

LONDON HONORS SLAIN OFFICERS

Westminster Services for Victims of Irish Rebels Attended by Royalty

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Final military honors were paid here today to the victims of Sunday's assassinations in Dublin. Londoners by thousands filled the streets as the funeral procession passed, to pay silent tribute to the slain British officers.

The coffins of ten men were borne on gun carriages from the Royal Artillery over a route two and a half miles long to Westminster abbey and the Westminster cathedral where the religious ceremonies were attended by representatives of King George, by Sir Hamar Greenwood, secretary for Ireland, as chief mourner, and Premier Lloyd George and distinguished persons.

The cortege, escorted by two squadrons of household cavalry, four battalions of the guards, with massed bands, passed through the crowded streets, amid an impressive silence, broken only by the rattle of the gun carriage wheels, the clatter of the cavalry and the measured tread of the infantrymen. The bodies of the seven Protestant victims were taken to Westminster abbey, where the services were conducted by the dean of Westminster and the three others to the Catholic cathedral where Cardinal Bourne officiated at the ceremonies.

OLD SOLDIER'S PET DOG DIES ON MASTER'S GRAVE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—"Shep," a mongrel dog, was found dead at the grave of his late master, Virgil Farley, in the cemetery of the National Soldiers' home at Sawtelle, near here. The dog had refused food after Farley died and officials of the home expressed the belief his action had been caused by grief for his master.

When Farley became ill and was taken to the home hospital, he said to the dog: "Shep, old pard, you won't let me stay here, but you must come to see me every day."

And every day the dog was permitted to see his master.

Then Farley died and "Shep" followed the body to the morgue. Later he walked beside the gun-carriage upon which the body was borne to the grave. When the grave was closed, "Shep" lay down beside it and remained there, on guard, until he died.

LINEMEN'S REFUGE HUTS PUT IN WESTERN HILLS

NEVADA CITY, Cal., Nov. 26.—Along the line of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company and the Western Union Telegraph company, through the Sierra Nevada mountains, a chain of huts have been provided and one or more expert linemen will spend the winter in each. The duty of these men is to keep the wire open, no matter what the weather conditions, and should they fall in the task, a serious interruption to communication and news transmission would ensue.

In fair weather these men have nothing to do but to keep the cabin fire burning, but the approach of a storm is the signal for hours of the most strenuous exertion.

Wilson has been appointed superintendent of the academy. Wilson succeeds Rear Admiral Archibald Scates.

LEPERS, THOUGH CURED, WON'T LEAVE COLONY

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 26.—Three inmates of the Kalaupapa leper settlement on the island of Molokai, who recently were offered their freedom by the territorial board of health, have asked and have been granted permission to remain in the leper colony.

Twelve others in whom no traces of the disease could be found following the chaulmoogra oil treatment were released on parole.

Of the three who have been allowed to remain at Kalaupapa as helpers in the colony, two are men and one is a woman. One of the men is 53 years of age, with a record of 31 years in the settlement, a leper patient. He is the first inmate of Kalaupapa known to have taken the chaulmoogra treatment, which he began in 1902.

It was reported at the board of health meeting at which the paroles were granted, that 32 other inmates of the settlement are eligible for paroles, but that after long residence there they have become so attached to the place they do not desire to leave it and have refused to apply for release.

'JAILED' ANIMALS ENJOY THANKSGIVING DINNER

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 26.—All kinds confined in the city pound here were served a special Thanksgiving dinner. An anonymous woman donor provided most of the food to satisfy the need.

Hot milk was the first item on the menu. Next was served a stew of chicken and beef. When the dogs had eaten of this until their usually frenzied appetites were satisfied, each was given a cookie and a square of hard candy. Some gnawed the sweet, but the dogs that liked candy ate their own portions and those of the dogs that did not.

For the cats, dinner opened with a saucer of real cream for each, followed by a plate of chicken and crab meat. Two impounded goats were served each a package of rolled oats and a bundle of fresh hay.

"The surviving to the animals was a decided success," declared Mrs. P. W. Swanton of the Oregon Humane society, who had the arrangements in charge.

JEWES HERE DEBATE ON ASSISTING HOMELAND

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 26.—America's part in the establishment of a homeland for the Jews in Palestine as outlined by the executive committee of the Zionist organization of America was submitted to the delegates at the 23rd annual convention here. The committee's report caused a long debate and only the preliminary clause for the cooperation of all Jews in the movement had been adopted when the convention adjourned.

The method recommended for giving financial aid in the organization of Palestine's resources and public utilities developed divergent views and the discussion, in English, Hebrew and Yiddish, extended over three hours without bringing the convention to a vote.

CHESTER BREAKS SILENCE AND SAYS HE'S HUNGRY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 26.—Denise Chester, held here on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting of Florence Barton, Kansas City society girl, late last night broke the silence he has maintained since he attempted to commit suicide last week in the jail at Broken Bow, Neb., where he was taken following recapture after a sensational escape from officers who were bringing him back from Great Falls, Mont.

Chester replied affirmatively when asked by a nurse whether he was hungry. The nurse's silence has caused the police considerable uneasiness, as it was feared, he had injured himself seriously when he leaped from his bunk to the floor of the Broken Bow jail, alighting upon his head.

LOWER PRICE OF MILK FORECAST

Too Much Condensed Stuff on Hand to Warrant Prices, Farmer Holds

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—There is a big surplus of milk in the country and milk prices generally should be lower than they are, J. W. Coverdale, secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said here in explanation of the federation's call for a national conference of milk producers. The conference, he said, aims to work out some better method of marketing milk and will consider the possibilities of cooperation.

"A number of condenseries absolutely refuse to buy milk and many producers don't know what to do with a large part of their supply," Mr. Coverdale said. "In New York state, producers have put up several of their own condenseries and have bought several more that had closed. They propose to can their milk and lay it away on the shelves until the time when the public will want it."

"There is so much milk without a demand for it that I think milk could be sold for less and still pay out. People would use more of it. Some of the people don't know what to do with a large part of their supply," Mr. Coverdale said.

The present difficulty dates back, I think, to the high price of sugar. Sugar is used in condensing milk and the condenseries filled their shelves with milk put up at a high price. There is no export sale and the condenseries are trying to force the consumer to buy this milk. The people are not doing it, and the result is there is too much condensed milk in the country."

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE KILLED BY STREET CAR

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Nov. 26.—Justice John Stewart, 31, of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, was struck by a trolley car here Thursday and instantly killed.

Justice Stewart was a delegate to four Republican national conventions, the first at Baltimore in 1862, when Abraham Lincoln was nominated.

SHE YAWNED MIGHTILY AND DISLOCATED JAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—"Huh!" murmured Mrs. J. K. Harrower, attempting to stifle a yawn as she sat watching a motion picture in a theatre here recently.

She was successful and the yawn was so deep drawn that it dislocated her jaw. Emergency hospital treatment brought the jaw back into place again.

ARIZONA PROTESTS ON CITIZENSHIP TO JAPS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 26.—Governor Thomas E. Campbell Thursday telegraphed the state department protesting against any treaty with Japan which would give subjects of that country privilege of citizenship in the United States; it was announced today. His message was based on reports that such a treaty was being considered.

The ten invaded departments of France have produced this year 500,000 tons of wheat and one-fourth the country's oat crop.
