PARK HIGHWAY MEETING HELD

Refuse to Change Schedule to Take in Utah's Wonderland

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 12.—One hundred and twenty-eight delegates representing nine western states, met here yesterday to organize and enlarge the present park-to-park highway association. The association has for its aim, the construction of all western parks by one continuous motor highway.

The convention is to continue for three days, but the preliminary steps taken today would indicate that the organizers have a well defined program which they will not change under any circumstances.

While all speakers today dwelt upon the necessity for having the eleven western states combined as a unit to aid force to the movement, it is evident these states will have to accept the program outlined without hope of a change in their plans.

A contest of ideas on the floor about the plan of organization, led by L. A. Nares of Fresno, regional director for the Pacific coast for the federal highway council, A. Mack, representing the San Francisco chamber of commerce and W. D. Rineer of Salt Lake favor a larger and broader organization in which the entire west could combine for federal aid to serve all the west with highways which would not only serve as military and commercial highways, but which would also tie up all national parks.

With the single exception of Utah, all delegates were from cities or towns along the highway previously outlined and a little headstrong as they are against the program agreed upon, Mr. Rineer finally forced the issue to an understanding and the convention went on record as against any changes in the original route plan.

This evening all delegates attended a banquet, Friday morning at 9 o'clock the convention convenes again, when the question of organization will be taken up, and in all probability the old organization representing only Colorado, Wyoming and Montana, will be changed to take in all the states.

Through the efforts of F. C. Schramm, the Zion park lecture and photos by J. F. Broadus will be shown Friday night and the Utah delegation expects to force the recognition of Zion national park through these efforts. While the old regime recognizes the right of Utah to a place on the highway, and admits the state will have to be included in some manner as yet they have been unwilling to change the original circuit to include Utah's beauty spots. In all probability a side trip to Zion national park will be conceded.

APPROVE BIG DAM IN IDAHO

$60,000,000 to Be Expended On Project at American Falls

IDAHO FALLS, Ida., Nov. 12.—Official notice from John Barton Payne, secretary of the interior, stating that plans as worked out by the United States reclamation service for the building of the dam at American Falls, has been approved.

Idaho Falls is particularly interested in the news, the first meeting regarding the dam having been held in this city.

The dam at American Falls is to be constructed at the cost of $60,000,000 and will reclaim nearly a million acres of Southern Idaho land.

MABEY INVESTIGATING CABINET GOVERNMENT

BOISE, Ida., Nov. 12.—Whether or not Governor-Elect Charles R. Mabey of Utah will recommend to the Utah legislature that the cabinet form of government be inaugurated in Utah will depend upon the outcome of a personal investigation now being made by Mr. Mabey of the facts and circumstances.

Mr. Mabey is accompanied by James H. Wack, former food inspector for Idaho, for many years chief clerk of the Idaho house of representatives now director of the Utah Public Health service, and Harrison Jenkins, senator-elect from Salt Lake county, a former member of the state industrial commission, both of whom will assist Governor-elect Mabey to draft legislation that the cabinet form of government be recommended to the legislature.

The governor-elect attended a meeting of the Boise Rotary club this afternoon held for the purpose of clearing the Idaho and Utah football teams, who met on the field later. Governor-elect Mabey made a few remarks to the club.

Mr. Wallis left for Salt Lake last night. Governor-elect Mabey and Senator Jenkins will remain here several days investigating Idaho's form of government.

WILLING TO TAKE HIS OLD POSITION BACK

SALT LAKE, Nov. 12.—Malthonih Thomas, federal prohibition director for Utah until a few weeks ago when he resigned in order to pursue his campaign for election to congress in the second district, would accept his former position until March or April, 1921, or until the Republican administration assumes control of national affairs. Mr. Thomas admitted this yesterday, saying that the offer of reappointment would be considered, but that he realized it would be only a recess appointment.

