizenship.

"I have been living in the past part of the day. As I came down the valley from Ogden, I felt I had never feasted my eyes on a more delectable spot. I could understand how it was that the founder of the state, as he looked down on the valley from the mountain side, was inspired to make the observation 'This is the place,' and yet I wonder whether that great man realized what the genius of man has wrought, how the water from the mountains has been made to subject itself to the magic hand of man, and the valleys have been made to bloom as the rose. 'God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform,' and part of His purpose is that a great and rugged citizenship should be developed by the resistance which it has met."

Providence, he continued, must have meant that the result of that great conflict was to be a contribution worth while to the next generation.

"That contribution," he asserted amid applause, "will be peace on earth, good will to man."

CRITICIZES G. O. P.

"I have no quarrel," he went on, "with the rank and file of any political party. The first duty of American people is to issue an admonition to senatorial oligarchy which, in the first instance, has, with shortsighted bigotry, interfered with the natural progress of the world, and in the second place has taken charge of the organization of the Republican party by writing its platform and nominating its candidate.

"It has gone so far as to nominate one of its own number, in order that the senatorial oligarchy might dominate and control the next president of the United States."

Governor Cox referred to the constitutional provisions for the three branches of government, executive, legislative and judicial, and added:

"It is a symptom of a great disorder for one of these branches to annex and control another branch of our government.

"I came into the great northwest for a purpose other than partisan. We ought to amend the constitution of the United States to provide that no man should be eligible to be a candidate of any political party for president until he has visited the great western country and knows its possibilities."

ACCIDENT IN YARDS.

While Governor Cox was delivering his speech at the tabernacle a switch engine smashed into the special train which is carrying the presidential candidate and his party on the western tour, breaking the car windows and knocking typewriters to the floor. A negro porter in one of the coaches used by the press representatives was badly cut by flying glass.

The cars were repaired in time so that the train departed for the west on schedule time.

Fails to Keep Tab on Grain; Nags Founder

SPANISH FORK, Sept. 16.—"Dick," a work horse of many summers, is said to be the chief character in a drama enacted here Wednesday evening, which cost Uri Stewart, the owner, $1250.

Mr. Stewart completed his grain threshing on his farm Wednesday and for the first time in 46 years failed to keep watch during the night over his grain.

The cross bars were placed on the gates—but "Dick" managed to gain entrance and as company brought along five of Stewart's heavy work horses. They ate so much wheat that they all foundered, in spite of every effort made by Stewart to save them.

Hold Dedication of Zion National Park

ST. GEORGE, Sept. 16.—Appropriate exercises were held here yesterday dedicating Zion National park. Stephen T. Mather, national director of parks, was in charge of the program.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Cedar City and St. George brass bands, after which prayer was offered by Apostle Richard R. Lyman of Salt Lake. Mr. Mather outlined a brief history of the park.

United tSates Senator Reed Smoot was introduced to the many present. He pledged his support to the park movement in the United States. Former Governor William Spry, Mayor Clarence Nesien, D. S. Spencer and W. S. Ballinger of Omaha spoke.

COAL VEIN LOCATED IN SOUTHERN IDAHO

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 16.—Great interest has been aroused in Southern Idaho over the discovery of a vein of coal in the bed of Squaw Creek, near the farm of William Saxon. The bed of coal was discovered by a son of Mr. Saxon and since that time has been tested. The vein is quite extensive, it is said.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS GET INCREASED LEVIES

MALAD, Sept. 16.—The Idaho department of education has allowed increased tax levies to 40 independent school districts throughout the state. In all instances the chief reasons for the increase cost of maintenance were increased salaries of teachers, janitors and school supplies.

Catarrh Of The Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion How to Recognize and Treat.

("Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently the ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucous from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the bisurated magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucous and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover the Bisurated Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bisurated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bisurated form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.—Advertisement.

UTAH MAN WITH POLES RETURNS TO HIS HOME

SALT LAKE, Sept. 16.—Russia can be saved from havoc and ruin which is certain if the Reds gain control only through a thorough dissemination of anti-soviet propaganda, according to Captain Ira Woodhouse of Lehi, an American aviator with the Polish army. The captain, who has come to the United States in an effort to organize a volunteer company of American aviators for General Wrangel, was at the Hotel Utah for a few hours yesterday before leaving for Lehi.

Captain Woodhouse said that all the blood-curdling reports of cruelty and outrage inflicted by the Bolshevists of Russia were true, in fact he expressed the belief that the general public had, even now, no conception of the brutality and refinements of cruelty practiced by these enemies of civilization. He declared that the officers who fell into the hands of the reds regarded their fate as far worse than death and that it was their custom to carry poison which they could swallow in case of capture.

Conditions in Russia, said Captain Woodhouse are particularly bad, in that the power is in the hands of the radical element of the Bolshevists, who effectually bar any attainment of the ideals voiced by Lenine.

Captain Woodhouse left Utah some years ago and enlisted in the French army as a volunteer. Later he joined the American navy and was discharged after being wounded. He then fought with the British army and later with the Polish flying corps, where he has been on duty continuously in various parts of the service, being attached to bombing, machine gunning, infantry and cavalry detachments. He wears the French croix de guerre, the English A. F. C. the Polish flying corps decoration and numerous color stripes.

SEEK TO REMEDY R. R. CROSSING CONDITION

POCATELLO, Sept. 16.—President E. H. Clarke, presided over the meeting of the chamber of commerce held here yesterday. Secretary Field was instructed to confer with city officials on the condition of the O. S. L. railroad crossing near the gas plant. The investigation had been ordered by the business men of the city due to accidents which have only recently occurred there.

Captain A. Gallott of B troop of the Idaho national guard appeared before the body and was given $150 to pay the expenses of a competent man to Miles City, Mont., to purchase mounts for the organization. Thomas E. Terrill spoke on "The commission form of government," his address closing the program.

COMMEND IDAHO R. R. MAN FOR BRAVE ACT

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 16.—H. V. McMaster, former telegraph operator for the Oregon Short Line at Mountain Home has been commended by railway officials for bravery. Early in July of the present year McMaster received orders for a freight train about to pass through Mountain Home. As the train approached he rushed out to deliver orders. A child was noticed sitting on the tracks between McMaster and the engine. He made a race for the child and made the rescue just as the engine thundered by.

Combing Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.
