Clearing Up Points On Registration In order to clarify the various questions of registration, which have been the cause of doubt among registration agents and the public, County Clerk Walter N. Fair today issued the following statement, addressing it to registrars, agents and the people alike. "The question arises as to the requirements of the law regarding voters who have changed their residence since last election, moving from district to another in Ogden City precinct as to whether it is necessary to first secure a transfer certificate from the district in which they formerly resided before the registry agent of the new district can register their name. The law does not require the person who has moved from one district to another within the same precinct to secure first a certificate of transfer, but there is this advantage in securing the certificate first. It may be done on any day prior to election day and entitles the person to registration in the new district on any day prior to election day and removes any possible chance for a person to be registered in more than one district within the precinct."

SCANDAL MAKES GIRL AN EXILE

Katherine MacDonald in Appealing Film at the Orpheum Theatre The whimsical beauty of Katherine MacDonald has never been more appealing than in "The Notorious Miss Lisle," a motion picture of singular interest which opened at the Orpheum theatre last night for three days. There is a delightful element of mystery running through the story that holds the audience and the hint at scandal makes it decidedly interesting. In a most mysterious manner the name of Gaenor Lisle, the beautiful young daughter of a British army officer, is involved in a terrible scandal. She flees to Britain. Here she meets Peter Garsten, who unaware of the unpleasant notoriety that has fallen to her lot weds her. Later he discovers that Gaenor runs away to London through a series of fortunate incidents she manages to clear her name of the scandal and is reunited to Peter, but not until after she has encountered many adventures that are of the most thrilling character. A Christy comedy featuring Bobby Vernon and a new weekly, formed the remainder of the program. An excellent musical program by the Orpheum orchestra was a pleasant feature. The same bill runs through Tuesday.

Irrigation Model Is Fair Attraction

The cement model of the Weber county irrigation district, entered in the Utah state fair by the Weber county farm bureau, proved one of the biggest attractions at the fair, according to W. P. Thomas, county agricultural agent. Mountains, rivers and other topographical features were brought out in relief in the model. Running water filled the streams and rivers of the diagram, illustrated where the flood waters for the irrigation district would be stored, and where the lands which will be benefited by the district. Throughout the time that the exhibit was open large crowds were attracted by it, Mr. Thomas reports.

The first bricks were laid today on the administration building which is to be completed within the next thirty days. Stables and garages are also to be completed and ready for use within the month, according to the officers in charge. Plans call for the completion of the general warehouses within that period also.

Ogden Homes Show in New West Magazine

Under the caption, "Beautiful Homes of Ogden," the current issue of the New West magazine reproduces photographs of the more elaborate dwellings of this city. There is shown a view of Eccles avenue, both interior and exterior views of the G. L. Becker home, Twenty-fourth street and Van Buren, E. L. Ford's residence, Twenty-fifth street and Harrison, also displayed as is the dwelling of H. E. Bristol at Van Buren and Twenty-fifth street. Interior scenes of the J. N. Spargo home are also presented. Other topics of interest to Ogden are "Ogden as a Milling Center," and "Ogden as a Canning Center," by O. J. Stillwell and an article on "Weber County Irrigation Will Increase Prosperity."

Sportsmen Anxious To Start for Deer

Sportsmen of Ogden are preparing for the opening of the deer season Thursday, October 15. Hundreds of local men are already in the mountains east, west, north and south of the city in quest of deer. The season will be open from October 15 to 25, and it is expected that more than 500 local men will attempt to bag the limit during the open season. Large parties of hundreds will depart from Ogden late Wednesday afternoon for Southern Utah, where they expect to return with their share. No hour laws prevail in deer shooting, according to President A. T. Heistmark of the Weber County Rod and Gun club.

It will be Mack's fourth venture to the street.

