

Society.

(Continued from page 13.)

ant sleigh ride to Wellsville Thursday evening, where they were charmingly entertained on their arrival by Miss Lydia Owen of that place.

Mr. Lawrence Thatcher left Saturday for Europe, where he expects to remain for the coming two years.

Miss Mabel Snow of Salt Lake spent the past two weeks with Logan friends.

Mr. Arthur Shepard and Mr. Willard White of Salt Lake spent Saturday and Sunday in Logan.

The concert and dance given at the A. C. college on Saturday was most pleasing and successful and will be remembered as the largest and most delightful affair the college has yet given.

PARK SOCIETY

The congregational church was well filled Monday evening with an appreciative audience to listen to Rev. Elmer L. Goshen's lecture on "Martin Luther." The affair was given under the auspices of the Women's Athenaeum, and those who look advantage of the kind invitation of the club were charmed with the speaker and his theme. The speaker was introduced to the large audience by Mrs. A. R. Weaver, first vice-president of the club, in the absence of the president, Mrs. M. Allen.

Mrs. Anna Woehrlé was guest of honor at a pleasant surprise given at the home of Mrs. J. M. Lockhart Friday afternoon. Those of the party were Mesdames Woehrlé, W. D. Sutton, Charles Heath, Fred Smith, E. J. Beggs, J. Frank, R. B. Robbins, W. J. Middour, Lynn Kimball, J. Thomson, P. H. Towey, M. D. Hurbit, A. Williams, C. N. Loring of Salt Lake, J. T. Kescel and Charles Shields.

Miss Ada Kimball was the recipient of a jolly surprise, the affair being successfully planned and carried out by her sister, Miss Clara. Dancing was the chief amusement. A puzzle contest was also enjoyed, prizes going to Miss Crescent Smith, George Huddy, and Miss Anna Paul, consolation. Mrs. P. H. Towey, Miss Agnes Towey and Mrs. R. Kimball assisted during the evening. The guests present were the Mesdames Tessie Beggs, Ollie Smith, Edna Sutton, Crescent Smith, Thea Riley, Stella Stanley, Edna Stanley, Jean Thorpe, Anna Paul, Edna Riley, Marie Berry, Edith Evans, Myrtle Williams, Mabel Carpenter, Ethel Rashard and Erma Evans, Mesdames E. Williams,

A. Smith, W. Quinn, R. Mallin, F. Buck, E. Evans, R. Dalgleish, G. Huddy, E. Carpenter and J. Dalgleish.

Mrs. J. M. Lockhart entertained at an informal luncheon Monday noon, in honor of Rev. E. L. Goshen of Salt Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank were host and hostess at a delightful 6 o'clock luncheon Sunday evening. Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. F. P. LeCompte, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lockhart, Ed LeCompte and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shields.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White entertained at dinner Monday evening, complimentary to Rev. Elmer L. Goshen of Salt Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wilson gave a daintily appointed luncheon Tuesday in honor of Rev. Mr. Goshen. Besides the guest of honor there were present Mrs. Dr. and Mrs. F. P. LeCompte and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hoyt.

Mrs. F. W. Hoyt departed for New York State Thursday morning. She will stop at Omaha and Chicago to visit for a short time with friends and then proceed to Elmira, where some work will be done with her sister. Mrs. Hoyt expects to be absent for a number of weeks. Her many friends trust that her visit will be both pleasant and beneficial.

The Circle of Past Matrons will meet with Mrs. Frank Emery next Wednesday, February 3rd.

A number of young people drove over to Kamas Wednesday evening to attend a masquerade ball.

The S. U. N. were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. John Prisk Wednesday afternoon. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Margaret Brundage.

Mrs. Anna Woehrlé was guest of honor at a beautifully arranged luncheon and Kennington, given at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Smith, Wednesday afternoon. Violets were used with charming effect in the decorations, each guest receiving a bunch of violets, and the guests as a souvenir. To meet the guest of honor there were invited: Mesdames E. J. Beggs, Lynn Kimball, C. Heath, W. D. Sutton, John Thomson, J. M. Lockhart, J. Frank, W. D. Hurbit, W. J. Middour, P. H. Towey, R. S. Robbins and J. T. Kescel.

