CALIFORNIA.

[From the Nevada Daily Standard.]

The vote at the recent election shows that California is being rapidly depleted of her population. There is little doubt that the vote was a full one, as it followed an exciting campaign, in which both parties exerted themselves to their utmost to bring out their party strength. The cities and towns throughout the State, with the exception of San Francisco, show the effects of the depletion. They are barren, dull, and declining. Business houses may be seen on every hand with closed doors. Property has declined at a fearful rate, and may be bought almost for a song. The causes of this depletion are numerous. The most powerful one is the discovery of rich and extensive mines of silver and gold outside of the limits of the State. There has for the past two years been a perfect exodus to Nevada Territory from all parts of California. Probably not less than 30,000 people are now residents of this Territory who came here from California. The discovery of rich mines in Idaho Territory has attracted thousands to that locality. The Colorado mines, now coming into notoriety, are taking off hundreds, and will, in all probability, carry away thousands in another year. In addition to this, many have gone to Mexico, and engaged in mining there. Several thousand soldiers have also been taken from the State. Taking all together, it probably would not be extravagant to say that the last two years does not fall short of fifty thousand souls. It is true that there has been a continual stream of immigration to that State from the East; but the amount of immigration is probably not one-third as much as the emigration. Hence the decline of the cities and towns, and the dullness which is apparent throughout the State.

Scientific men in this country will learn with regret of the resignation of two of the ablest astronomers, Dr. Brunow, for many years Director of the Observatory at Ann Arbor, Michigan, and Dr. Peters, since 1858 Director of the Observatory at Hamilton College, New York.

The Sumter (S. C.) Watchman says: "In riding over some 25 miles of Sumter district recently, we missed the wide extended fields of cotton upon which we were accustomed to look in former years; and in lieu thereof, we saw on every hand fields of corn, potatoes and sugar cane, with an occasional patch of cotton. The gin and the screw are idle, but the wagons are busy hauling up the cane and the mills busy in expressing the juice, and the boiler seething with the foaming syrup. Verily, the King has laid aside his sceptre for a while, and Ceres and her sweet companions hold their delight in away."

Yesterday morning, a party of six men, belonging to Baker's cavalry, companies B and C, met in a house belonging to Chas. Curtin, in Washington, where some of the party had a quarrel, one accusing another of stealing. They divided into two parties, and a fight ensued. Pistols were drawn, and the men of company C shot two men of company B. Jas. Sullivan was shot through the abdomen, and the wound is pronounced mortal. John Connors was shot through the hip.

The U. S. steamer Bermuda reports the capture, on the 21 of October, six miles from Matagorda, Texas, of the English schooner Florrie. She was loaded with medicines, wines, saddles, and assorted cargo.

A notorious guerrilla, Jim Keller, who killed Captain Wileman and others, was captured near Sharpsburg, Ky., yesterday, with six others. They were taken to Mount Sterling, where a man named Watkins, formerly of the 9th Kentucky cavalry, shot and mortally wounded him while in the hands of the guard.

On Sunday evening eighty wounded soldiers arrived in Washington from Fairfax. About one hundred and twenty more reached there last evening from the same locality.

By J. C. McGuire & Co., Auctioneers, CHANCERY SALE OF VERY VALUABLE ESTATE.—By virtue of a decree in Chancery, in cause No. 1,627, Middleton and wife vs. Berry, the undersigned Trustees, on TUESDAY, the 20th day of October, 1863, at 12 o'clock M., will sell at public auction, at the Auction Ware rooms of J. C. McGuire & Co., corner of Tenth and D streets, in the city of Washington, the large and valuable tract of land called "Bellevue," belonging to the estate of the late Washington Berry. The land lies on the Potomac, and in the District of Columbia, opposite Alexandria, and about five miles from Washington, on the Piscataway road, adjoins Lower Giesboro', and consists of a fine variety of meadow, wood, garden, and farming lands, a part of which is in a high state of cultivation.

The Trustees have had the land subdivided into six convenient lots for farming and gardening purposes, as follows:

Lot A, 70 acres, 1 rood, 27 perches; Lot B, 77 acres, 6 perches; and Lot C, 75 acres, 1 rood, 20 perches, are on the east side of the Marlboro' road, and extend back to Oxen Branch.

Lot E, 67 acres, 3 roods, 9 perches, is on the south side of said road, opposite Lot C, and adjoining the farm of Fenwick Young, esq.

Lot G, 72 acres, 2 roods, 4 perches, adjoins Lot C and Mr. Young's lands, and extends to the Potomac river, is in a high state of cultivation, and contains a good dwelling and out-houses.

Lot F, 81 acres, 28 perches, adjoins Lot G, and lies between Fort Greble and the river.

Lots E, F, and G, on the river side, are particularly valuable, and Lots F and G, on the river have good fisheries for shad and herring.

This sale presents the most favorable opportunity offered in many years to persons desiring country places or market gardens, especially as the terms are unusually liberal, viz: One-fifth in cash, and the residue in five equal instalments, at one, two, three, four, and five years respectively from the day of sale, with semi-annual interest, for which the purchase will give their notes, with good and sufficient endorsers, to be approved by the Trustees. Conveyances at purchasers' cost.

An elaborate plat of the estate, with its subdivisions, can be seen at J. C. McGuire & Co.'s ware-rooms.
