He made his forecasts with a degree of accuracy rivaling those of the government weather bureau officials.

One sister, Miss Mary McDonald, survives him. She lives at Antigonish, Nova Scotia, where McDonald was born. McDonald is believed to have left a fortune of about $30,000, representing the savings of a lifetime.

AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM THEATER—Willard Mack and Florence Stone, supported by Orpheum Players, in "The Spendthrift." Matinees on Thursday and Saturday. Evening performance begins at 8:15.

EMPRESS THEATER—Sullivan-Considine vaudeville. Matinee daily at 2:30. Two evening performances, 7:30 and 9:15. Bill changes Wednesday afternoon.

COLONIAL THEATER—Levey vaudeville. Matinee daily at 2:30. Evening performance continuous from 7:15 to 11:15. Bill changes Saturday afternoon.

There is a week ahead at the Empress, to judge from the advance billing of the acts which constitute the new bill at that house and which opens with today's performances, that will give a good account of itself.

The bill is headed by the Delmar Poster girls, one of the biggest "girl" acts in vaudeville and one of the prettiest and most handsomely costumed musical comedy features ever sent over the Sullivan-Considine circuit. The ten girls are headed by Eddie Harris and Weir Estey, and their songs, dances and costumes have made the act a headliner wherever it has appeared.

George Ade's comedy sketch, "The Mayor and the Manicure," famous for its laughing properties, will be the sketch feature of the new bill, presented by a capable company of players headed by James F. Fulton and Mattie Choate. The sketch is a ten-minute episode in the lives of three people. The mayor is conducting a campaign for the gubernatorial nomination. His son is returning that day from college. The manicure is a young, but more or less experienced adventuress, who has carried on a college town flirtation with the mayor's son, and has come to see the father in the hope that she can blackmail him into buying for $10,000 a package of foolish letters the boy wrote her during the days of their affair.

Another big feature on the bill will be the first appearance here of Ray Eleanor Ball, a violinist of unusual beauty and talent and whose playing has won a concert stage reputation for her both in this country and in Europe.

Two comedians who are sure to score heavily during the coming week are Barnes and Barron. They have a number of splendid and timely parodies which they hand out between the laughs in their skit.

Tokio Kisshe, the little Jap juggler and slack wire walker, will furnish one of the sensational bits of the bill on a large rope, one end of which is anchored to the stage and the other to the uppermost part of the balcony, seventy-five feet above the audience.

An original comedian in the person of Jimmy Dealy and a charming little comedienne in the person of Hattie Barlow will be seen in a melange of singing and dancing. Miss Barlow, aside from being a good comedienne and pianiste, has an individuality unusually noticeable. Mr. Barlow is a good dancer. Their act is punctuated with sparkling wit.

In Ballerini's trained dogs, Manager McCoy feels certain that he has found a feature that will prove a great drawing card for the youngsters. The dogs are trained to the last minute and the act is worked out along entirely new lines.

Word has been passed among amusement lovers of Salt Lake to the effect that Miss Stone, the new leading woman at the Orpheum, is a veritable revelation in the title role of "The Spendthrift," and in consequence there is a remarkable run on the box office.

The most popular act on the bill at the Colonial this week is Johnson's dogs. These wonderful little canines have a combined age of thirty-three years. There will be an entire change of programme at the Colonial Saturday afternoon.

Today will offer the last chance to see the sensational three-reel picture, "Gambling Exposed," at the Rex. Commencing tomorrow, the first Gem feature double-reel picture will be shown, a colored masterpiece bearing the story of "The Princess of Lorraine." The Champion production, "Brothers" and an Imp picture entitled "Nothing Shall Be Hid," will be included in the programme.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

"The Crescent Comedy Four" Opened at the "Semloh Louvre" Last Evening.

A great crowd visited the Louvre last evening during dinner hour and after theater to hear the singing of the Crescent Comedy Four. This company is positively the best that ever came west. They have finished their season's work on the Orpheum circuit, and will fill an engagement of four weeks or longer at this popular cafe.

The place has recently been decorated with vines, hanging baskets and flowers, which makes the cafe unusually cool and attractive.

Infant Boy Dies.

Allen J. Hansen, the seven-weeks-old son of Willard and Amelia J. Hansen, died at the family residence, 1327 Lincoln avenue, last evening. The cause of death was valvular heart trouble, from which the child had suffered since Saturday last. Funeral services will be held on Friday at 3 p. m. at the home. Interment will be made at the City cemetery.