The Ladies' society of the Congregational church will meet in the church parlors next Saturday afternoon, February 6th, at the usual time.

Miss Hazel Williams was given a pleasant surprise at her home Friday evening by a number of her young friends. Those of the party were Mesdames Woehrlé, W. D. Sutton, Charles Heath, Fred Smith, E. J. Beggs, J. Frank, R. B. Robbins, W. J. Middour, Lynn Kimball, J. Thomson, P. H. Towey, M. D. Hurbit, A. Williams, C. N. Loring of Salt Lake, J. T. Kescel and Charles Shields.

Miss Anna Woehrlé, sister of Mrs. Charles Heath and Mrs. Fred Smith, leaves for her home in Iowa next Wednesday afternoon, after a pleasant visit of five months in Park.

P. McPherson of the Keith-O'Brien store was guest of honor at an informal but pleasant dinner given in his honor by Dr. and Mrs. E. P. LeCompte Sunday noon. The other guests present were Miss Della Loring of Salt Lake, Findlay Watson and Edward LeCompte.

A new dancing club is being talked of by a large number of young men. Weekly hops will be given in the Dewey theater under the auspices of the club. They start out with a membership of fifty. Another meeting will be held tomorrow evening, February 1st, to make final arrangements and to hear reports of committees.

Miss Olive Lowe is enjoying a visit with Salt Lake friends.

Miss Anna Cameron returned to the city Sunday, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. W. J. Buck and family.

Mrs. C. N. Loring came out from the city Monday, summoned here on account of the serious illness of little Wade Platte.

P. McPherson of Salt Lake spent Sunday in Park.

Henry Eares, E. P. Evans, W. A. Adams, Will Evans went to the city Thursday afternoon.

John Vigor is visiting in Park with his mother, after an absence of eight years.

Mrs. Parsons and son came out from the city Wednesday to visit with relatives.

Prof. and Mrs. W. Janney are spending a short time in Park.

John McSorley of the Daly-Judge came up from the capital Wednesday.

Rev. Elmer L. Goshen returned to the capital Tuesday.

W. R. Dennis, N. W. Duxon, J. Diem, A. Mosher, J. J. Daly and D. Workman came out from Zion Monday morning.

Miss Mae Baile and Miss Agnes Towey gave a jolly coasting party to a small company of friends Thursday evening. After several hours spent out of doors, the young people went to the home of Miss Towey, where an elegant supper was served. Those of the party, besides the hostesses, were Mesdames Carrie Walton, Lizzie Walden, Minnie Kescel, Kate Lawrence, Agnes Harrington, Mesdames Tom Walden, E. Fisher, Bert Muffet, Bangs Kescel, Buck of Nova Scotia and Prof. Peterson.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. W. Williams entertained a company of friends most pleasantly Thursday evening at sixty-three. At midnight the guests enjoyed a tempting luncheon. Those who participated in the jolly affair were Mesdames and Mesdames E. Mallin, E. S. Young, W. Stanley, E. W. Berry, James Berry, H. Stanley, J. W. Hickson, Jake Hoffman, E. Williams, A. Peterson, J. Wilkins, Mrs. O. Quinn, Mrs. J. Coffey, Miss Lena Mohr, Miss P. Stanley, Miss M. Williams, Mesdames E. Williams, R. Mallin and N. Williams.

Mrs. E. Neilson returned to Park Friday morning.

A wide circle of friends in this city and county will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mattie Dorton and William Larsen of this city. The ceremony will be performed at the Mantle temple Wednesday of this week. A reception will be given at the residence of the bride's parents in this city immediately after the ceremony. The bride is well and favorably known throughout the county. She is the daughter of John Dorton, one of Sanpete's foremost merchants. The groom is a prosperous young farmer of Ephraim and has a host of friends, who will wish for the young couple the greatest happiness.

Miss Blanche Whitney was a Salt Lake visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. Jackman is visiting with her numerous friends in the metropolis, having gone down Tuesday.

Miss Anna Cameron returned to the city Sunday, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. W. J. Buck and family.

