

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A. B. Rockhill, of this city, has opened a saloon at Lehi.

A number of new advertisements appear in this issue. Read 'em.

The fall in temperature the last few days has been considerable and frost is predicted.

A grand masquerade ball will be given at the pavilion on next Friday evening by the Spanish Fork band.

Pete Hanson wrecked one of Will Boyack's carriages while working off an excess of spirits Monday evening.

Last Monday evening a party of young people drove down to David Hughes' place in Merionville, where they held a social.

Rev. Lee was suffering during the first of the week from a bruised knee, received by his horse falling upon him while out for a ride.

Seventy-three couples attended the dance given by the choir at the pavilion last Friday evening. The net receipts were over $17.

A Republican primary will be held in the pavilion on Monday evening, Sept. 23rd, to select 23 delegates to the county convention at Provo, Oct. 1.

Messrs. F. J. Cannon, C. E. Allen, H. M. Wells and Jas. Chipman are expected to be at the pavilion on Oct. 5th at 8 p. m. They will be accompanied by the Provo Glee club.

Geo. O. Robertson had the second finger of his right hand amputated last week by Dr. Warner. The operation was made necessary by a slight flesh wound received early in the season not healing properly.

The effort of any newspaper to build up a town is practically nullified unless it is backed up by the business men. If a stranger turns from the news column of a paper to its advertising pages, and if he fails to find there the advertisement or business card, he naturally comes to the conclusion that there is either nothing to the town or that the publisher is not appreciated.

Mrs. M. J. Telford of Grand Junction lectured on temperance and W. C. T. U. work, at the pavilion last Monday evening. She was accompanied by Mrs. Miner, of Salt Lake the president of the order in Utah. Mrs. Telford is a good speaker and made a number of telling points in her lecture. She outlined at length the nature of the work of the Unions and gave testimony of the results in many places. After the lecture a Woman's Christian Temperance Union was organized with the following officers: President, Mrs. Caroline Pace; 1st Vice-president, Mrs. Jane Finch; 2nd Vice-president, Mrs. Dr. Warner; Secretary, Mrs. Lee; Treasurer, Mrs. Thaxton. The Union holds its first meeting Oct. 2nd.

Frank Snow, of the Consolidated Implement company of Salt Lake, was in town on business several days this week.

Miss Lucy Thomas is teaching at Clinton, instead of at Clear Creek, as stated in THE HERALD last week.

Geo. M. Boyack and M. Mickelson have been called to the European mission and will start early in November.

Messrs. Brigham and Parley Darger and John Christanson have gone to Plate county to look after the interests of the Desert Gold Mine & Milling company.

Democratic County Convention.

For the above event at Payson, Sept. 18 the Union Pacific will make a rate of one fare for the round trip; selling date Sept. 28. Good returning Sept. 29.

LEGAL MATTERS.

The hearing of Alex Haldquist was completed last Friday morning before Justice Booth, in Provo, and the grand jury sent to "John Henry" at Springville cost him $180. A stay of execution was granted for ten days. Justice Booth in passing judgment on the case, stated that it was doubtful whether the sale of liquor without a license could be stepped without imprisonment, but in this case he would impose only the fine and, if the same was not paid, defendant would be committed to jail for 150 days with hard labor.

Republican County Convention.

For the above event at Provo Oct. 1st the Union Pacific will make a rate of one fare for the round trip. Selling date Oct. 1st; good returning Oct. 2.

FLASHES.

The young people here are giving their attention quite freely to Salem's excellent watermelon crop.

This settlement was the recipient of a nice warm, wet rain, Wednesday. This was so much of a surprise to some people that they stayed out in it.

City Recorder Hughes went to Salt Lake Monday on private detective work. Mr. Hughes' modesty prevents his mentioning the result of his labors but it is hinted that startling developments are not likely to develop for several weeks to come.

It is understood that the visit of the Hon. Abel J. Evans, chief man of the Democratic County Central committee, to this city yesterday had no political significance. He was in quest of sustenance for the Provo Dispatch, but a dishearteningly large number of the "unlettered" didn't appear to care whether that sheet lived or not.

