After a chase of about four miles through the mud and slushes along the river bank, Captain A. S. Wright and Officer Ed. Waymack, of the Third District, yesterday noon succeeded in capturing Willie Brown, colored, twenty years old, who was suspected of breaking a window in the hardware store of the Watkins-Cottrell Company, Thirtieth and Main Streets, and stealing a number of pistols.

Brown when captured was drenched to the skin from wading a creek in his efforts to elude his pursuers. He was exhausted, and had to be conveyed to the Third Police Station in a farm wagon, where, after being dried and made comfortable, he made a complete confession.

When searched three 41-calibre Colt pistols were found on his person and two others recovered, one being found in a field and the other was recovered from a Hull Street merchant, who had purchased it earlier in the day. None of these pistols was loaded. Indeed, all were empty and never been fired. The man indignantly denied firing at his pursuers, and in this was corroborated by the officers. He frankly admitted breaking the window with brick wrapped with newspapers, after watching until the patrolman on the boat was out of sight. He claimed to have been assisted by Seventeenth Street negro named Will Krite, who was given $25 for his share of the plunder.

Had Will Chase.
The story of the chase reads like a dime novel of the plot for a motion picture play. The negro was first seen at Tenth and Hull streets, and scuttling danger started to escape. Officer Waymack ordered him to stop, and sent several shots after him to enforce the order. However, it being raining, ran harder, and soon reached the river, where he was sheltered by the heavy thickets. Wading across a creek, he was captured by the manhunters off the track. Through the assistance of a small negro, Walter Jones, who followed the trail like a redskin, the posse, which had quickly formed, was soon on the man's trail again. Almost exhausted the man was sighted. Captain Wright took a couple of potshots at him, but missed his target.

A farmer, W. R. Crowder, coming to town on horseback, was attracted to the shots, and spying Brown tried to lead him off. Brown, becoming desperate, attempted to swim the river, but after going about ten feet gave up the attempt, and came to shore and save himself up.

Brown was taken to the City Jail late yesterday, and will give evidence hearing this morning before Justice Crutcher.

Suit to Test Law.
Arguments in the case of the Commonwealth against Trainman Brothers, charged with an alleged breach of the State labor laws, were heard before Judge E. H. Wells, in the Hustings Court, Part 2, yesterday.

The defendants, who are accused of working ten hours a day, a greater number of hours than allowed by statute, were represented by the firm of Bloomberg & Hutzler, while Richard Jones, representing the Commonwealth, appeared in behalf of the Commonwealth.

The case is of the nature of a friendly suit, being in reality a test case. The Commonwealth has made an advance, and the decision will be rendered later.

Valuable Dog Missing.
Sergeant Leary, who is one of the dogcatchers of the Southside, is mourning the loss of his favorite black and tan hound, which was going about ten days ago. The loss will be keenly felt by many others besides the sergeant, as the dog is considered one of the most valuable from a hunter's viewpoint in the county.

Death of Ivey L. Davis.
Ivey L. Davis, twenty-nine years old, died yesterday in the Memorial Hospital of typhoid fever. He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Davis, and one brother, all of Dorset, Va.

The remains will be taken to his home to-day, and the funeral will be held to-morrow from the Graceland Church, Powhatan county.

Jones-Utley.
With only immediate members of the family present, Miss Beulah Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Utley, of 409 Cowardin Avenue, was quietly married to Herbert W. Jones, of 1114 North Twenty-second Street, Richmond, at 5 o'clock last night.

Owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family the ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. W. Jones, pastor of the Cowardin Avenue Christian Church, in the parlors of his home.

Marriage Announced.
Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Laws, 828 Henric Street, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to C. S. Carver, the ceremony being performed December 20, the Rev. H. D. C. Maclellan officiating. Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left for Danville, where they will spend the week as guests of relatives in Pittsylvania county. They will return to South Richmond, and after spending a few days, will go to Roanoke, where they will make their home.

