Keystone Chief and Other Prominent Associations Expected to Attend.

Committee on Arrangements Propose to Advertise Throughout State—Over Five Hundred Dollars On Hand for Expenses and as Much More Wanted—Arch of Arc Light.

Several firemen's associations of national prominence are expected to attend the twenty-first annual convention of the Virginia State Firemen's Association in this city on August 28, 29 and 30.

Besides these associations, it is expected that nearly a thousand firemen of Virginia will attend the convention and at the same time avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting the Jamestown Exposition.

There are 62 companies in the State association and many of them will send a score or more of men with their wives, Phoenias, Hampton, Portsmouth and Norfolk will turn out in force.

The joint committee on arrangements from the three fire companies of the city met at the city hall last night and practically perfected all arrangements for the convention.

The committee appointed Mr. J. P. Fraley, of the Eagle Engine Company, chairman of the advertising committee, with instructions that he advertise the convention throughout the State.

It is proposed to furnish linen banners, telling about the convention in this city, to every company in the State association, and the companies will post the banners in their cities and towns.

The fund being raised by the fire companies to defray the cost of the convention is steadily growing and the treasurer has nearly $500 on hand.

GLASS MEN LEAVE CITY

Conferences Resulted in Amicable Adjustment of all Differences.

HAD VERY PLEASANT STAY HERE

Visitors Finish Their Business and Depart for Their Homes With Delightful Impressions of Newport News and Vicinity.

After using in convention here for over a week, during which time important conferences were held with the union workmen, the Flint Glass Manufacturers of America adjourned yesterday. Last night the members of the association left for their homes. The Glass Makers, employers, as well as representatives of the employees, stopped at Hotel Warwick during their stay and the sessions and conferences were held at the hotel.

All of the visitors went away with delightful impressions of Newport News and well pleased with the manner in which they were entertained. Last Friday the association was entertained at Buckroe Beach at a clam-bake. Several days ago Manager Moore, of the Warwick, obtained permission to conduct the visitors through the plant of the Old Dominion Brewing and Ice Company, and after the trip through the plant had been made the brewery management tendered a pleasant surprise in the shape of an elegant lunch.

The conferences between the manufacturers and representatives of the union resulted in amicable settlements of all differences which had developed during the past year, therefore the guests left Newport News well satisfied with their stay in more ways than one.

MAJORITY OF EMPLOYEES HAVE SIGNED PETITION

Shipyard Hospital Seems to be Assured—Mass Meeting Next Week.

A shipyard hospital in this city seems to be assured. Already a majority of the yard employes have signed the petitions circulated in the various departments Monday and setting forth that the workmen will give their pay for one hour of each month toward the establishment and maintenance of a hospital. It is expected that nearly all of the employes will sign the papers before the end of the week.

A mass meeting of the yard workmen will be held early next week in the interest of the hospital movement and the petitions will be presented to General Manager Walter A. Post soon after that meeting.

Mr. Post will take the matter up with the officials of the shipbuilding company and the promoters of the hospital expect the company to make it a rule that all workmen in the plant must give one hour's pay a month toward the maintenance of the hospital.

WHAT IT COST CANDIDATES.

Messrs. Holt, Barrett, Ashby, Fellows and Moss File Notices. All of the candidates who participated in the recent Democratic Legislative primary have filed with the clerk of courts notices of the amount of money expended by them in connection with the campaign. The totals are as follows:

For senate: Saxon W. Holt (nominated), $312.18. C. Aylett Ashby, $383.15.

These candidates were assessed $100 by the district committee, but $30 of that amount was returned to each. The remainder of the money spent by each went mostly for band hire, advertising and the like.

For House of Delegates: W. E. Barrett (nominated), $154.75. C. R. Fellows, $57.50. A. A. Moss, $35.25.

The city committee assessed these candidates $25. Mr. Barrett spent most of the $154.75 for band hire and advertising. Mr. Fellows spent $18 for printing. Mr. Moss spent only $10.25 in addition to the assessment.

SNAPPY MILLER HUGGINS.

Great Cincinnati Second Baseman. Career of Lee Tannehill. Ned Hanlon, the noted manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, has spent a large part of the season in trading and selling off the Cincinnati veterans and in replacing them with youngsters.

But no matter how many deals he made he never thought of lifting the scalp of one veteran. That man is Miller Huggins, the Red's brilliant second baseman.

Miller Huggins is seldom heard of outside his own town, because his team invariably occupies a low place in the pennant race ladder. But he is the goods.

Huggins is a little fellow, but he is as snappy and as full of ginger as a ball player can be. That makes up for his lack of stature in many respects. He bats well; he leads the Cincinnati batting order. He is a sprinter par excellence as ball players go, and fields as well, as a rule, as did Billy Gilbert, late of the New York Nationals. Gilbert was one of the best fielding second basemen in the game in his day, but he could not bat as well as the average high school boy.

By FRANK CHANCE, Captain Chicago Nationals. It is a mistake to suppose that base running cannot be taught and that only speed is necessary. Three things count—a quick start, speed between the bags and the slide at the end.

All of these factors can be helped by constant practice. Study of the pitcher is necessary to a man sliding.

Most base runners watch the pitcher while the coach watches the baseman. I pay little attention to the man covering the base and devote nearly all my attention to the pitcher's feet. These indicate more clearly than anything else when he is off balance to throw to any particular spot and when he has reached that stage in the delivery of a ball to the batter when it is impossible for him to stop.

The ball rule has aided the base runner to some extent.

Lee Tannehill, the brawny third baseman of the Chicago White Sox, champions of the world, was born at Dayton, Ky., on Oct. 23, 1880, and began playing in his home town as a pitcher. He went to the Richmond team of the Virginia league in 1900 and turned his attention to third base.

In 1902 he went to Minneapolis, but finished the season in Colorado Springs. Next season he left the Western league and went to the Louisville American association club, where he played short field. Two months after the season opened he broke his leg and was out of the game for the rest of the year. In 1903 Coniskey bought him and placed him at short field, where he failed to come up to standard. In 1904 he was switched to third base, in which position he at once made good—so good, in fact, that he is considered one of the best third basemen in the profession, and were he a better batter than he is he would rank as a star.

True Temperance

There is a growing sentiment that temperance is surest and best promoted by the use of Pabst Blue Ribbon, which contains less than 3 1/2% of alcohol. The use of Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer satisfies the natural desire for a mild stimulant without creating a habit for strong drink. In countries where the most beer is consumed, intemperance is rarest.

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality is so rich in the food values of Pabst Eight-Day Malt, and in the tonic properties of the choicest hops, that it is a genuine health-builder.

The system frequently requires a mild stimulant, which is supplied by the small percentage of alcohol which produces no injurious effects. The extractives of malt and hops aid the digestion and soothe the nerves, making Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the ideal temperance drink.

When ordering beer, ask for Pabst Blue Ribbon. Made by Pabst at Milwaukee And Bottled only at the Brewery.
