'GO REPUBLICAN,' SAYS DEMOCRAT

Non-Partisans of Montana Have Seized Control of Democrat Ticket

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Declaring that the Non-Partisan league had taken over the Democratic party in Montana, Senator Myers, Democrat, of that state, in a formal statement issued today urged the voters to support the Republican congressional and state tickets with the exception of the nominee for attorney general. "There is no reason," said Senator Myers, "why the Democratic party of Montana should be swallowed by a hybrid combination of radicals and revolutionists, bent on ruin and death. There is no reason why a Democrat should swallow their nondescript ticket. I refuse to do so."

of radicalism such as has prevailed in North Dakota for several years." Senator Myers explained that the Non-Partisan league had obtained the Democratic nominations in his state by entering its candidates as Democrats in the recent state primary. The senator said that while his condemnation did not apply to the Democratic nominee for governor personally, he could not stand his backers and associates.

FOG BLOCKS ENTRANCE TO NEW YORK HARBOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—More than 25 large steamships, including all the battleships of the Atlantic fleet, were anchored in the outer harbor early today, unable to grope their way through the dense fog that has enveloped this vicinity since Friday night. La Savoie, which has on board a number of distinguished French and British guests to the second annual convention of the American Legion at Cleveland arrived at quarantine this morning. Heading the French delegation is General Marie Emile, a personal representative of Marshal Foch, and Colonel Raquel, an aide to Foch at the first battle of the Marne. La Savoie was one of four ships which managed to make their way through the fog. America lent France $3,000,000,000 during the war and France owes $6,000,000,000 francs, according to the present rate of exchange.

Splendid Recipes Used at Cooking School

Recipes that have been used at the Standard-Examiner Cooking School, will be published each evening, in order that they may be clipped for reference and use by the Ogden women attending the school. The following are the recipes used today.

1/4 teaspoon pepper.
3 cups soft bread crumbs.
3 tablespoons butter.
Mix salt, pepper and sugar with tomatoes and pour into buttered baking dish. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a slow oven for half hour or longer. Crumb during first part to prevent crumbs browning too rapidly.

TOMATO SOUP WITH RICE.

Rinse one cup rice and cook with one teaspoon salt gently in two quarts water until the starch cells burst. There should be a generous quart when done. Boil a can of tomatoes for half an hour with one teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and one tablespoon sugar, and small onion sliced, three cloves, one small bay leaf and speck of nutmeg. 1/4 teaspoon soda. When done strain the tomato mixture into the rice. Add one cup of whipped cream and serve.

HARDING TERMED 'BREWER' BY COX

Governor Says at Cheyenne That Anti-Saloonist Is Using Trickery

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 27.—Senator Harding, Republican presidential candidate, was characterized as a "brewer who is apologetic for his holdings," in a statement issued here last night by Governor Cox, Democratic nominee, before the latter's departure to continue his campaign tomorrow in Nebraska. Governor Cox discussed the respective prohibition positions of himself and Senator Harding and charged that Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the National Anti-Saloon league, had acted to "protect" Senator Harding and was a mere chattel of Republican headquarters. "Without giving his own position on maintaining the Volstead law, Governor Cox asserted that questions asked him and Senator Harding by Mr. Wheeler, were designed to aid the Republican nominee and the governor courted further but identical questions.

UNFAIR QUESTIONS.

The governor's statement follows: "My attention has been called to a dispatch from the east which quotes Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league as saying that he has submitted questions to both Harding and myself—and that I had not responded but Senator Harding had. Let me direct the notice of the public to this significant circumstance. I was asked whether I was for or against any proposed change in the Volstead law. Senator Harding was asked whether he would support the vote on the 15th amendment and the Volstead act. This sharp difference of opinion will be noted. The question to me was based upon future developments, the one to Senator Harding was not. I was asked what I would do in the future. Senator Harding was not. I was asked what I would do in the future. Senator Harding was not. The habit of trickery of Wheeler, which we are used to in Ohio, by the way of obvious in the face of his repeated statements that the Anti-Saloon league was not interested now in what might be done with the Volstead act, and yet made no attempt whatever to ascertain Senator Harding's stand on what he (Wheeler) himself, stated is the real issue. This would all seem to be a carefully devised partisan plan. In fact one would have expected it from Will H. Hays, Republican chairman of the league, prepared as a protection to the Republican candidate rather than as an attempt to ascertain his views is perfectly clear. This idea would seem to be strengthened by the coincidental events. On the day preceding Mr. Wheeler's statement, representatives of the prohibition party made public in Chicago a letter from Governor Christian, Jr., Senator Harding's secretary, in which two striking things appeared. First, that the senator was interested in the brewery business; and second, that if the Volstead act was changed by congress, the senator would not improperly impose his will on the law-making body of the state. It is interesting to note that this revealing revelation first appeared from some source. If it had been given by Chairman Hays of the Republican national committee, it would have been unavailing, but Mr. Wheeler, true to his adherence in the past to reactionary influences of the commercial wing now in charge of the Republican party, came forward with blundering and unscrupulous defense. It is inconceivable how any sensible person would attempt to foist such a thing on the public and further, how the conscientious members of the Anti-Saloon league can have any further doubts as to Wayne Wheeler being what I have already charged, a mere chattel of the Republican headquarters.

