

MAKE GAIN IN SALE OF SEALS

Tomorrow Marks Close of First Week of Local Campaign

The Christmas Seal campaign, being staged in Ogden under the auspices of the Utah Public Health Association, will close the first week of its drive here tomorrow evening according to local Secretary George D. Bennett.

The Salvation Army workers at the Union Depot reported a heavy sale today, while the workers in the business district also reported a fair sale.

With more than two weeks remaining in the drive, we expect to shatter the records of last year's campaign, Secretary Bennett today said.

Salvation Army to Provide Christmas Joys

Seeking subscriptions to the Christmas and winter relief work funds of the Salvation Army, letters are being mailed by Envoy Robert Henderson to Ogden business men and the various societies and organizations of the city.

"Last year thirty-three baskets of groceries were given to needy families at Christmas time and one hundred and forty children received gifts and candies from the Christmas tree being made possible by your generosity, and we feel sure that you will help us again, and that none of the needy door shall go without, but that Christmas cheer shall be in every home."