Mrs. C. N. Loring came out from the city Monday, summoned here on account of the serious illness of little Wade Platte.

P. McPherson of Salt Lake spent Sunday in Park.

Henry Eares, E. P. Evans, W. A. Adams, Will Evans went to the city Thursday afternoon.

John Vigor is visiting in Park with his mother, after an absence of eight years.

Mrs. Parsons and son came out from the city Wednesday to visit with relatives.

Prof. and Mrs. W. Janney are spending a short time in Park.

John McSorley of the Daly-Judge came up from the capital Wednesday.

Rev. Elmer L. Goshen returned to the capital Tuesday.

W. R. Dennis, N. W. Duxon, J. Diem, A. Mosher, J. J. Daly and D. Workman came out from Zion Monday morning.

Miss Mae Baile and Miss Agnes Towey gave a jolly coasting party to a small company of friends Thursday evening. After several hours spent out of doors, the young people went to the home of Miss Towey, where an elegant supper was served. Those of the party, besides the hostesses, were Mesdames Carrie Walton, Lizzie Walden, Minnie Kescel, Kate Lawrence, Agnes Harrington, Mesdames Tom Walden, E. Fisher, Bert Muffet, Bangs Kescel, Buck of Nova Scotia and Prof. Peterson.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. W. Williams entertained a company of friends most pleasantly Thursday evening at sixty-three. At midnight the guests enjoyed a tempting luncheon. Those who participated in the jolly affair were Mesdames and Mesdames E. Mallin, E. S. Young, W. Stanley, E. W. Berry, James Berry, H. Stanley, J. W. Hickson, Jake Hoffman, E. Williams, A. Peterson, J. Wilkins, Mrs. O. Quinn, Mrs. J. Coffey, Miss Lena Mohr, Miss P. Stanley, Miss M. Williams, Mesdames E. Williams, R. Mallin and N. Williams.

Mrs. E. Neilson returned to Park Friday morning.

A wide circle of friends in this city and county will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mattie Dorton and William Larsen of this city. The ceremony will be performed at the Mantle temple Wednesday of this week. A reception will be given at the residence of the bride's parents in this city immediately after the ceremony. The bride is well and favorably known throughout the county. She is the daughter of John Dorton, one of Sanpete's foremost merchants. The groom is a prosperous young farmer of Ephraim and has a host of friends, who will wish for the young couple the greatest happiness.

Miss Blanche Whitney was a Salt Lake visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. Jackman is visiting with her numerous friends in the metropolis, having gone down Tuesday.

Miss Anna Cameron returned to the city Sunday, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. W. J. Buck and family.

Mrs. C. N. Loring came out from the city Monday, summoned here on account of the serious illness of little Wade Platte.

P. McPherson of Salt Lake spent Sunday in Park.

Henry Eares, E. P. Evans, W. A. Adams, Will Evans went to the city Thursday afternoon.

John Vigor is visiting in Park with his mother, after an absence of eight years.

Mrs. Parsons and son came out from the city Wednesday to visit with relatives.

Prof. and Mrs. W. Janney are spending a short time in Park.

John McSorley of the Daly-Judge came up from the capital Wednesday.

Rev. Elmer L. Goshen returned to the capital Tuesday.

W. R. Dennis, N. W. Duxon, J. Diem, A. Mosher, J. J. Daly and D. Workman came out from Zion Monday morning.

Miss Mae Baile and Miss Agnes Towey gave a jolly coasting party to a small company of friends Thursday evening. After several hours spent out of doors, the young people went to the home of Miss Towey, where an elegant supper was served. Those of the party, besides the hostesses, were Mesdames Carrie Walton, Lizzie Walden, Minnie Kescel, Kate Lawrence, Agnes Harrington, Mesdames Tom Walden, E. Fisher, Bert Muffet, Bangs Kescel, Buck of Nova Scotia and Prof. Peterson.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. W. Williams entertained a company of friends most pleasantly Thursday evening at sixty-three. At midnight the guests enjoyed a tempting luncheon. Those who participated in the jolly affair were Mesdames and Mesdames E. Mallin, E. S. Young, W. Stanley, E. W. Berry, James Berry, H. Stanley, J. W. Hickson, Jake Hoffman, E. Williams, A. Peterson, J. Wilkins, Mrs. O. Quinn, Mrs. J. Coffey, Miss Lena Mohr, Miss P. Stanley, Miss M. Williams, Mesdames E. Williams, R. Mallin and N. Williams.

