RECLAIMING ARID LANDS IN STATE OF UTAH

Counsel Richards of State Commission at Capital.

ANXIOUS TO SEE NEWELL

Has Conference With That Official Relative to Hearing.

Head of Reclamation Bureau, However, Unable to Talk With Utah at Present.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, 107 G Street, Washington, Jan. 1.

F. S. Richards, counsel of the Arid Land commission of Utah, reached Washington yesterday and at once called upon F. H. Newell at the geological survey to arrange with that official for the hearing of himself and A. F. Doremus, chairman of the commission, to discuss matters relative to the reclamation of the arid lands of Utah. Mr. Richards learned that Mr. Newell had just been requested by President Roosevelt to go to Portland to attend the livestock convention, which meets there January 10th, and he will be absent from Washington some three weeks. Mr. Newell, however, agreed to a suggestion made by Mr. Richards that when the convention at Portland is concluded he will stop at Salt Lake, en route East, to confer with the Arid Land commission. Prof. Newell, in agreeing to this suggestion, said he thought he would be able to reach Salt Lake about January 20th. Mr. Richards will have another general talk with Prof. Newell tomorrow, and after transacting some legal business he has in hand will return to Salt Lake, probably the latter part of next week. Mr. Richards finds that Prof. Newell seems very favorably disposed toward Utah's reclamation projects, and that of Utah lake in particular.

TOUCHING INCIDENTS OF THE IROQUOIS FIRE AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Such a day of mourning Chicago never witnessed as that which ushered in the new year. In every portion of the city almost it seemed as though that there were funerals going on, and undertaker wagons arriving with dead who were being brought to their homes for the last time.

SEARCHING FOR THE LOST.

While the funeral processions were moving through the snow-covered streets to various cemeteries, the throng about the morgues and undertaking establishments was as large as last night. The scenes here were the same as those of Wednesday and Thursday night. Many men were seen taking their bodies to the morgues to be buried. The bodies of the dead were being taken to the morgues to be buried. The bodies of the dead were being taken to the morgues to be buried.

LOOKING FOR LOVED ONES.

One of the saddest cases was that of Herbert and Agnes Lange of 1229 Barry avenue. Both children had attended the performance, and after many hours of fruitless searching the broken-hearted father finally found the bodies of his children in an undertaking establishment. Mr. Lange, almost exhausted through his continued search, was taken to the hospital from the morgue's office and then back through the morgue to his home. Finally the bodies of his children were found, and the broken-hearted father smiled through his tears as he gathered up the little form and carried it to his carriage.

REUNION OF FACTIONS.

Democrats at Omaha, Neb., Celebrate Eightieth Anniversary of Jackson's Victory.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 1.—Nearly five hundred Democrats of Nebraska tonight celebrated the eighty-ninth anniversary of Andrew Jackson's victory over the British at New Orleans, and incidentally the thirtieth anniversary of the Jacksonian club of Nebraska. The speakers included Senator Francis M. Richardson of Nevada, Congressman David Dearmond of Missouri and Congressman Mitchell of Nebraska. The occasion was of special significance to the Nebraska Democracy because of a reunion of the factions that have formerly been known as "gold" and "silver" Democrats.

DINNER WITHOUT MUSIC.

Young People Entertained at the White House in Honor of the Roosevelt Guests.

Washington, Jan. 1.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained a company of young people at dinner tonight in honor of their house guests, the Misses Roosevelt and Miss Newbold. Following so closely the arduous hours of the New Year's reception, the dinner festivities were confined entirely to the dining-room. There was no music.

Germany Sends Regrets.

Berlin, Jan. 1.—Empress William informed Ambassador Fowler today at the time the Ambassador was offering his New Year's congratulations that he had been called to President Roosevelt's sorrow over the Chicago disaster. Both the Emperor and Empress supplemented the cable condolence by personal expressions to the Ambassador.

VICTIMS OF THEATER FIRE.

Mrs. Lulu P. Alexander and Children of Springville Perish.

(TRIBUNE SPECIAL)

Springville, Utah, Jan. 1.—Mrs. Lulu P. Alexander and her two children, a girl aged 5 years and a boy aged 4 years, perished in the Iroquois theater fire, Chicago.

THIS MORNING'S NEWS.

ALL OVER THE COUNTRY—Ninety witnesses to the Chicago holocaust, including actors, musicians and other artists, are being traced to defective night light. Salt Lake citizens in Washington discuss the question of reclamation of the Utah lands. Fifteen theaters closed up in Chicago because they are fire-traps. Colorado burglars shoot down woman and son in grocery because resistance was offered. William Ziegler, the alum powder magnate, tonight's extradition papers. Victim of Memphis lynchings in memories of Southern slavery days. Lawyer shot dead in Chicago while resisting arrest by the Marshall, whom he wounded by shooting through a door. "Black Jack" gang of train robbers in Texas wiped out by the authorities.

FOREIGN—Gloomy war news in the far East sets up the nations, owing to its alarming character. King Christian of Denmark too ill to receive New Year's visitors, and Prince Frederik performs the function. France may be dragged into the war with Japan and in making hurried preparations for emergencies.