Some young hoodlums evidently got gay at the expense of a window in the HERALD office, Tuesday evening. A pane for practical joking is possessed by nearly everyone and is generally harmless; but those in whom it is a mania for smashing windows are fit candidates for the reform school.

"De cheap gay wot 'li' row rocks in Slag Tree's alley is properly bughouse an' 'li' git de bloom'n' mug shoved offen him in de nex' act. Smashin' windows is a back-number work an' it don't go, see?"

Mrs. Sorenson's class in hygiene and physical culture held their annual meeting at the meeting house Thursday afternoon, and then adjourned to the Relief Society hall for lunch. A delegation of young ladies waited upon the editor and kindly invited him to lunch. Now we are very bashful young men, and when the fair ones appeared we promptly got "trattled" and in our confusion declined. We are very sorry we could not partake and hope the ladies will accept this apology. Editors rarely decline invitations to lunch, and if the invitation should be kindly extended next year, we hope to have so far conquered our bashfulness as to be able to accept the honor.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

Solomon, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Holms of Springville, died on Thursday morning of last week of dropsy of the heart. He was an unusually bright boy and a favorite with his companions. The funeral was held at the family residence Friday at two o'clock.

Mrs. J. C. York, residing at the north end of 3rd street, was yesterday a day building a chicken at the corner of the house, with a pan of scalding water standing on the ground. While the lady's back was turned, a two-year-old grand daughter, child of her daughter, Mrs. John Fitzgerald, came out and backed into the pan, tipping the hot water over the little body, from the navel down to the knees, and scalding it both in front and behind. Dr. Simmons was called, who dressed the body and heretofore was all right, but yesterday the child went into spasms and died. —Enquirer.

Mrs. Martha Jane Jones Thomas of this place died on Thursday, Sept. 5th at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Woodhouse. The deceased was one of the early settlers of Utah and passed through the privations incident to a new country. She moved to Lehi in an early day and has lived here ever since up to the time of her death. She was the mother of a large family and has a host of friends who esteemed her very highly for her many good qualities. The funeral services were held in the meeting house on Saturday, at 10 o'clock a. m., where a large concourse of people gathered to pay their last respects to the departed. Barton T. B. Carter presided and the choir furnished the sweet singing. Martha Jane Thomas (born Feb. 2, 1808, died Sept. 5, 1895, aged 87 years, 6 months, 13 days) was born in Sumner Co., Tennessee, and was married to Daniel S. Howell Thomas in 1826. In 1827 they moved to Kentucky, then a newly settled country. In 1835 she received the gospel as preached by Wilford Woodruff, then on his first mission, he holding the office of priest. In 1837 she and her husband moved to Missouri at the time of the first persecutions and were driven from home Feb. 14, 1839. At that time they had five children. In the spring of 1840 they moved to Nauvoo and went through all the labors and persecutions encountered by the Saints in that place, working on the temple at that time. In early spring of 1845 they were driven from Nauvoo and made the journey from the Mississippi river to Winter Quarters, where they lived until 1849, when they moved to Salt Lake City. In 1853 they moved to Lehi and she continued to reside here until the time of her death. —Lehi Banner.

Obituary.

At Helper on the morning of Tuesday, Sept. 10, 1895, Mrs. G. B. Bunker, a daughter of Mr. Lewis Rowe, of Schofield, and a niece of Mr. Owen Rowe of this city, departed this life after a brief illness. A husband and three children, the youngest of whom was but nine days old, survive her. The funeral was held in this city on Thursday of last week. Mrs. Bunker was well known here and was a very popular young woman, her bright and cheerful disposition winning friends and making her a general favorite with people among whom her lot was cast. It is said that one so gentle and earnest should be called to the Great Beyond almost at the beginning of an active and useful life among the people of the earth, but the almighty Father in Heaven doth all things for the best, and the deceased husband in a little while will find comfort in the consciousness that she is with the chosen ones of God.

Mrs. Bunker's maiden name was Mary Jane Rowe, and she was born in Wales 23 years ago. She had been in America eleven years, and was married to Mr. Bunker about seven years since. A younger sister who was absent in Colorado was unable to reach here in time for the funeral. This was the first time she had been separated from her sister during a life time of 21 years.