U. S. TAX BILL SHOWS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(By The Associated Press.)—America's tax bill for the fiscal year ending June 30 amounted to $5,408,075,468, approximately a billion and a half dollars more than was paid into the federal treasury in the previous twelve months. The figures were contained in the preliminary report of the commissioner of internal revenue, made public last night. It shows that from income and profits taxes the government received approximately three-fourths of its total revenue. In these two items there was an increase of $1,356,909,000 over the fiscal year of 1919, receipts for the two years being: 1920, $3,557,701,000; 1919, $2,200,792,000. From multifarious sources of "miscellaneous" revenue, the government received $1,850,374,000, an increase over the previous year of $201,000,000. LIQUOR TAX DECLINES In the first full year of the prohibition era, there was a net reduction of $343,000,000 in taxes in distilled and fermented liquors, the report showed. From distilled spirits the government received $27,907,000 in the last fiscal year while the taxes from the same source in 1919 were $30,211,000. Taxes on fermented liquors for the last fiscal year aggregated $1,953,000 and for the fiscal year of 1919, $1,117,338,000. The report also shows comparative revenues for the fiscal years of 1919 and 1920. The former date was the last full year in which the government derived its principal revenues from three sources—distilled spirits, fermented liquors and tobacco. Taxes on the three items in 1909 amounted to $244,211,000 while this revenue in the year just ended was $437,778,000. In 1909 these taxes contributed 9.1 per cent of the nation's revenues while last year they were only 3.06 per cent of the total taxes. Although there was a big decrease in taxes on liquors between the two years, there was a corresponding greater increase in the revenue from tobacco in all of its forms. In 1909 the tobacco tax amounted to only $51,887,000 while in 1920 it was $259,845,000, the report showed. MANY OTHER LEVIES The transportation tax which had been estimated to produce about $275,000,000 annually, reached $307,500,000 for the last fiscal year. This included taxes on freight, passenger, express, telephone and telegraph and transfer of oil by pipe line. Excise and special taxes, including the "luxury" tax, brought about $373,000,000 into the treasury. One of the chief items in this list was the tax on motor cars which produced $140,000,000. Taxes on jewelry, cosmetics and other so-called "luxuries" produced another $56,000,000. The special corporation tax on the value of its stock yielded $93,000,000. Withdrawals from bonded warehouses of distilled spirits for industrial and other non-beverage purposes increased from 11,000,000 to more than 25,000,000 gallons from 1919 to 1920, the report disclosed. But in withdrawals from bond of distilled spirits which were labelled for beverage use there was a decrease of 12,000,000 gallons in 1919 to 200,000 gallons in the last fiscal year. The 1919 consumption of cigars was 7,110,000,000 and in the fiscal year of 1920 ranged slightly above 3,200,000,000. The report showed that taxes had been paid on 36,550,000,000 cigarettes in 1919, and 32,279,000,000 in 1920, and 50,400,000,000 in the fiscal year ended June 30. UTAH PAYS SHARE Commissioner Williams reported the year's expenditures of the bureau of internal revenue at $27,700,000. This included an expenditure of $2,100,000 for enforcement of prohibition, $465,000 for enforcement of the narcotic laws and $20,000 used in enforcing the laws against child labor. The actual cost of tax collection, Mr. Williams estimated at 50 cents on each $100 collected, an expenditure of about one per cent more in 1919. Internal revenue receipts for 12 months by states and territories included: Alaska, $500,680; Arizona, $6,557,315; California, $179,267,565; Colorado, $35,727,957; Hawaii, $11,929,872; Idaho, $4,962,264; Iowa, $40,312,782; Kansas, $41,263,775; Minnesota, $149,492,859; Montana, $6,770,237; Nebraska, $25,068,447; Nevada, $11,297,234; New Mexico, $1,968,009; North Dakota, $2,335,660; Oklahoma, $6,259,192; Oregon, $27,869,212; South Dakota, $6,689,794; Texas, $105,097,940; Utah, $9,595,151; Wyoming, $4,225,282; and Philippine Islands, $1,322,472. The total for all states and territories was $5,408,075,468.

Decline in Liquor Receipts Overcome By Growth of Income and Profits Levy

Supreme Court Refuses to Open Dry Law Verdict

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The supreme court refused today to reconsider its decision of last June 7th, sustaining validly of the prohibition amendment and provisions of the enforcement act. The rehearing had been asked in petitions by Christian Feighan, a brewer of Newark, N. J., and George C. Lumsby, a wholesale liquor dealer of Boston, Mass. Rehearing of the Feighan case was sought on the ground that the court failed to state the reason of its conclusion in holding the amendment valid, that inadequate time had been allowed and that the court's construction of the amendment relating to "concurrent power" made congressional authority practically paramount and nullified the effect intended by the senate and house. The Dempsey petition was based on the claim that neither the amendment nor the enforcement act was intended to prohibit the manufacture or sale of beverages containing small percentages of alcohol, which such beverages were not in fact intoxicating. Supreme Court Refuses to Open Dry Law Verdict

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The supreme court refused today to reconsider its decision of last June 7th, sustaining validly of the prohibition amendment and provisions of the enforcement act. The rehearing had been asked in petitions by Christian Feighan, a brewer of Newark, N. J., and George C. Lumsby, a wholesale liquor dealer of Boston, Mass. Rehearing of the Feighan case was sought on the ground that the court failed to state the reason of its conclusion in holding the amendment valid, that inadequate time had been allowed and that the court's construction of the amendment relating to "concurrent power" made congressional authority practically paramount and nullified the effect intended by the senate and house. The Dempsey petition was based on the claim that neither the amendment nor the enforcement act was intended to prohibit the manufacture or sale of beverages containing small percentages of alcohol, which such beverages were not in fact intoxicating.

Youth Sends Police On Mad Dog Hunt

"Mad dog—on Twenty-sixth street!" With popping eyes and with terror in his voice, a youth uttered the above words as he burst into the police station. "It was frothing at the mouth and it looked at me and showed its teeth," the badly frightened youth explained. Several detectives hastily examined their revolvers before entering the police car to search out the dog. They had no occasion to use their weapons, however, all efforts to locate the alleged "mad dog" proving unsuccessful. trace of the fighters, notwithstanding numerous rumors of a serious fight. Members of the police department investigated the report of the broken windows and their findings were that there had evidently been a bloody struggle but that neither "scraper" had been seriously hurt. Sugar Goes Down; May Reach $12 Bag

That sugar will reach $12 during the present week, is the opinion of the merchants of the city. In some parts of the city today sugar was selling for $12.50 to $14.00 per hundred, while one store was retailing sugar for $13.25. Sugar has dropped in the east each day from twenty-five to fifty cents per hundred, and it is stated that during the present week the final drops will be registered. In small quantities sugar retailed for from 14 to 15 cents per pound today.