Children's Entertainment.
The children of the Woodland Heights Baptist Church will hold their Christmas entertainment to-night at 8 o'clock at the church.

Personal and General.
Miss Louise Welsiger has returned from a visit to the Rev. E. W. Jones, pastor of the Cowardin Avenue Christian Church, in the parlors of his home.

Mr. M. A. Loving, who has been very ill, is expected to-night for a visit in Knoxville, Tenn. Before returning home he will stop off for a short visit with relatives in Roanoke and Bristol.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Jenkins are spending the holidays with the latter's mother, Mrs. Karne, in Roanoke.

New South Council, No. 5, will hold its weekly meeting to-night. At the hall, Eighth and Hull Streets, several new candidates were initiated.

Maple Camp, No. 155, Woodman of the World, will convene to-morrow night for the election of officers in its rooms in Externity Hall.

BRISTOL MAY HAVE TWO POST-OFFICES

Attitude of Department Will Be Determined by Inspectors.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Washington, December 21.—Upon the recommendation of Post-Office Inspectors Keene and Leonard, the Virginia Post-Office Department is now at Bristol making an investigation into the question of whether the office at that place shall remain on the Tennessee side of the line, whether it shall be moved across on the Virginia side, or whether no office shall be there at all. It is also known that the latter does not intend to let up in his efforts to land the office eventually on the Virginia side, or secure a new office if one can be had, and if former promises of the Post-Office Department are carried out. To-day, when Mr. Siemp was asked for a statement about the matter, he said:

"The people on the Virginia side have for forty years been practically debarred from any appointment in the Post-Office at Bristol. Though it is generally agreed that Bristol affords more than 50 per cent. of the postal receipts under the policy of the Post-Office Department for that many years, it seems that no citizen of Virginia was eligible for appointment as postmaster. Against this condition, as representing the Virginia constituency, I have protested with all my power. At one time President Taft sent the name of a Virginian to be made postmaster—G. E. Goodell. His appointment was held up in the Senate first by the Tennessee Senators, who said they would not consent to a Virginian being appointed, and afterwards by the President himself, who desired to act very cautiously in following the subject.

"The matter was then held in abeyance for quite a while, when it was agreed at the Post-Office Department that each city should have its own post-office and that a separate post-office would be established on the Virginia side. Under the law, the post-office thus established would have to be a fourth-class office. This, however, would only exist for a few months, after which Bristol would become a permanent post-office institution.

"There is a feeling of local pride in every individual that his town or city should have separate postal recognition. When Greater New York was formed the Brooklyn office was not abolished, though that should really have been done. The Brooklyn office was left as a concession to the sentiment of the Brooklyn residents. Bristol, Va., has a growing population, I imagine, of about 8,000 people. It has two or three colleges, which are the largest educational institutions in Southwest Virginia. It is under separate municipal form of government, and is recognized as a city under the laws of Virginia. There are a great many people who would like to have Bristol, Va., placed on their letter-heads, thus indicating that they are located in Virginia. The Tennessee

DOGAN ACCEPTS BALTIMORE CALL

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Roanoke, Va., December 21.—Rev. R. J. Dogan, for eight years pastor of the Jefferson Street Baptist Church, has decided to accept the call recently extended to him by the Fulton Avenue Baptist Church, of Baltimore, and has so notified the board of deacons of his congregation here. Mr. Dogan came to his present charge from Buchanan, where he filled several country charges in Botetourt county. He succeeded as pastor here the Rev. Hugh C. Smith, D. D., now of Christiansburg. Mr. Dogan served longer than all his predecessors combined. During his residence here Mr. Dogan has taken a decidedly prominent part in the civic life of Roanoke. The call to the Fulton Ave. Baptist Church, of Baltimore, came as a surprise to Mr. Dogan. He preached there last month, and the call to become the pastor of the church