MOUNTAIN AND COAST—Pueblo one mysterious disaster, after losing his father farewell at the depot. Big discovery of oil in Wyoming causes excitement. Plans completed for giving Convict Lynch a hearing before the Board of Pardons this morning. A Fred Wey, local musician, dies. Inmate of the penitentiary and the county infirmary, one of the prisoners, dies. A young man in the new year locating 20,000 acres of oil lands northwest of the city. Coasters in the eastern part of the city crash into a telephone pole and one boy is very badly hurt. Last monthly report of City Treasurer Morris.

ST. LOUIS—Ephraim man held on sensational conspiracy charge.

CITY—Unfortunate man commits suicide in the city jail on the dawn of the new year. Swedish Lutheran plan for a new church. The advent of the new year is fittingly celebrated by churches and other organizations. Mrs. Andrews, the ball-player, returns to Salt Lake. Mrs. Wey, a good skating race at the Agricultural park. Plans completed for giving Convict Lynch a hearing before the Board of Pardons this morning. A Fred Wey, local musician, dies. Inmate of the penitentiary and the county infirmary, one of the prisoners, dies. A young man in the new year locating 20,000 acres of oil lands northwest of the city. NATIONS STIRRED BY THE NEWS FROM THE FAR EAST

Russia Has Decided Not to Grant Preposals.

PRACTICALLY MEANS WAR

Secretary Lansdowne Gives Up All Hope of Peace.

Little More Left but for Japan to Take First Hostile Steps, if the French Reports Are True.

London, Jan. 1.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister here, has been informed from Paris that Russia has decided not to grant the Japanese proposals. This is the first intimation any one here admits receiving agent the Russian reply. The Baron said to a representative of the Associated Press: "If information from Paris is borne out by the wording of the Russian reply, and if the Japanese Government adheres to its present determination, there seems to be small possibility of averting war."

CHANGES IN LAWS.

Congressman Mondell Heard Before Board to Report on Acts Governing Public Lands.

(TRIBUNE SPECIAL)

Washington, Jan. 1.—Representative Mondell of Wyoming was heard before the board appointed to take testimony and report to the President as to what changes, if any, should be made in the present laws governing the sale of public lands. Representative Mondell devoted his talk before the board to describing the generosity of the land laws of Canada, which were designed to induce study American settlers to immigrate to British Columbia. He cited facts showing that during the past year in his home county at least twenty-five families had given up holdings there and crossed the border into British Columbia. A similar case had been cited in many other sections of Idaho and even in such permanently settled States as Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Like most of the British Columbia cases he noted, he believed that our homestead laws should be as generous to the farmer as the laws of the United States. He suggested that the Government should be advised by a monetary commission to adopt a monetary system based on the gold standard, but rather creating a system very similar to that which the United States Government has put in operation in the Philippines. The broad features of the plan are as follows: New dollars are to be coined and introduced into circulation, without impairing the practical maintenance of the present ratio of gold to silver. The Government is to close the mints to the free coinage of silver dollars, and the importation of the present coins is to be prohibited. It is recommended that the ratio of the new dollar to gold shall be established on the basis of the average price of the Mexican pesos in foreign markets during the past ten years, with an increase not exceeding 10 per cent. Gold coinage to be suspended until such time as the silver dollar shall have attained a parity with gold, and when in the opinion of the Government, impair the maintenance of that parity. The new dollars for a specified time are to be exchanged for pesos at par. A reserve fund in gold shall be set aside to be created and maintained either in the republic or abroad. If the gold price of silver in foreign markets shall rise so that silver dollars shall come to possess a value equal or greater than ascribed to them by the legal ratio adopted, steps will be taken to demonstrate the silver dollars and to introduce a gold standard with free coinage and the use of the yellow metal as the medium of circulation.

DEATH WAS UNEXPECTED.

Col. Pabst, President of Brewing Company, Has Relapse and Passes Away.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 1.—Capt. Frederick Pabst, president of the Pabst Brewing company, died at his home here today of pulmonary pneumonia, aged 67 years. Death was unexpected, although his health had been failing for more than four years.

McCLELLAN TAKES REINS.

New York, Jan. 1.—George B. McClellan became Mayor of New York City today. He arrived at the city hall, accompanied by Secretary John H. O'Brien, and walked through lines of Democrats under an arch of plants and flowers to the mayor's office. The ceremony was greeted by the retiring Mayor, and speeches were brief.

GEN. WEYLER'S BOOK.

London, Jan. 1.—Gen. Weyler will shortly publish a book entitled "My Military and Political Campaign in Cuba," according to a special dispatch from Madrid. Two interesting chapters will be headed "My Project for Landing in United States Territory" and "Reasons Why I Was Obliged to Abandon the Project."

MERRILL'S FUNERAL HELD.

Boston, Jan. 1.—Funeral services for the late Moody Merrill, a former Boston financier, who died a week ago at Silver City, N. M., were held this afternoon at the Walnut Avenue Congregational church. Rev. A. H. Plumb pronounced a sympathetic eulogy.

THREE PERSONS DIE IN A HOTEL FIRE

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Three persons were killed and four others injured tonight in a fire that destroyed the Louvre hotel, 2611-2623 Lake avenue. Nearly one hundred guests were in the hotel at the time the fire broke out, several of whom had retired for the night. With the remembrance of the Iroquois theater horror fresh in their minds, all persons in the place became panic-stricken and rushed for the streets as soon as it became known that the hotel was on fire.
