

DEFERRED ITEMS.

We learn from a gentleman who was a passenger on the train which left New York city at half-past seven o'clock on Monday evening, that an accident happened to the train when about thirteen miles north of Baltimore about three o'clock on Tuesday. The locomotive and the Adams Express car became detached from the rest of the train and continued on towards Baltimore. The mail, baggage, and saloon cars were thrown off the track and fell down the embankment on the side of the road. The saloon car was totally smashed, and the wheels were wrenched from the baggage and mail cars. Nobody was killed. Several persons, however, (some twelve or fifteen,) were slightly bruised.

Speaking of the arrest of Mr. Williamson, the Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Times says:—"It will probably be made the occasion for testing judicially the legality, not only of that procedure, but also the authority of Col. Baker and Col. Turner, and of the War Department itself, to arrest and imprison for alleged criminal offences. No question is made of the right of the Secretary of War to make arrests of soldiers and officers for violation of military law, but the best lawyers in this District say that arrests by the War Department for alleged misdemeanors and felonies are in violation, of the law."

Great dissatisfaction exists among the merchants at Louisville, Ky., because of the requirement to carry their bonds over to Cincinnati as a pre-requisite to obtain permits to send goods to southward points, which are geographically tributary to Louisville. A meeting of the merchants is in contemplation to represent to the U. S. Government the injustice of depriving them of a local officer for granting them such permits.

A special from Des Moines says the Indian troubles on the Upper Missouri, notwithstanding the victory of Sully, are far from over. Recent advices say that Fort Union has been taken by the Indians and burned. The force of Indians is represented to be from four to five thousand.

The prize steamer Jupiter, captured on the 13th ultimo, in Wassaw Sound, by the gunboat Cimnerone, has arrived at Philadelphia. The Jupiter was from Nassau, and when captured was in a leaky condition, and had to be towed into Beaufort, where her cargo was discharged in a damaged condition.

The New York Times says "the U. S Treasury vaults contain gold enough to meet all demands payable in coin for nine months to come. From the customs alone the receipts are more than sufficient to pay the specie interest on the public debt as it accrues."

The Toledo (Ohio) Blade says that a person from the East has been catching wild ducks in Michigan for exportation to Germany. He caught about seven hundred, sent them to New York, and will put them on board a steamer for Bremen, where he expects to get six dollars a pair for them.

Mrs. Sinclair, widow of the once famous tenor, and mother of Mrs. Catharine Sinclair (formerly Forrest), of Staten Island, died recently at Margate, England, aged sixty-four years. The deceased lady was the grand daughter of Col. Clarkson, long commander of the garrison at the Castle of Edinburgh, and her father, Captain Norton, of the First Royals, was killed in Egypt.

The Washington Star says that "thirty-five of the Federal prisoners recently returned to Annapolis from Richmond have died since their arrival." The returned prisoners complain much of the want of food and their sufferings whilst in prison.

There is a couple in Cincinnati who have been engaged to be married for the past five years, but no time has occurred within that period when they were both out of prison at the same time.

The last portion of the great telegraph cable which is to connect England with every corner of her Indian empire, has been shipped from Plymouth.

The Boston Traveller observes: "New playing cards are spoken of, the pictures on which are to be taken from the forms and faces of men who have distinguished themselves in the war. Some eminent contractors will sit for the knaves."

The Prince of Wales has renounced, for himself and his heirs, the succession to the throne of the duchies of Coburg and Gotha. This act has just been communicated to the Diet of the two duchies.

Mr. J. Snowden Pleasants of Poolesville, Md., died a few days ago, of disease contracted during his late long confinement in the Old Capitol prison.