Utah County Teachers' Association.

The first annual meeting of the Utah County Teachers' association was held at Castilla Springs, Saturday, Sept. 14, 1895. The following organization was effected:

- Vice-president—W. S. Rawlings. Secretary—Susie B. Swenson. Corresponding secretary—Cora Groesbeck. Executive committee—C. E. Christensen, of Springville; J. A. Rose, Spanish Fork; Z. S. Taylor, Payson; D. H. Robinson, Lehi; Grove; W. R. Calderwood, American Fork; G. W. Child, Lehi; S. P. Eggeston, Provo. Chorister—J. A. Vance. Assistant chorister—T. R. Kolley. Organist—Prof. Gibbs.

Prof. Stewart, of the University of Utah, spoke upon the subject of school room ethics. Intellectually is dependent upon morality. He wished to discuss the subject from an ideal standpoint, to assist the teachers in working out their ideal. All progress is the working out of the divine in the being. Sympathy and knowledge are the foundation of ethical knowledge. The same shallowness as is exhibited in politics and society is found in education. Deception is the chief step toward immorality. This shamness in education was particularly exhibited at the last Territorial fair. This same condition is brought about through a false incentive, such as encouraging a desire for popularity—to have the names of pupils published in newspapers, etc. Virtue brings its own reward. The ultimate effect of every act is uncalculable, so true character must be content to wait for the slow but inevitable results; and character thus produced will be able to resist temptation. Morality proceeds from self outwardly. The child is a bundle of selfishness. His sympathy extends first to members of his own family, his playmates, his countrymen, his fellow man. Thus inaugurate the era of "universal brotherhood and peace on earth good will to man". Approval in sought for as an end becomes a demoralizing factor instead of a moral agent. Character may be spoiled by praise and applause. Approval is moral only when it convinces the child of the harmonious action of itself with others and with the right. Sympathy must be reciprocal. Disapprobation to be moral must be accompanied with sympathy—manifested for the express purpose of producing reform, and especially is it effective when coupled with true appreciation. Crystallized truths cannot be transplanted from the adult mind to the child mind unless conditions are created to make such possible. Moral conduct is the adjustment of acts to the highest ends, and must produce a sympathy that makes a consciousness of perfect action.

Dr. Maerer addressed the teachers at the afternoon session on the "Development of Our Public School System". Systems grow, they are not made—they are the result of environments that have modified and promoted the same. It is properly understood only in the light of history. The pioneers entered in poverty, with a desire for advancement, and although struggling and imperfect, the first efforts made were to receive educational advancement. This was the period of sleeping school. Out of this chaotic condition developed a more definite system. Teachers sought to make their mark, chief among which may be mentioned Dr. John R. Park, at Draper. From these professional teachers and others derived ideas, until a normal school or class merged into existence; after which was formed a school law, and from that came our public school system, which system is the sanctuary of the public institutions of the country. This system is not resting upon officials and laws, but upon the efficiency of the teacher. The teacher is the keeper of the sanctuary—upon the performance of whose duties depends the progress—the buildings, apparatus and supplies being secondary. Hence the teacher must be a live teacher, for living implies progress. Teaching consists in the science and art of conveying knowledge, and of forming habits. And in order to receive the best results "be what you would have your pupils become". Out of the schoolroom a nation arises, hence the perpetuity of the great commonwealth depends upon the teacher.

The greatest and ultimate aim of all education is to make the pupil perfect as the Father is perfect, and all steps in education must be taken in view of this aim. The schoolroom being a sanctuary, personal grievances, troubles, political differences, denominational influence, or strife of any form must not be permitted to enter. The God of the universe has established the goal to which all are directed. The teacher's sacred duty is to lead as Jesus of Nazareth led the way. Individual influence must be kept out of the school, for fidelity is the consumption of the soul—all confidence is lost, all harmony disturbed, all progress hindered. The household of God is our destination. Although we may not reach this exalted position, still perfection must be regulated by it, and we may say that the main line of our progress is the polar star.

In the evening Prof. Stewart addressed a large audience at the pavilion in this city on the subject of education, giving a very interesting and most instructive lecture.
