SELECTIONS FROM "AZORA" TO BE GIVEN AT PIONEER DAUGHTERS MEETING

Selections from Henry Hadley's grand opera "Azora" (a Mexican Indian Princess) are to be given at the Pioneer, Thursday afternoon at the club, in connection with a lecture by Professor G. Oscar Russell, of the University of Utah, on "The Mexican Indian."

That those in attendance may more fully appreciate the opera, "Azora" will be given by an American composer, Miss Ellen Thomas gives a brief synopsis of it. The story of "Azora" is the conquest of Cortez. Azora is the daughter of the ruler of the Aztecs. Her marriage to an Aztec chief, but her heart is elsewhere. There is a chief of another tribe, Xalca, captured in battle. He has become like Azora and stands high in the estimation of Montezuma. Xalca and Azora become attached to each other. Her father's choice of Ramatzin is repulsive to her. A nearby tribe has declared war upon the Aztecs and the emperor has appointed Xalca to lead his army, promising to grant anything that the leader of his forces asks, on condition that he comes back victorious. In Xalca's absence Ramatzin pushes his suit aggressively, only to be told that Azora dislikes him. Azora is forced to confess her love for Xalca. Montezuma is angered and decides to force her marriage to Ramatzin. Xalca returns victorious and as his reward demands that Azora be made his wife. Azora refuses in spite of his promise. Azora and Xalca protest to the other marriage. When Montezuma hears of his daughter's refusal, he condemns her to be sacrificed by the high priest. There is a high priest, when there is a loud explosion, it is the first time the Aztecs have heard gunpowder explode. They are frightened. The priest falls senseless, and the sacrifice is forgotten. Cortez and his band of Spaniards march majestically in with a banner bearing a large cross. The opera ends with the Aztecs paying homage to the Spaniards who release the lovers from their threatened death.

Use has been made of the Indian themes all through the opera, but usually rather than actually incorporated into the themes. The solo of Montezuma's sister, Papatzin, tells a wonderful dream she has had of the true and living God and warns the chief and his daughter not to worship idols. Through this dream she is converted to Christianity. The solo will be sung, also one of Azora's and the main duet of Azora and Ramatzin. These songs will be sung by Miss Ethel Allen, Mrs. Melba Reed Jones and Gladys Kingham. Miss Mary Fisher will give a violin solo, "An Indian Village." Sterling Wheelwright will give an organ selection.

GOVERNMENT GIVES COMPLETE APPROVAL TO NEAR EAST POLICY

Secretary Hughes Tells Associated Press U. S. Endorses Proposal to Keep Dardanelles Free and Protect Minorities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—The unequivocal approval by the Washington government of allied proposals to insure freedom of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus and also to protect racial and religious minorities in Turkish territories involved in the present near eastern situation was expressed by Secretary Hughes today in reply to an inquiry addressed to him by the Associated Press.

The question submitted sought to ascertain "the attitude of the government of the United States toward the proposals made by the allies to the Turkish nationalist authorities." Mr. Hughes declined to comment on the territorial questions raised to clear the attitude of the administration on the points involved.

"The American government is gratified," said Mr. Hughes, "to observe that the proposal of the three allied governments to insure effectively the liberty of the Dardanelles, the Bosphorus and the Bosphorus as well as protection of racial and religious minorities. These points of the proposal are clearly in accord with American sentiment."

"This government also trusts that suitable arrangements may be made in the interest of peace to preserve the freedom of the straits pending the conference to conclude a final treaty of peace between Turkey, Greece and the allies."

$125,000 FIRE IN IDAHO FALLS

Mill and Elevator Buildings Cleaned Out; Walls May Topple

IDAHO FALLS, Ida., Sept. 26.—Fire of undetermined origin, but presumably from spontaneous combustion, destroyed the mill and elevator company here this morning. The loss is estimated at approximately $125,000 with some insurance. Flames were leaping through the roof when the fire was discovered at 7 o'clock and the best that the firemen could do was to keep them from spreading to adjoining warehouses.

Valuable machinery used in milling is ruined and the interior of the mill is a charred mass of timbers, with the additional fear that the walls may fall as they cool off from the intense heat. About 1500 barrels of flour were destroyed as well as a quantity of grain. The mill proper was built in 1888 and has been enlarged a number of times since then. It was one of the largest in the state. At noon today firemen were still playing streams of water on the smouldering ruins after over five hours of continuous battling with the flames.

DISTILLER HAS 'WATCH DUCKS'

Fowls Warn Moonshiner as Federal Agents Arrive on Raid

PRAIRIE DU CHIENE, Wis., Sept. 26.—A duck can't bite, but can "honk" a warning when strangers approach as was the case of a farmer running a moonshine farm near here, who had two "watch ducks." Several federal officers armed with the password, went to the bootlegger's camp to make a raid on the moonshine cabin. As they approached the cabin, the ducks quacked and the farmer rushed out to learn what was up.

One of the officers told him they wanted to buy a sack of potatoes. "Potatoes" was the password and the farmer kicked the dirt away from a hole in the ground and disclosed a bottle of moonshine. The duck trainer was held for hearing.

JEWES TO OBSERVE YOM KIPPUR HERE

The Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur) will be observed by the congregation of the British Shul, of which M. Friedman is rabbi, on Monday, October 2, in connection with the observance by the Jewish people in all parts of the world. The observance will consist of one continuous service from sunset Sunday evening until sundown on Monday evening.

No other holiday of the synagogue is vested with such importance as is attached to this day of soul-searching and repentance. It is perhaps the most distinctly Jewish holiday of the synagogue, one that is most pervasive and states in fullest measure the ultimate goal and purpose of Israel's striving. The Messianic fulfillment of the Jews as well as humanity's destiny is foreshadowed in the liturgy of this service.

Members of the congregation are expected to withdraw from all worldly cares, and forgetful of the workaday affairs, give himself unto God in prayer and repentance. The severe discipline of this introspection and fasting the worshipper exercises a larger degree of self-control in his relations with humanity and thus becomes reconciled to God and man.

The memorial services held in the afternoon of the Day of Atonement are solemn and impressive and not only members of the Jewish community are remembered but all noble men and women who have served the cause of humanity.