Mrs. E. Neilson returned to Park Friday morning.

A wide circle of friends in this city and county will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mattie Dorton and William Larsen of this city. The ceremony will be performed at the Mantle temple Wednesday of this week. A reception will be given at the residence of the bride's parents in this city immediately after the ceremony. The bride is well and favorably known throughout the county. She is the daughter of John Dorton, one of Sanpete's worth, accompanied by Mrs. Southworth, returned to Oakley Thursday morning.

Leslie Spence and Harry Ball of Salt Lake spent Sunday last in Payson, visiting their young ladies.

Miss Hattie Coombs of the Miner force of Eureka, spent Sunday in Payson with her mother.

Miss Lydia Soefner and Charles Keele, teachers in the public schools, gave their classes a sleigh ride Friday, when a thoroughly good time was enjoyed.

Miss Clara Rockhill of Spanish Fork spent the week in Payson, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hulsh.

A. J. Abram, advance agent of the "Way Down East" company, was in the city Tuesday arranging matters for his company, which plays here Monday evening, February 1st.

W. N. Clark of Clark, Eldredge & Co. Salt Lake, was in Payson Tuesday on business for his house.

Bert Brimhall of Lehi spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Payson.

Ralph Archbold, one of the old members of the Payson band, was over from Provo Tuesday to attend the band reunion.

Prof. Willard Done was in Payson Tuesday.

William Davis was over from Salem Monday on business.

Chester Nisonger of Santaquin was a Payson visitor Thursday.

The marriage of Steve Powell of Payson and Miss Mary Ann Nuttall of Salt Lake, was solemnized at Provo, Thursday, and the young couple returned to Salem, where a reception was given them. The groom is one of Payson's boys who went only recently to take unto himself a helpmate. The bride is one of Salem's popular young ladies, and the couple have the best wishes of a host of friends. They will leave soon for Raymond, Canada, where they will make their home.

W. J. Douglass was in Springville Thursday.

Henry Keile of Santaquin was a Payson visitor Thursday.

"Billy" Colvin returned to Moab Monday.

A most pleasant surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Colvin Saturday night in honor of "Billy" Colvin, who was here from eastern Utah. About twenty-five guests assembled and spent a most pleasant evening with cards, games, music and refreshments.

J. C. Morgan returned home Monday evening after a month's stay at Helper.

Ed Pepper returned Tuesday to Moab after a visit of a month in Payson.

One of the largest and best social events of the season was the band reunion given at the pavilion Tuesday afternoon and evening. The house was profusely decorated in a very artistic manner, with the national colors much in evidence, as was also the evergreen effect. All of the old-time instruments that remain in the hands of Payson were secured and decorated and given a place on the walls, which were also decorated with pictures of the bands in days gone by. The affair was crowded, all of whom showed, by their applauses, that they appreciated the program, which lasted until 11 p. m. A great time was had with the most delicious quality. After the dancing was in order until 11 p. m., the capacity of the pavilion was tested. Every body present in staying was one of the best times the city has seen for many months.

The Goodminded orchestra of Springvale gave a ball in the Payson pavilion Thursday night, which from a social and musical standpoint, was a thorough success, but as a financial venture it was very disappointing. The dancers were heard in the pavilion.

A leap year ball, the second of the season, will be given in the pavilion Friday evening next under the direction of the committee, the Mesdames Ada Done, L. Riggs and Clyde Wilson.

Messrs. Wilford Done and George Amos went up to Mammoth Friday morning to play concert and clarinet with orchestra there for a dance that night.

A quartette of bowlers from Provo met the same number of sports from Springville at their bowling alley Tuesday and played four games. The Springville bowlers were victorious, which points to the fact that they were pulled off in this city, where the same bowlers in the near future.

