

DEFERRED ITEMS.

The order heretofore issued dismissing Captain R. H. S. Hyde, 109th New York volunteers, on the ground of disloyalty, has been revoked by the President. The evidence submitted on behalf of Captain Hyde proved that the charge of disloyalty was entirely groundless.

The Cleveland Herald heard the other day of a man applying for exemption from the draft because he had an old mother who needed his cherishing care. To show how much feeling this affectionate son has for his old mother, his neighbors say he has had her coffin in the house for over two years. He came to town with a load of wood one day, and being unable to sell it he contrived to trade it off with an undertaker for a coffin—his mother being old might die suddenly, and then, as Toodies says, "how handy it would be to have it in the house!" Being of a frugal as well as an ingenious turn of mind, he put the coffin in the cellar to keep turnips in against such time as the old lady might drop off.

The Bangor (Me.) Times tells a story of Dr. Wilbur, a member of the Board of Enrollment. A drafted man presented himself for examination who was so deaf that it required the utmost power of the doctor's lungs to make him hear. The doctor stooped and commenced a critical examination of one of the drafted man's knees, remarking in a low tone, "that is sufficient to exempt any man." Glad to hear you say so," said the deaf man, who had suddenly recovered his hearing; "what did you say was the trouble with my knee, Dr. Wilbur?" "It is perfectly sound and good," replied the doctor, "I was only examining your ears." The man paid his $300.

Daniel Webster's widow visited his tomb one day last week. It was her first visit to Marshfield since the lamented death of her illustrious husband. What memories (remarks the Boston Courier) must have been awakened in view of events now passing in the country! Mrs. Webster was accompanied in her pious pilgrimage by the old and devoted friend of her husband, Peter Harvey, esq.

It is understood that the original arrangement made by Mr. Chase with Jay Cooke & Co., as agents for the sale of the five-twenty loan, expired by limitation on the 1st of August. Since that day their agency has been continued subject to the possible adoption of a new plan of selling to the people the Government credits. The scheme said now to be most favored in the Treasury Department is to make the National Banks throughout the country, organized under Mr. Chase's financial measure, agents for the five-twenties, as well as of any new loans, at a compensation of one-quarter per cent—the banks being compelled to expend one-sixteenth per cent in advertising and other necessary expenses.

The latest intelligence from the Old World informs us that the Emperor of Austria has addressed an autograph letter to all the Sovereigns of Germany, inviting a Convention at Frankfort-on-the-Maine for the express purpose of reorganizing the German Empire.—This invitation is extended, not only to all the little Principalities, but also to the representatives of each of the Free Cities.

The Confederate wounded prisoners on David's Island are in comfortable circumstances. No money is allowed to be given the prisoners, but necessary articles of comfort, under-clothing and the like, may be contributed through the surgeon.

Gen. Fremont and family have taken a cottage at Nahant for the season. Gen. Schenck is at Congress Hall, Cape May.

FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Siden, from Liverpool on the 11th instant, has arrived.

There are rumors of reinforcements to be sent to the British army in British North America.

The Polish question remains in statu quo. The latest-news, via Queenstown, states it is generally asserted that Maximilian will accept the Mexican crown.

The Times says there is a rumor that, in consequence of recent menacing news from America, the Government intends sending additional troops to British North America.

The Times says it would not be surprised if something arose out of the alleged proposition of Jeff Davis to Napoleon for an offensive and defensive alliance between Mexico, under French protection, and the Confederates, which would be quite consistent with the late French policy. The world might look with favor on such a contingency, but absolute neutrality would be England's policy.

The Times looks upon the election of the Archduke Maximilian in Mexico as important, and says it will have a tendency to a union between France and Austria and a division between France and America. The Northerners must be incensed against Napoleon, and the Federals can hardly fail to come in collision with the new empire. The Daily News is bitter on the French policy in Mexico, and does not believe the Archduke will accept the throne.

La Patrie asserts that the Archduke made acceptance depending on the consent of the Empire of Austria. La France says if he accepts, France and England will recognize him immediately, and other Powers will follow.

The Emperor and the Empress of the French have sent their congratulations to the Archduke.

It is reported that Austria has sent a proposition to Russia, containing a slight modification of her late note. La France asserts the French note firmly maintains the claims advanced by the three Powers, but is drawn up in a spirit of moderation.

FROM THE ATLANTIC COAST.

The steamer Empire City, from Charleston on the evening of the 15th inst., has arrived at New York.

She reports that on the 17th inst., while off Cape Lookout, she saw the U. S. gunboat Connecticut in chase of a blockade runner, and joined in the chase, but after twelve hours' pursuit the blockade runner escaped.

The Port Royal New South contains the following items:

"The Confederates call upon the authorities to sequester certain Yankee property in Brunswick, Ga.

"The Confederate steamer Robert Harbsham, which has been watching our advance movements in the Savannah river, exploded her boiler, destroying the vessel and killing all her crew.

"Gen. Mercer, commanding at Savannah, is impressing one fifth of all the able-bodied slaves of Georgia for workmen on the fortifications. All the negroes in Savannah have been seized and put to work.

"Several contrabands have reached Fort Pulaski, having escaped from Savannah.

"A new ram is building at Savannah.

"Several heavy guns have been sent from Savannah to Charleston.

"The ram Savannah came down the river on the 16th instant, intending to run out to sea, but breaking one of her engines, had to put back. She is mate to the Atlanta.
