Action of Argentina Brings Up Much Comment at Geneva

GENEVA, Dec. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Consideration of an amendment to the covenant of the league of nations which would eliminate article X has been postponed by the assembly of the league of nations until the next meeting. This amendment, which was proposed by C. J. Doherty, a member of the Canadian delegation, has been referred to a committee which has been instructed to submit a report when the assembly holds its next session.

The resolution of the Argentine delegation providing that all sovereign states, unless they remain outside of their own will, shall be recognized as members of the league, was the first item on the agenda of the assembly today.

It was also planned, if possible, to take up the report of Rene Viviani, of France and N. W. Rowell, of Canada, on relations between the council and the league.

REGRET EXPRESSED

After today's session had opened, Paul Hyman, the president, presented Senator Pueyrredon's letter to the assembly and said he had expressed personally to the head of the Argentine mission his deep regrets at the step it had taken.

Lord Robert Cecil, delegate for the Union of South Africa, then took the floor, saying:

"If other delegations could be allowed to take the same step when their proposals are not accepted, it would be impossible for the league to make any progress."

"The act of no single country," Lord Robert added, "can diminish our faith in the success of the league, after the great strides that have been made toward the object in view. All that is needed is courage, honor and consideration for one another."

"It is declared here that virtually every delegate regards Argentina's action as an error in tactics."

After Lord Robert's address, the assembly proceeded to discuss today's agenda without further reference to the withdrawal of Argentina.

Hjalmar Branting, of Sweden, asked that Mr. Doherty's amendment eliminating article X from the covenant of the league, and that presented by the Argentine delegation regarding the admission of all states be sent to a committee without debate for study. A report on them will be submitted to the next session of the assembly. A special committee would take them under consideration. This motion was adopted by the assembly.

During the discussion Mr. Doherty said that while the Canadian delegation felt that its amendment was one that might well be discussed now, as the opinion seemed to be that amendments should be dealt with in the same manner, the Canadian delegation would not insist upon immediate consideration of its proposition.

BALFOUR REPORTS

The report of the committee on relations between the council and assembly, presented by A. J. Balfour, of Great Britain, provoked a long debate in which Lord Robert Cecil, speaking for the delegation of the Union of South Africa, came into conflict for the first time in a full session of the assembly with the British delegation.

Lord Robert objected to the limitation upon the competence of the assembly, recommended by the committee. He said this would prevent the assembly from considering such important questions as disarmament and mandates. The South African delegation was unable to accept the report without modification, he declared.

Lord Robert offered an amendment declaring that either the council or the assembly would have the right to examine any question within the jurisdiction of the league. This was adopted and the report as amended was then approved by the assembly.

Argentina's amendment to the covenant of the league of nations, rejection of which caused the delegation of that country to leave the assembly on Saturday morning, has been referred to the assembly for consideration at its next meeting. Honorio Pueyrredon, head of the Argentine mission, told the Associated Press today that his delegation would leave for Paris on Wednesday or Thursday.

"Today's decision of the assembly finally settles the question for Argentina," he said. "I shall make a few calls, give several luncheons and leave for home the middle of the week. I was willing to consent to the postponement of all Argentina's amendments except those regarding the admission of all states and the election of the four members of the council, but the assembly has seen fit to resort to a technicality of procedure in a matter vital to the life of the league. I am sure American public opinion is with us in this matter and I have already received indication of this in a cablegram from Chicago."

Senator Pueyrredon intimated the withdrawal of Argentina from the assembly might be followed shortly by formal announcement of that country's intention to retire from the league itself.

SHELLS EXPLODE ON BURNING SHIP

Fort Hamilton Section of Brooklyn is Bombaraded With Flying Fragments

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Hundreds of homes in the Fort Hamilton section of Brooklyn virtually were under heavy shelling bombardment Sunday afternoon resulting from intermittent explosions of six-inch and ten-inch shells on a steam lighter which caught fire while moored to the army reservation wharf.

Gathering together their belongings in a belief that the naval arsenal at Fort Hamilton, was ablaze, terrified scores fled their homes for safer zones, driven to frenzied haste by the series of detonations which were heard for miles around.

An official statement from Fort Hamilton said no lives had been lost and that only four persons had been slightly injured.

SHELL STRIKES HOME

One of the terrifying incidents of the barrage was the 400 yard flight of a ten-inch shell clear over the reservation and into a house in Fort Hamilton parkway. The projectile tore a huge hole in the roof of the dwelling, passed through two floors and burst itself in the cellar. The house, occupied by the family of August Gallen, all of whom escaped injury, was shaken with the violence of an earthquake.

The lighter which was laden with 300 shells for shipment to Boston, was torn from its moorings by the violence of the first explosion. Two men were on board but they escaped.

NAVAL HEROISM

A naval tug soon reached the scene and in a desperate effort to prevent the flames spreading to the wharf commanding officer Albert Doherty headed his craft for the blazing lighter and its exploding cargo. He stuck his nose against the side of the lighter and pushed her away to a sand bar in imminent peril of his own craft being blown from the water.

The naval tug had scarcely withdrawn when a heavy explosion occurred which injured two men and a woman who had a miraculous escape from death. They were nursing past the wharf opposite the lighter when the first explosion occurred.

Fragments of shell peppered their automobile but the occupants suffered only slight wounds and after receiving medical aid were able to go home.

The glare from the exploding ammunition and the flames from the burning wharf, illuminated the harbor and attracted thousands to the Brooklyn and Staten Island waterfronts.

As explosion followed explosion and the danger to craft passing the narrow channels between Fort Hamilton and Fort Wadsworth grew menacing, "blinker light" signals were flashed from the fortifications warning mariners to give the three-way channel a wide berth.

SOLDIERS ALLEY PANIC

Soldiers from Fort Hamilton were dispatched into the residential section to allay panic. The proximity of the arsenal at Fort La Fayette with its stores of high explosives and inflammable material, was a source of intense work to fire fighters.

The blazing lighter and its exploding shells broke away from the wharf and began to drift in the direction of the arsenal of the crews of navy tugs and municipal fire boats re-doubled their energies. Fear of a frightful catastrophe should a shell strike the arsenal and ignite tons of gasoline stored there, was allayed when the lighter grounded on the sand bar.

The army wharf about 200 yards long was destroyed. The loss was estimated by army officers at approximately $100,000. This meteorological station on the wharf also was destroyed. Windows in numerous residences in the Fort Hamilton section were shattered and houses were shaken within a radius of three miles.

UNCLE SAM WINS ANTI-TRUST SUIT

Lehigh Railroad Ordered to Redistribute Stock Held by Officers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The government today won its anti-trust suit against the Lehigh Railroad company and affiliated corporations.

The supreme court in a decision read by Associate Justice Clarke, sustained charges of monopoly and violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The court held that charges of the violation of the commodities clause in the formation of the Lehigh and Lehigh Valley Railroad company, asked by the government, was ordered by the court upon the government's contention that common stock ownership by officers and directors constituted restraint of trade prohibited by the Sherman act.

Justices McReynolds and Brandeis took no part in the consideration of the case. Justice McReynolds was attorney general while the case was pending.