Dr. A. F. Holladay was in Springville Thursday.

"Child" Packard, superintendent of the Star Consolidated mine at Mammoth, has been in the city this week.

John Edward of Z. C. M. R. Salt Lake, was talking business with our friends Friday.

C. E. Snell, cashier of the bank, was in Provo Tuesday on business.

Miss Jennie Dixon gave a sleigh party to a number of her friends Tuesday.

J. S. Hollis, Jr., was in Springville Thursday on business.

Peter Roberts and John Jackson of Goshen were attending to business Wednesday.

Mrs. Fawn Twelves gave one of the most charming events of the week at the beautiful home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Twelves, on Thursday afternoon.

What was the game that was enjoyed and played, and the game resulted in Mrs. E. Newell winning the first prize and Miss Finny Sutton being crowned by a gorgeously dressed colored lady doll. The dolls of this ribbon and the water were a white china doll and those that had received a negro doll which was held in the end of the ribbon and suspended from the card, which made a quaint and artistic souvenir of the occasion. The beautiful young hostess was assisted in serving the refreshments by Mrs. J. R. Twelves.

Shoes and stockings must needs match. For street wear nothing but superseded the black stocking and shoe in favor of the evening the swaggiest woman wears beautifully embroidered and lace trimmed hosiery, although the lace at the ankle to preserve this dainty outline must be narrow and delicately inserted.

Kid and satin are the fashionable materials for the slipper, and their expense is found in the buckle rather than in the embroidery. Patent leather for low shoes is the correct thing.

The latest invention in the up to date jeweler's window is the handkerchief and purse bracelet. In design it is a serpent, fitting closely to the wrist and holding the purse in its coils. There is something very fascinating about the slucking away of a mouchoir a coat sleeve. The fair sex wisely plied this fancy for the men, but we have a fashion all our own which just as attractive.

A pretty and useful addition to my lady's bureau is a silver vase which is made to hold troublesome hatpins. These vases will be attractive additions to the bureau set, will they not?

CATHERINE TALBOT.

A Virtue of Nasty.

A charming idea is one a fur cravat with quillings chiffon, and which is placed a pocket just large enough to hold small handkerchiefs. This fashion really a useful expedient, as the pet day costume has no pocket. Thus, a shapely belt or vest peeping over the bohoer lapels straight jacket for happily by tucked need not be made into the corsage. A handkerchief is unseen and at the same time is exceptionally handy. An emerald green with quillings of an emerald green would be a very attractive place for the pocket.

SPANISH DANCE

The Spanish dancer, with her castanets, is always a graceful figure in the ballroom. Flame colored, spangled tulle is a charming fabric for this costume. The bodice is of satin in a lighter shade of yellow, with bolero and long, light fitting sleeves of black velvet. Outlining the jacket and running down the front of the skirt is a shawl shaped ornamentation of knotted chenille in different colors shading from flame to bright pink. The hair is arranged high and caught with a tall comb of Spanish workmanship with perhaps the additional adornment of a red rose or two.

The costumes described are only a few of the many phases of the fancy ball gown. There are historical, mythological and grotesque creations galore, but these frocks have the advantage of being easy to duplicate and not extravagant as to price.

I had really forgotten that the item of expense is taboed in this luxurious age, and we hear on all sides that never have toilets been surpassed in costliness since the days of the French empire. It is amusing to see the indifferent air assumed by our elegantes as they fling off scarfs of ermine mixed with priceless lace.

In the coming spring lace is to be extravagantly used, and the coarse variety will have a foremost place on fashion's list, and Irish crochet, which wears like iron, is to be a leading favorite, while lace embroidered with gold thread is a recent debutante among trappings.

Another feature of the early spring styles is the continuance of the bolero in favor. It may be worked out in various shapes, but in every instance these jackets will be extremely short.

In the matter of veils La Mode is authoritative. She demands strict adherence to a one toned color scheme with other words, the hat and veil must match. Fancy white veils are fetching, although trying to a colorless complexion. When worn long and full some of the new "beauty aids" hang quite to the shoulder and require a subtleness of handling which only an artist in the sartorial line may hope to achieve.

