DEAD SIDE BY SIDE.

TWO BRIGHT YOUTHS KILLED IN OCEAN-VIEW R'WAY ACCIDENT.

Found Under One of the Cars After It Had Been Reported That They Were Safe—Train Probably Purposely Wrecked.

NORFOLK, VA., August 10.—(Special.) The accident which occurred on the Ocean View railway last night was more tragic and appalling than was at first supposed. Two bright and promising young men lost their lives, and several other persons were injured. The accident caused a good deal of excitement, and many wild rumors were afloat on the streets during the day. Most of these were without any foundation, and were soon proved to be untrue. It was known that the two youths were missing, but later it was stated that they had reached the power-house in safety and search for them was abandoned.

On the first trail-car was the Rev. Robert Gatewood, the well-known teacher of this city, together with his son, Arthur Gatewood, and young William C. Murdaugh, of Portsmouth. The Rev. Mr. Gatewood was reading several seats back in the car, while the two boys occupied the front seat. Mr. Gatewood was thrown out in the mud and badly bruised.

FOUND THEIR CAPS.

He waded out and began a search for the boys, but could only find their two military caps. When the relief train arrived from Norfolk he came to the city on that train, thinking they were aboard. He watched for them to leave the train, but they were not aboard, and, still holding their caps in his hand, the anxious father again left for the scene of the wreck to search for his boy and young Murdaugh. Arriving again at the wreck he made diligent inquiry, and was told that the boys had reached the power-house in safety. This morning, just as the gray streaks of dawn lighted up the eastern horizon, the wrecking party working on the derailed trailer lifted the end of the car from the mud and disclosed a sad spectacle.

DEAD SIDE BY SIDE.

Lying close together two boys, with their gray uniforms on, were almost completely buried in mud and water. Murdaugh's chest was slightly crushed in, and had a long, red mark across it, as though he had received a severe blow. Gatewood's body bore no such severe mark, but was badly bruised. The boys evidently jumped from the train when the crash occurred, and were caught and crushed beneath the falling car.

William Murdaugh was a Virginia Military Institute student, 19 years of age, and was very well known and greatly beloved by all his class-mates and friends. Arthur Gatewood was a first-class man at the Virginia Military Institute, and would have graduated next year. He was only 17 years old, but was very bright, and was very popular at school. He was a bosom friend of young Murdaugh's.

Justice Hawkes summoned a coroner's jury as soon as he heard of the boys being killed, and went to the scene to view the remains, after which the bodies were turned over to the families of the deceased, and brought to the city. Gatewood's remains were taken to Undertaker Oliver's establishment here, and Murdaugh's to Undertaker Johnson's place of business, in Portsmouth.

A REWARD OFFERED.

The burial permits give the cause of death as "suffocation and other causes," thus advancing the theory that the young men were not killed outright, but suffocated beneath the wreck.

The Ocean View Railway Company offers $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons who placed obstructions on the track. This gives foundation to the rumor prevailing yesterday evening that the train was wrecked by an obstruction placed near the trestle, said to be a keg of railroad spikes.

SAVED BY A DOCTOR.

A Husband Poisoned; His Wife Accused of the Crime.

SCOTTSVILLE, VA., August 10.—(Special.)—The case of husband-poisoning referred to in my letter of the 8th instant came up to-day before Justice John L. Dawson, and is substantially as follows, as was shown by the evidence:

Some weeks ago, Dr. A. P. Bowles, of this place, received a very well-written note from Mrs. Barrett Smith, living some five miles north of this place, requesting him to visit her sick husband professionally. The Doctor made the call, and found Mr. Smith suffering from inward soreness and burning. He could retain nothing on his stomach; his bowels, also, were in a dreadful condition. The Doctor prescribed a soothing enema, which contained nourishment, and this seemed at first to relieve the patient, but afterward it, too, appeared to be painful. The Doctor now suspected that all was not right, and that the trouble was caused by Croton oil. He next visited his patient at night, at which time the patient was said to be in the greatest pain. The Doctor, found, too, that when he administered the medicine the burning sensation did not appear, and the patient was benefited, but would get worse as soon as he left him. He, therefore, concluded to remove the patient to the house of his brother, near-by. On the Doctor's next visit, as he stepped into Mr. Smith's room, he saw through an open door Mrs. Smith standing by a bed, on which a man named Jim Chisholm was lying, and the two were embracing. The Doctor then, without further hesitation, had his patient moved, and he charged Mrs. Smith with poisoning her husband by administering Croton oil in small quantities, both by stomach and injection.

ARREST OF MRS. SMITH.

Since the removal of Mr. Smith, under the Doctor's treatment, he is doing very well, and can eat and retain his food, and he is now fast recovering.

Mrs. Smith, though she has four small children, ran off from her home, leaving the children there. She evaded the officers for a night and day, but was captured yesterday while taking her children away. She is rather young, and good-looking, and left her husband about two years ago, but returned to him, after an absence of several months.

Information received by Justice Dawson, in regard to Jim Chisholm seemingly connected Chisholm with this terrible affair, and the Justice issued a warrant for his arrest, also. Though the officers have hunted for Chisholm night and day since they have not yet caught him, though they have heard of him at several places. They hope to have him by this evening.

After hearing the evidence of two witnesses for the Commonwealth and that of the prisoner, who asserted her entire innocence of the charge against her, though admitting that she did not rub Croton oil on her husband's throat, and gave him a few drops inwardly, not knowing it was poison, Justice Dawson was sufficiently convinced of her guilt to send her on to the grand jury. He allowed her bail in the sum of $1,000, which, not being able to give, she was sent to jail at Charlottesville this afternoon.

