

ENGINE ROLLS LAD ON TRACKS WITHOUT INJURY

Carl Engelke Has Miraculous Escape From Death at 28th and Pacific

Carl Engelke, 9 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engelke, 2761 Gibson avenue, is miraculously alive today after having been knocked down and rolled along the railroad track by a switch engine at Twenty-eighth street and Pacific avenue Wednesday.

Carl was returning from school with other children and had started across the tracks at Twenty-eighth street when the locomotive struck him and hurled him headlong.

His companions were horrified and a resident in that vicinity was surprised when the boy was found to be suffering no worse injuries than bruises.

Following this accident, which happened at the same place where Dr. R. E. Worrell and a nurse had a narrow escape recently when they were hurrying to a case, citizens made an appeal to the city for relief from what they declared was a dangerous crossing. They ask that steps be taken to obtain relief from the Ogden Union Railway & Depot company.

Pleads Guilty to Charge of Forgery

Jake Hinckley, charged with forgery in the alleged passing of a check for $55 upon the Security State bank here August 10, entered a plea of guilty this morning when arraigned before Judge A. W. Agee in the district court. The man asked that a stay of sentence be given and Judge Agee announced that he would pass the sentence in court Monday morning at 9:45 o'clock. Hinckley has been in the county jail since his arrest.

HUGE THRONGS CROWD BAZAAR

Many Articles Change Hands; Others Still Pile Counters

Huge success attended the first day of the tri-state bazaar which is being conducted at 2312 Washington avenue, under the auspices of three stakes of the L. D. S. church, according to an announcement made this morning. Throughout yesterday and until 11 o'clock last night the bazaar was crowded by purchasers who aided in replenishing the finances of the societies to carry on charity work within the county.

While large sums of money flowed into the cash registers throughout all hours of the bazaar, the exact amount taken in had not been determined this morning, but the officers declared that unqualified success had been assured.

The bazaar will continue today and tomorrow and will be brought to a close tomorrow night at 11 o'clock. A feature is offered today in home-cooked luncheon between the hours of 11 o'clock this morning and the closing hour at 11 o'clock tonight. An additional drawing card is also the home-cooked dinner which will be served between 5:30 o'clock this afternoon and 9 o'clock tonight.

Oysters will be featured in the dinner tonight and every course will be home-cooked by members of the relief societies who have volunteered their services.

Yesterday's brisk sales caused a decrease in the great heaps of articles being sold in the booths, but there are still hundreds of articles to be disposed of. All articles are home-made of the best materials, and are selling at reasonable prices. The booths contain aprons, house dresses, fancy work, carpets and rugs, flowers, groceries, and many other articles.

The booths containing special attractions, such as fish ponds and fortune tellers, are popular at all times during the day and night. Another busy booth is that containing a soda fountain and featuring ice cream cones, and ice cream and cake.

OUT-BURBANKS LUTHER IN HIS BACKYARD LOT

Strawberries in November—only two—but nevertheless strawberries, were harvested at the residence of County Attorney Joseph B. Bates, 2952 Washington avenue this week.

He told us so himself.

"They were not so large, probably, as big as the end of your little finger," he bragged.

"Flavor? They weren't so very sweet, but they certainly were attractive until you tasted them."

He said that he intended auctioning them, but changed his mind after carefully laying them aside. The reason for his abandoning his plans for the auction is said to be the discovery of the berries by his daughter, a miss of about five summers.

Irrigation District Filings Are Approved

In the face of scores of protests, State Engineer George McGonigle has approved of four filings made by the Weber County Irrigation district. The filings on Maple for 25,000 acres-foot of water; on Marsh Lake for 25,000 acre-feet of water; on Bear river for 550 second-feet of water and on the power filing for Ogden river, have all been approved.

Hundreds of protests against the approval of the filings were presented to the state engineer. In every case, it is stated, evidence showed that the filings were for the benefit of the entire county, rather than for personal gain of a small group of men.

Flat Wheels Cause Delay to U. P. Train

Passengers aboard west-bound Southern Pacific train 19, were accorded two hours and thirty minutes today with which to get a first class glimpse of Ogden. Train 19 was thirty-five minutes late in arriving in Ogden, due to flat wheels on two of the sleeping cars. These wheels were repaired in the local yards and the train resumed its journey two hours later, according to Depotmaster S. H. Tracy.

Train 21 was also late in departing from Ogden. The trains from the west today were on time.