Parisian Suggestions For the Fancy Dress Ball Costume

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Paris is ringing with the wonderful success of Sarah Bernhardt in one of her old time parts, half dove, half tiger, provided for her by that past master of dramatic art, Victorien Sardou. The "divine Sarah" seems in this play to have reverted once more to owned in a gorgeous garment of voile glittering in silver, and the audience at once fell under her hypnotic influence. I wonder whether Mrs. Leslie Carter in America will interpret this fascinating character of Zoraya?

In the social world the "bal costume" has been interesting the smart set to the exclusion of all else in the way of amusements; consequently the fashionable mondaine is making a study of the most effective and picturesque points in the costumes of all nations.

Everything American has a great vogue here; the Yankee highball is acclimated and the national game of poker is quite at home in its Parisian surroundings. In the fancy costume line the Indian squaw, the cowboy and the Puritan maiden figure prominently. It is also considered very smart by ex-travellers which even Watteau would envy and like to paint are to be picked up not for a song, but in sufficient lengths from which to fashion a ball dress of this era. A scant skirt of the empire days is lovely when made with a wide ruching of plain silk in a contrasting shade around the bottom. The

The Norwegian peasant in bright costume is a model not to be overlooked. A full red skirt of crape or some soft voile or cashmere is trimmed above the hem with a design of leaves cut out of silk and applied with Grecian embroidery silk. The white flit net apron is treated in the same way. The full bodice is of royal blue with a wide band of black velvet ribbon flanked by two narrower bands sewed across the bust. Outlining the low neck is a lattice-work of baby velvet ribbon. The sleeves are long and sette, a tiny jacket coming in a point to the bust line and puffed sleeves with turned back white cuffs complete the dress. The headpiece is a fearful and wonderful specimen of sartorial architecture and looks like a miniature windmill of white muslin placed on each side of the head with big, round buttons or cabochons and banded, coronet fashion, with a twist of black velvet.

The Norwegian peasant in bright costume is a model not to be overlooked. A full red skirt of crape or some soft voile or cashmere is trimmed above the hem with a design of leaves cut out of silk and applied with Grecian embroidery silk. The white flit net apron is treated in the same way. The full bodice is of royal blue with a wide band of black velvet ribbon flanked by two narrower bands sewed across the bust. Outlining the low neck is a lattice-work of baby velvet ribbon. The sleeves are long and sette, a tiny jacket coming in a point to the bust line and puffed sleeves with turned back white cuffs complete the dress. The headpiece is a fearful and wonderful specimen of sartorial architecture and looks like a miniature windmill of white muslin placed on each side of the head with big, round buttons or cabochons and banded, coronet fashion, with a twist of black velvet.

The Norwegian peasant in bright costume is a model not to be overlooked. A full red skirt of crape or some soft voile or cashmere is trimmed above the hem with a design of leaves cut out of silk and applied with Grecian embroidery silk. The white flit net apron is treated in the same way. The full bodice is of royal blue with a wide band of black velvet ribbon flanked by two narrower bands sewed across the bust. Outlining the low neck is a lattice-work of baby velvet ribbon. The sleeves are long and sette, a tiny jacket coming in a point to the bust line and puffed sleeves with turned back white cuffs complete the dress. The headpiece is a fearful and wonderful specimen of sartorial architecture and looks like a miniature windmill of white muslin placed on each side of the head with big, round buttons or cabochons and banded, coronet fashion, with a twist of black velvet.

The Norwegian peasant in bright costume is a model not to be overlooked. A full red skirt of crape or some soft voile or cashmere is trimmed above the hem with a design of leaves cut out of silk and applied with Grecian embroidery silk. The white flit net apron is treated in the same way. The full bodice is of royal blue with a wide band of black velvet ribbon flanked by two narrower bands sewed across the bust. Outlining the low neck is a lattice-work of baby velvet ribbon. The sleeves are long and sette, a tiny jacket coming in a point to the bust line and puffed sleeves with turned back white cuffs complete the dress. The headpiece is a fearful and wonderful specimen of sartorial architecture and looks like a miniature windmill of white muslin placed on each side of the head with big, round buttons or cabochons and banded, coronet fashion, with a twist of black velvet.