OPPOSE HAY MEASURE
Civilian Employees of War Department Temporarily Relieved.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, D. C., December 21.—Seven thousand civilian employees of the War Department, who have been brightened because of the probable passage of the Hay bill by Congress, breathed easy when Speaker Clark's gavel fell to-day, declaring the Christmas recess at hand. They know that in no event can anything be done until the reassembling in January, and they hope by that time to knock the measure to pieces. The passage of this bill, so far as seen now, would either drive them out of work, or compel them to enlist in the army. The bill, which was presented last June by Congressman James Hays, of Virginia, chairman of the House Committee of Military Affairs, provides for the consolidation of the commissary, paymasters and quartermaster's department into one department, composed entirely of enlisted men, to be known as the supply corps. The 7,000 men are now safe at least until Congress meets again on January 3. Immediately after holidays, committees are coming to Washington to urge their representatives to work against the measure.

CONGRESSMAN JULIUS KAHN TO SPEAK HERE ON DEC. 31
Congressman Julius Kahn, of San Francisco, Cal., will be in Richmond Sunday, December 31, and will address an audience at Beth Abahab Temple at a meeting to be held under the auspices of Rimonon Lodge, B'nai B'rith, of this city. Mr. Kahn is a man of pleasing address and it is owing in great part to his efforts that Congress voted to have the Panama Exposition in his home country.

While Mr. Kahn's remarks will deal with the work of the order in general, it is understood that he will leave something to say about the true inwardness of the late action of Congress looking to the abrogation of the treaty with Russia.

Morgan-Jones.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Jonesboro, Va., December 21.—Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a very pretty marriage was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Jones, when their only daughter, Miss Hinda Justice, became the bride of Richard L. Morgan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. M. Ritter. The parlor was decorated with a profusion of evergreens and ferns. The wedding march was rendered by Mrs. Otto Rawlings, a cousin of the bride. The bride and groom were preceded to the altar by Eddie Jones, Orady Jones, Charlie Kirk and R. E. Poace, who acted as ushers. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Blackstone, where they took the 4 P. M. train for an extended trip.

Washed Overboard and Lost.
Washington, December 21.—Shortly after the torpedo-bomb destroyer Worden left Charleston navy yard for Norfolk on Monday Arthur W. Wilson, chief machinist's mate aboard that vessel, was washed overboard and lost in the rough sea. A message to this effect was received at the Navy Department to-day from the commander of the Worden. Wilson was a native of Philadelphia. The accident happened about thirty-five miles off the coast of South Carolina.

was the result. He will succeed the Rev. O. R. Falls, who has gone to Texas.

Lodges Elect Officers.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Williamsburg, Va., December 21.—Hamilton Lodge, No. 252, I. O. O. F., at its regular meeting Tuesday night, elected the following officers: J. F. Randolph, noble grand; W. A. Beazarth, vice-grand; J. V. Morris, recording secretary; R. D. Wilkins, financial secretary; H. D. Bozarth, treasurer; Dr. G. A. Hankins, trustee.

Sons to Entertain Veterans.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lexington, Va., December 21.—Following the custom of some years past, the Sons of Confederates of Lexington and Rockbridge, will entertain the Confederate veterans of Rockbridge at a dinner on Lee-Jackson Day, to be observed Friday, January 13. These occasions in former years have been most enjoyable, and the veterans turn out in large numbers to participate in the exercises and enjoy the hospitality of the Sons of Confederates.

DO KEROSENE OIL LAMPS EXPLODE?
Washington, December 21.—Whether kerosene oil lamps explode was the question debated by attorneys to-day before the Supreme Court in arguments as to the constitutionality of the North Carolina statute for the inspection of illuminating oil. R. W. Winston, of Raleigh, N. C., contended that neither he nor any of the justices had ever seen an oil lamp explode, and that the tales of such explosions were as "fictitious as the sea serpent of Mrs. Harriet, of Dickens' fame." Attorney General Bickett, of North Carolina, argued that they did explode, and that the statute was a reasonable one. The arguments were not concluded.