A DANGEROUS ASSAULT.

Yesterday about noon a negro boy in the employ of Mrs. Joseph Coleman, near town, was here at the blacksmith-shop, when he was accosted by another negro, named Ches Jenkins, who got into a quarrel with him. Jenkins caught up a piece of wagon-frame and struck the boy over the head, inflicting an ugly, though not dangerous, wound on his skull. The Mayor imposed a fine of $5 and costs upon the accused, and required of him a bond of $50 to keep the peace, which penalties the culprit not being able to discharge he will be sent to jail this afternoon.

PERSONALS.

The lecture of Judge Farrar on Tuesday night was greatly enjoyed, and he was urgently requested to repeat his visit here before long. This he promised to do in October, just before he starts for Texas.

But few of our people had ever heard the Judge before, and they were completely captivated by him.

Little Mattie, the child of Dr. W. M. Wade, of your city, died at Mrs. Blair's, his mother's, last night, about 11 o'clock, of cholera infantum. She had been hanging between life and death for a week or more. She will be buried this afternoon at the Presbyterian Cemetery.

A negro boy called King Lindsay was arrested near the "Middle Oaks" a day or two ago for engaging in a riot at the slate-pencil factory. He was taken to Charlottesville by Constable J. Browning, and, after paying the costs of arrest, etc., was released.

Mr. W. G. Farrar left this morning for his home, in Norfolk, after a few days' visit to his old home, here.

CREWE MASONIC HALL.

Will Be Dedicated Shortly—The Contested Election—Personal.

CREWE, VA., August 10.—(Special.)—The new Masonic Temple has been completed, and the Blue Lodge held its first meeting in the hall Thursday night. The building is owned by the three Masonic bodies—Knights Templar, Royal Arch Chapter, and Blue Lodge. It will be dedicated on August 30th, at which time Grand-Senior-Warden R. T. W. Duke, of Charlottesville, will make an address. After the address a banquet will be served. The building, which is one of the most attractive in our town, is two stories high. It has a store-room and a banquet-hall on the first floor, and a large hall and ante-rooms on the second floor. In the tower is a large, circular window of colored glass, on which are engraved various Masonic emblems.

WILL APPEAL.

In the contested-election case for the office of Sheriff in this (Nottoway) county, in which the Court decided in favor of Mr. E. M. Jones (Democrat), an appeal will be taken by Mr. H. H. Dyson, the Republican contestant, to the Circuit Court, which meets in September.

Since the advent of summer, which brings so many visitors to our town and vicinity, dances, lawn parties, and hay-rides are the order of the day, or, rather, literally speaking, order of the night. A party of young people went on a hay-ride Thursday night to "The Grove," the home of Mr. R. W. Tuggle, near Blackstone, where they were pleasantly entertained.

Mr. A. L. Woody has been elected a member of our Town Council, to fill the unexpired term of Captain C. B. Armes, deceased.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Frank Phillips Brought Back to Fredericksburg.

FREDERICKSBURG, VA, August 10.—(Special.)—Frank Phillips, who stands indicted on the charge of forgery, which is alleged to have occurred about three years ago, and who was arrested in Hartford, Conn., last Monday, arrived here to-day, in charge of Officer Robinson, who went to Hartford Thursday. Phillips, in an interview with your correspondent this evening, stated that his departure from this city was due to his inability to meet his obligations, and the excessive interest he was forced to pay on money borrowed. On one note, of $100, he claims to have paid $18.50 interest every thirty days, and on another of a like amount $85 per annum. On a note for $10 he paid at the rate of $6.75 per month. This and his expenses were more, he claims, than he was making, and, in order to stop such interest he left. His intention, however, he said, was to pay all his obligations as soon as he could make the money. He said that since his departure he had paid off several claims. Phillips, up to his leaving, bore a good character, and for several years had carried the mails to and from the trains.

A SUPPOSED WAR RELIC.

Mr. John F. Alsop, of the county, brought to the city to-day a daguerrotype of a man and woman, which was found recently near his residence. The spot where it was found was the camping-ground of a number of Mississippi and Georgia troops during the war, and the picture is supposed to have been lost by some member of one of the companies. It is well preserved, and represents the subjects sitting side by side.

PERSONAL.

Grand-Commander James P. Corbin and Mr. A. B. Boots, of this city, will attend the grand conclave of Knights Templars, which meets in Boston.

James F. Thompson will leave Monday to attend the State Dental Association, which meets at the White Sulphur Springs.

"THE STEERING COMMITTEE."

Its Unavailing Attempt to Hold a Meeting Yesterday.

ROANOKE, VA., August 10.—(Special.)—General James A. Walker and W. F. Simpson came here to-day to meet J. Rush Miller and Judge Buford, to hold a meeting of "the Steering Committee," appointed at the Petersburg conference. The last-named gentlemen did not appear, and no meeting was held. General Walker in an interview said that the purpose of the meeting was to organize the committee and discuss the preliminary work of the campaign.

Messrs. Walker and Simpson took advantage of the opportunity to do some "missionary" work, and their rooms at the hotel were crowded with the representatives of the various elements in this city.

Walker, in discussing the "honest-elections" movement, said that they were not fighting the Democrats, and that no Democratic candidate who would pledge himself to support the Petersburg bill would be opposed by them.