REPORT NOT CREDITED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Reports from London, printed in the Times, that Frank A. Vandenberg and other American business men were negotiating with representatives of the soviet government regarding the opening of trade relations with Russia, were not widely credited here today. Mr. Vandenberg, it was learned, is not in Moscow, but is at his home at Scarborough, N. Y. His personal representatives are unable to account for the report that he was to confer with the soviet council.

WANTS RECORDS CITED.

"If Mr. Wheeler is an honest man, why does he not present the records of both Senator Harding and myself, on the hour questions and then submit to us the same question, with an agreement to print our replies thereto without deceitful comments. I would also like to ask Mr. Wheeler what changes has come over the record of Senator Harding that has enabled Mr. Wheeler as the spokesman for the Anti-Saloon league to withdraw the condemnation uttered by the Anti-Saloon league against the senator before his nomination his support for the presidency of the United States, a brewer who is apologetic for his holdings?"

Electrical Ranges Gain in Popularity

In the few years that electric ranges have been on the market, over 100,000 American households have had them installed in their kitchens, according to officials of the Utah Power & Light company, which has an exhibit of electrical cooking appliance at the cooking school. Electric ranges mark the last step in the perfection of cooking devices, a process that has taken tremendous strides in the last fifty years, and one which is emancipating millions from being slaves to their kitchens. In the modern home, equipped with an electric range, supplemented by various convenient appliances for cooking at the table, the housewife assumes the role of director rather than worker. As explained by cooking experts who are demonstrating electric ranges at the cooking school, all that is necessary nowadays in the modern kitchen is to prepare the food for cooking, place it in the oven, turn a switch, and go about other duties desired, or sit down and read a book. The electric range takes care of the cooking with almost human ingenuity. Besides relieving the housewives of the tedious watching and experimenting over a hot fire, the electric range is so designed that the nutritious juices in the foods are retained, not driven off by dry heat. The ovens are built on the fireless cooker order, making it possible to save considerable current by utilizing the stored-up heat to cook about one-half of the time. On the first railways a candle stuck in a station window, indicated that a train was stopping; its absence was a signal to go on.

Efficiency Noted in Canned Products

Asked what it is that sets American-canned goods above any produced in the world, H. L. Herrington, president of the Utah Canning company, maker of Pierce's products, replies, "American efficiency."

"Not only in turning out a product that will keep in all its original delicious flavor for a generation, but this American trait of efficiency is more subtly traced in the way these goods are placed before the consumer. The makers of food products in this country early discovered the value of tasty appearance to back up tasty flavors. And then where so much effort is made to represent the product's inner qualities by outward decoration and design one naturally expects a high efficiency of manufacture to have been reached first by the producer, who sees as far into the art of presentation. The fact is, looks have a great deal to do with appetite when it comes to foods, and the American food man was first to make the most of it. His labels stand for canned perfection, they make the mouth water."

Ogden Well Supplied With Electric Devices

Utah as a whole, and Ogden, in particular, are fully abreast of the times is the opinion of C. C. Campbell, sales manager of the Inter-Mountain Electric company. This firm of wholesalers, while having no exhibits at the cooking school, furnishes most of the electric dealers in not only Ogden, but throughout the intermountain region as well.

Ogden is served by a great many electrical firms, asserts Mr. Campbell, which are fully equipped to wire houses, furnish outlets for electrical connections and provide homes with modern electric service of all kinds. They are well stocked with every appliance that enhances comfort and convenience in the home, and they have competent people in charge to generally help in a fuller use of electricity in the modern, up-to-date home.