There is no federal prohibition director in Utah at present, the place vacated by Mr. Thomas being still vacant. Senator William H. King has recommended the appointment of Lorenzo Richards, but President Wilson has not acted upon the recommendation. It seems assured according to precedents that if Richards does secure the appointment it will not have the confirmation of the senate and probably would not last as a recess appointment longer than the end of March 1921.

David Thomas, a brother of Malthonih Thomas, who is prohibition inspector, now is acting director.

BEETS AND POTATOES STILL IN THE GROUND

POCATELLO, Ida., Nov. 12.—Reports from Burley indicate that more than 30,000 tons of sugar beets are still in the ground and that more than 10,000 tons of potatoes are yet to be harvested. Bad weather, together with lack of sugar, has caused a serious set back in that section. It is feared that severe frosts the last few nights have caused considerable damage.

TWIN FALLS C. OF C. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Twin Falls, Ida., Nov. 12.—A. B. Wilson has been re-elected president of the Twin Falls chamber of commerce and was elected.

HOME-BREWING PUT UNDER BAN

Sale of Hops and Malt May Be Forbidden by Treasury Decision

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press.) Home-brewing was brought actively under the prohibition ban when it was learned that enforcement officials had ruled against the sale of hops and malt to other than bakers and confectioners. Great secrecy surrounded the prohibition bureau's action but it was definitely ascertained that such instructions had been issued.

Details of the order were lacking. The only admission made by prohibition officials in their absence of Commissioner Kramer was that the Volstead act had been construed to mean that the sale of malt and hops as component parts of home-made beer were without the pale of the law and their sale must stop. Enforcement officials throughout the country have been notified of the government's determination but they have not been supplied with the technical language of the decision.

The construction of the law which resulted in the new order was made nearly two months ago. At that time, officials having it in charge started a document through the regular procedure from which it emerged as a treasury decision. But it has not yet been approved by Secretary Houston.

Emphatic denial was made to the report that the bureau had considered or had included in the order of the proposed treasury ruling, officials declined to discuss it.

There were persistent rumors at both the prohibition and internal revenue headquarters that scores of complaints had been filed from the manufacturers of cereal beverages containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol against the tremendous growth of brewing as a home industry. On this phase of the situation, officials also refused comment. It was understood, however, that the beverage manufacturers' complaint was based on a steady but not increasing in their sales which they charged to the growth of home-brewing. They were understood to have protested to the internal revenue bureau that enforcement agents were enforcing the alcoholic restrictions on them while the home-brewer with the aid of hops and malt has been able to produce a beverage approximating old-fashioned beer.

Officials anticipated that the ban on malt and hops sales should bring a wave of litigation. They claim, however, that their decision had been preceded by a careful study and said they were prepared to meet the attack.

Sections of the act specifically prohibiting the sale of integral parts of beer as well as the formal advertising of receipts for its manufacture were cited as one of the foundations for the ruling. The point which they expected to be tested in court was whether the food value of the two articles banned would in the eyes of a court permit their continued sale as such despite their use as a basis for beverage making.

UTAH MAN KILLED IN POCHE MINE CAVE-IN

COMPLETE CANVASS OF VOTES IN SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE, Nov. 12.—Official canvass of votes cast in Salt Lake was completed yesterday by the county commission. The corrected tally sheets were turned over to County Clerk John E. Clark for tabulation of the vote on individual candidates. The official tabulation will determine which candidate led the Democratic ticket.

Spectators interested in the Democratic vote, who were in the commission's office, the canvass made a tabulation from the corrected tally sheets. Their figures show that William W. Barton, candidate for reelection as treasurer, led the Democratic ticket. Recorder Bertey Olson was second and Sheriff John S. Corless was third, according to the unofficial count.

It is not believed that these totals will be accepted for setting wages, however. Most of the parties interested are awaiting the official tabulation. It is reported that wages to the extent of $10,000 have been made by various politicians in the county.
