RIVER GIVES UP DEAD

Body of Miss Pendleton Found Mile Below Clifton Forge Bridge

SEARCH FOR GAY'S BODY CONTINUES

Father of the Dead Boy Expresses Regret That the Couple Were Intercepted at Staunton—Police of Latter Place Subject of Criticism.

CLIFTON FORGE, VA., April 20.—The body of Miss Mabel Pendleton, the pretty seventeen-year-old girl who leaped from a suspension bridge connecting this city with South Clifton on Thursday morning at an early hour, was found about a mile down the Jackson River at 8:30 this morning by R. L. Watts and George Broughman, members of the searching party, which has been relentless for the past two days in their efforts to locate the bodies of both Miss Pendleton and her lover, Mr. Stuart Gay. The discovery of Miss Pendleton's body was made before the regular searching party had begun their work for the day. The swift current had washed the body into an eddy in the river, where it has remained possibly since the time of her leap to death. The water is very clear and not over three feet deep where the body had lodged, so it was an easy matter to make the discovery from a boat in which the men were rowing.

With the exception of the exposed parts being discolored by the settling of mud the remains of Miss Pendleton were as natural looking as in life. The body was taken to the home of Mr. C. A. Shomo, whose wife was a close friend of the dead girl. Father of the Boy Expresses Regret. Captain C. S. Gay, father of the young man drowned, expresses regret over the interception of the couple at Staunton. He recognized the uselessness of trying to stop the marriage and would not take any part in it, for he felt satisfied that the couple would eventually marry, and there was nothing to gain by throwing obstacles in their way. The most surprising thing connected with the elopement is that the couple returned to Clifton Forge without an officer. They could have left the train at Goshen and boarded No. 4 and in this way passed Staunton without fear of molestation, but young and timid they possibly did not think of this.

There has been some criticism of the Staunton officer stopping Mr. Gay and Miss Pendleton. They had been guilty of no crime, had a legal pass to Washington and the Staunton officer, without a warrant or request from an officer in this city, held these unfortunate persons until the arrival of No. 2 and sent them back here.

They're Going to Smithfield. A party of well known Hamptonians will leave early this morning for an outing that has every prospect of proving to be a most enjoyable one. Smithfield will be the objective point and the medium of getting there will be the yacht Waneta. The party, which will be composed of the following gentlemen, will return home on Monday morning.

LIVELY FIGHT ON STEAMER.

Officers of the British Steamer Planet Neptune Had a Hot Scrap.

A lively fight took place between the first and second officers of the British steamer, Planet Neptune in Hampton Roads, yesterday morning and the British consul at Norfolk will make an investigation into the cause of the battle. It is said that the second officer was very badly assaulted by his superior.

Dr. H. W. Keatley, the assistant quarantine officer at Old Point, was on board of the British steamer when the fight took place. The second officer had to receive medical attention. He has asked for an investigation by the British consul.

WILL COST 40 CENTS FOR ROUND TRIP TO EXPOSITION

Hampton and Old Point Folks Will Have to Pay This Sum For Both Ways or 25 Cents for One Way.

According to announcement made yesterday the various steamship lines running from Old Point and Hampton to the Jamestown Exposition have agreed upon a rate of 40 cents for the round trip or 25 cents for one way.

The new rate will become operative tomorrow morning, although it was said that the working men will be given the rate of 25 cents for the round trip by leaving on the first steamers at 6:15 in the morning. The workmen will be allowed to return at any time during the day on the return slip of the ticket.

Today the steamer Mabel Gouldman, Capt. C. J. Bonneville, will make two trips to the Exposition grounds going through the long line of warships of the North Atlantic squadron. The first trip will be made at 9 o'clock this morning and the second at 1:30 this afternoon. The return from the Exposition pier in the evening will be such as to get the Hamptonians home by 5:30 this afternoon.

The Jones-Smith Transportation Company is also going to run excursion boats to the Exposition today.

Personal Notes.

The Hampton Dancing School will meet Monday night in the Auditorium of the Pythian Castle.

Mr. Howard W. Saunders returned yesterday from a visit to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Mr. James Turner is back from a visit to his former home in Salisbury, Md.

MOONSHINING.

More Illicit Stills in New York City Than in Kentucky.

"Don't talk to me about moonshining in Kentucky," said the internal revenue agent. "There's more moonshining going on all the time in little old New York than could be done in ten Kentuckys. In the crowded sections of the east and west sides stills spring up right along and for awhile conduct a flourishing business in the low grade whisky they manufacture. You see, it doesn't take much trouble to equip a still with corn and yeast and start in to make the mash, which is finally turned out as a pretty poor sort of whisky. The great difficulty is in getting rid of the peculiar smoke and odor from the stills without exciting suspicion. This is usually attempted by running the still in connection with a dye shop or some other chemical enterprise as a blind. We keep watch on all such establishments and have the town well covered by sharp eyed and sharp nosed agents besides. We are constantly arresting these small moonshiners and sending them to jail. But enough spring up in their places for you to say with safety that, as I say, there's more moonshining going on in New York city right along than there could be in ten Kentuckys."—New York Sun.
