Information on Dead and Missing in Battle Sought By Relatives

A little more than two years ago, Sergeant Harry McLaughlin, of F. Company, 11th Infantry, was reported severely wounded in action. This was on September 6, 1918, and a few weeks later his father, Morton McLaughlin, 141 Buttonwood street, Norristown, Pa., heard officially that he had died. That was all he could ascertain and for the last two years he has vainly tried to verify the report or to learn the circumstances surrounding his son's death.

The father has now appealed to the American Legion, Weekly to help him find someone who knew Sergeant McLaughlin and who can tell how he was wounded and where he died. This newspaper publishes the story in the hope one of its readers may be able to furnish information to the bereaved parents.

Weygand Off to Help Wrangel

GEN. WEYGAND

France's youthful military genius, General Weygand, is off to conquer more worlds. General Weygand was Poch's best strategist and performed brilliant work during the war. He was sent to Poland and he is given credit for the brilliant strategy that enabled the Poles to repulse the Bolshevik armies against terrific odds. Now he has been placed in supreme command of General Wrangel's anti-Bolshevik forces in South Russia. This picture is a new photo of the "fair haired boy" of the French military establishment.

Aggies Confident of Victory Over Boulder

LOGAN, Oct. 15.—The Utah Aggies are determined that Utah shall defeat Colorado in the first conference game of the season when U. A. C. meets the Colorado School of Mines on Adams Field next Saturday.

So enthusiastic are the businessmen of Logan over the game that they allowed their plate glass windows to be used as advertising space for the contest. At a meeting held Wednesday afternoon at which were students, the College Athletic committee, the Athletic committee of the Logan Chamber of Commerce and business men from the city, it was decided that greater interest could be stimulated in the game by literally covering the town windows with kaleidoscopic signs. The movement was thoroughly organized, the merchants only stipulating that a material that could be easily washed off be used to paint the signs.

"DATE" DEFINED BY CO-EDS.—(By International News Service.) COLUMBIA, Mo.—If a girl meets a young man and has a soda and a chat, it isn't a "date" if she spends more than half an hour in his company after 7 p. m. that is a "date." This is the edict laid down by girl students of the University of Missouri, in mass meeting assembled to establish rules for the social conduct during the present year. Unanimously agreed that "mere man" couldn't interfere with their search for knowledge the fair co-eds also resolved to confine their "dates" to four a week and to insist on their male callers leaving before 10:30 p. m., except on Friday and Saturday evenings, or the evenings preceding a school holiday. They also agreed to attend dances only on Friday and Saturday evenings, or holiday evenings.
