Mr. Charles Y. Bargamin, one of the best known business men of this city, died at his home, No. 170 Park Avenue, on the fifty-sixth year of his age.

Mr. Bargamin had been in comparative good health and very active in business until a few weeks ago, when he was taken ill. Nothing was thought of his malady at first, but last Sunday serious heart troubles were discovered, and from that point death ended his suffering.

Mr. Bargamin had been an active business man in this city for forty years. He entered the office of the G. & A. Bargamin Company as an employe when he was only fifteen years of age, and was steadily promoted until he was made general manager of the company, which position he held for ten years.
