

From the Upper Potomac.

The Washington Star, of yesterday says:

"We learn from parties who arrived here last night from Hagerstown, that on Sunday the Confederates under McCausland and Johnson, advanced from Bunker Hill and attacked Averill at Martinsburg.

"Averill, after a spirited resistance, fell back to Hainesville, a short distance from Falling Waters, on the Virginia side of the river, where he took up a position.

"During Sunday night Averill received reinforcements, and at 4 o'clock yesterday morning advanced against the Confederates and drove them back to Bunker Hill, and re-occupied Martinsburg.

"The loss in these engagements was not definitely known, but is supposed to be light.

"On Sunday a body of dismounted cavalry was dispatched from the camp at Hagerstown to Williamsport, where they are now guarding the fords of the river.

"The cannonading caused by the affair was distinctly heard at Hagerstown and caused considerable anxiety as to the result."

The Richmond Examiner says of the military situation in Georgia:—"Our army still maintains its position at Lovejoy, with the advance occupying Jonesboro." Hardee's corps occupies Jonesboro', with pickets extending six miles beyond. Sherman has now withdrawn and contracted his lines so that he occupies little ground south of Atlanta. He is reported to be throwing up powerful works on a line running from East Point east, through the city and to Decatur; to be bringing up supplies, and otherwise arranging his base for another campaign."

The schooner Jane F. Durfee, was captured by a party of Confederates, five in number, on Saturday evening last, while at anchor in Warwick River, Va. The captors released the schooner on a bond of seven thousand dollars; took from the captain two thousand seven hundred dollars in cash, together with clothes, bedding and nautical instruments, and then departed.
