MAY PURCHASE IRISH RAILWAYS

Eugene Zimmerman and Duke of Manchester Examine Route. BELFAST, July 13.—Eugene Zimmerman, of Cincinnati, and his son-in-law, the Duke of Manchester, have inspected the route of the proposed Newry, Keady & Tynan Railway...

liament eight years ago, and the government has since voted a grant of $375,000. The proposal is to construct a railway from Newry to Tynan by way of Keady, and buy out the Clogher Valley Railway, connecting it with the Cavan & Leitrim line, thus establishing direct communication between Newry and the Arigna coal fields, a distance of a hundred miles.

CLUB WOMEN TO TEST LAW.

If Clergymen Refuses to Marry Divorced Persons, They Will Act. NEW YORK, July 13.—A woman's club which, for startling thought advancement, will eclipse any such organization ever founded in this or any other country, and which will deal with the divorce problem, is the latest movement in which Mrs. Kate Trimble Woolsey, the wealthy and well known author and club woman, is interesting herself.

Mrs. Woolsey is devoting a large part of her time writing to leading women thinkers of Europe and America, outlining the club's plans and getting the views as to the most practicable way to defeat the recent decision of the United States supreme court affecting divorce.

"To make this club practical in its methods, our first act will be to make a test of the new law," said Mrs. Woolsey.

"A divorced man and woman will ask the church dignitary to marry them; if refused on the ground that they are divorced they will ask the state to cancel the clergyman's license. They will assert that clergymen who refuse to marry divorced people, or any other whom the state decree eligible to marriage, forfeit their right to perform marriages and that their licenses can be revoked.

"Another test will be the following: 'A woman who was married where the groom said, 'With all my worldly goods I 'thee endow,' will ask the court to compel the husband to turn over his estate to her.'

These are only a few of the measures which the club will take to test the law, which is proving to be irksome and a hardship on so many women, Mrs. Woolsey avers.

MARBLE INSTEAD OF PLASTER.

New York's Custom House to be Finished With Lasting Material. WASHINGTON, July 13.—The supervising architect of the Treasury has informed Mr. Gilbert, architect in charge of the construction of the New York Custom House, of the additional appropriation of $450,000 made by Congress for that building.

Mr. Gilbert has been asked to revise the plans of the interior to accord with the raising of the limit of cost, and as soon as these plans are approved by the Treasury Department the builders will go ahead with the interior.

This additional money will permit of the use of marble instead of plaster for the walls, and the main rotunda will be especially elaborate. It is the intention of the architects, however, not to devote the money so much to purely decorative purposes as to finishing the interior with a substantial and lasting material.

The new work will necessarily delay the final completion of the custom house, the contract time for which expired on October 15, but the liberal appropriation made by Congress will greatly enhance the value of the property, and only a few months' additional time will be required to complete the building.

The new custom house will be one of the handsomest buildings of its kind in the world. The contract price for construction was $1,027,281.69.

BUILDING ON QUICKSAND.

Great Difficulty Found at Navy Yard in Excavating for Dry Dock. NEW YORK, July 13.—Excavating for dry dock No. 4 at the Navy Yard has been suspended as a result of the shifting of big sheet piles placed to retain the sides of the dock, caused by the action of a bed of quicksand. Much difficulty is being experienced in the work on the dock because of the quicksand foundation.

Ground surrounding the excavation has sunk six and eight feet, and it has been necessary to move bidders and machinery. Although extra heavy supports have been set up to support the sides of the excavation it is almost impossible to hold the piling in position, as a result of the constant shifting of the foundation.

Costing nearly $1,000,000, the dock is to be the largest in this country. It is to be built of cement.

NORFOLK TO KEEP ISLAND.

Navy in No Hurry to Get the Pest House Site. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—Rear Admiral Harrington was in conference with Secretary Bonaparte at the navy department today concerning Craney Island, in Chesapeake Bay, which is now used by Norfolk as an isolation camp for contagious diseases.

Although Admiral Harrington has not made a formal report in the matter, Secretary Bonaparte said today after the conference that the Admiral does not believe there is any necessity for the immediate taking over of the island by the government for naval purposes as has been suggested by the general board and that it is unlikely that any steps will be taken by the government in the near future.

LAUNCH OWNERS VIOLATE LAW

Disregard Laws Regarding Lights, Whistles and Other Requirements. TONAWANDA, July 13.—Since the opening of navigation this spring there have been launched upon the river about the Tonawandas some 50 gasoline launches, and much complaint has been heard of late from the marine men of the Tonawandas because the little crafts are not complying with the marine law.

Unless their owners equip them with lights by night and follow the other rules of the water, the matter will be carried to the attention of the custom's inspectors.

It was stated today that nearly 90 per cent. of the gasoline yachts that ply the Niagara river or Erie Canal do not display lights at night, and the larger vessels are unable to see them, while there are very few that comply with the government law by carrying whistles. On a number of occasions launches have had narrow escapes from being run down by the larger vessels while entering port, either because no lights were displayed or because the little boats' pilots did not understand the rules of the water. Coal-men have experienced much trouble from the same source of late.

So far this season but few launches have complied with the state law which requires all craft navigating on the Erie Canal to take out clearances. Collector Williams of the Tonawanda collector's office stated this afternoon that all crafts should be cleared while plying on the state water, and that should an accident occur to a launch while on the canal without a clearance, no damage could be collected. The lock-tenders are not compelled to lock a launch through the canal unless the owner has clearance papers. "Of late the yachts have become so numerous on the canal that it is quite likely that the state authorities will enforce the rule of clearance," said a canal official tonight.

A petition has been prepared as is now being circulated among the launch owners in the Tonawandas which will be presented to the superintendent of public works requesting the state to place lights at the Tonawanda lock. There is hardly a night but that a score or more of boats are locked into and out of the canal.