The Norwegian peasant in bright costume is a model not to be overlooked. A full red skirt of crape or some soft voile or cashmere is trimmed above the hem with a design of leaves cut out of silk and applied with Grecian embroidery silk. The white flit net apron is treated in the same way. The full bodice is of royal blue with a wide band of black velvet ribbon flanked by two narrower bands sewed across the bust. Outlining the low neck is a lattice-work of baby velvet ribbon. The sleeves are long and sette, a tiny jacket coming in a point to the bust line and puffed sleeves with turned back white cuffs complete the dress. The headpiece is a fearful and wonderful specimen of sartorial architecture and looks like a miniature windmill of white muslin placed on each side of the head with big, round buttons or cabochons and banded, coronet fashion, with a twist of black velvet.

The Norwegian peasant in bright costume is a model not to be overlooked. A full red skirt of crape or some soft voile or cashmere is trimmed above the hem with a design of leaves cut out of silk and applied with Grecian embroidery silk. The white flit net apron is treated in the same way. The full bodice is of royal blue with a wide band of black velvet ribbon flanked by two narrower bands sewed across the bust. Outlining the low neck is a lattice-work of baby velvet ribbon. The sleeves are long and sette, a tiny jacket coming in a point to the bust line and puffed sleeves with turned back white cuffs complete the dress. The headpiece is a fearful and wonderful specimen of sartorial architecture and looks like a miniature windmill of white muslin placed on each side of the head with big, round buttons or cabochons and banded, coronet fashion, with a twist of black velvet.

The Norwegian peasant in bright costume is a model not to be overlooked. A full red skirt of crape or some soft voile or cashmere is trimmed above the hem with a design of leaves cut out of silk and applied with Grecian embroidery silk. The white flit net apron is treated in the same way. The full bodice is of royal blue with a wide band of black velvet ribbon flanked by two narrower bands sewed across the bust. Outlining the low neck is a lattice-work of baby velvet ribbon. The sleeves are long and sette, a tiny jacket coming in a point to the bust line and puffed sleeves with turned back white cuffs complete the dress. The headpiece is a fearful and wonderful specimen of sartorial architecture and looks like a miniature windmill of white muslin placed on each side of the head with big, round buttons or cabochons and banded, coronet fashion, with a twist of black velvet.

The Norwegian peasant in bright costume is a model not to be overlooked. A full red skirt of crape or some soft voile or cashmere is trimmed above the hem with a design of leaves cut out of silk and applied with Grecian embroidery silk. The white flit net apron is treated in the same way. The full bodice is of royal blue with a wide band of black velvet ribbon flanked by two narrower bands sewed across the bust. Outlining the low neck is a lattice-work of baby velvet ribbon. The sleeves are long and sette, a tiny jacket coming in a point to the bust line and puffed sleeves with turned back white cuffs complete the dress. The headpiece is a fearful and wonderful specimen of sartorial architecture and looks like a miniature windmill of white muslin placed on each side of the head with big, round buttons or cabochons and banded, coronet fashion, with a twist of black velvet.

skirt of white is worn under a military coat of billigerent red elaborately braided in gold bullion with all the trappings of war. With gold epaulets, a drum slung rakishly over the shoulder and a colonel's chapeau on a fluffy head, what girl in there wouldn't like to be a military woman for an evening at least?

"Miss Ribbons" is a dainty creation. This fluffy little lady has in her costume bolts upon bolts of ribbon of all widths which may be of harmonizing colors or, better still, different shades of one color. A fringe of inch wide ribbons forms a ruffle over a "drop" of silk. Running horizontally from the knee up in princess style are more rows of ribbon. The waist has a wide sash starting from the side seam and drawn up at the shoulder with an immense choux of loops with long flowing ends. Straps of ribbon compose what there is of the skirt of white is worn under a military coat of billigerent red elaborately braided in gold bullion with all the trappings of war. With gold epaulets, a drum slung rakishly over the shoulder and a colonel's chapeau on a fluffy head, what girl in there wouldn't like to be a military woman for an evening at least?