The Washington Star states that the Confederates believe that "Gen. Grant will not contest Lee's position on the line of the South Anna and Pamunkey, but will strike down towards the York River Railroad flanking Lee's right and opening a new base at West Point. — This they claim will be virtually forcing Grant to return to McClellan's line of advance on Richmond."

McArthur's command returned to Vicksburg on the 20th inst. He had had no engagement of any importance.

The proclamation by the Governor of Maryland, calling for volunteers for the period of one hundred days, to be employed within the State, having failed to procure the requisite number, the Governor, has issued an order that a draft will be made on the 6th of June, from citizens between eighteen and forty five years of age, to make up the residue due from the city of Baltimore.

The Washington Chronicle says: "Adjutant General Thomas, after a brief visit to his family in Georgetown, D. C., goes back, in a few days, to his post in the Southwest. It is understood that the business of organizing the negro people of Kentucky as a part of the army has been entrusted to Gen. Thomas."

The printing office of the Union and Journal, at Louisiana, Mo., were destroyed by a mob of soldiers on the 24th inst. The sail came up and proved to be a Spanish man of war. The Albion (English organ in New York) confesses to having no very clear idea of the "military situation" in Virginia. The dispatches as to the rebel army under Lee being in "rapid flight towards Richmond" "demoralized" etc., are old stories we are told, which deceive nobody now that does not want to be deceived. "Whether Lee is yielding to superior pressure, and to the urgent want of supplies, or whether he is following out his own tactics, are things not clearly established."

It is said that "in the third day's fight of the recent engagements in Virginia, Gen. Grant turned to Gen. Meade and said: 'Well, Meade, if they are going to make a Kilkeenny cat affair of this, all I have to say is, our cat has got the longest tail.'"
