At this season of the year we endeavor to run our stock as low as possible preparatory to laying in large and new designs for Christmas. This year Christmas goods are BY FAR going to be handsomer than ever attempted by the manufacturer.

We want to be in condition to give to the Roanoke public the choicest and handsomest line ever shown here in this city. To do so we must close out a great many goods to make room.

The Roanoke public will have an opportunity of purchasing high class goods at a VERY SMALL profit—and some goods go at cost and below cost. Fair dealing accounts for our large and constantly increasing business.

THE EXPORTATIONS OF GOLD.

Four Millions and Half Withdrawn Yesterday.

But the Syndicate Promptly Deposited $2,400,000 in Gold at the Sub-treasury With the Promise of Considerable Addition to That Amount—The Financial Situation a Puzzle—The Outflow of Gold Inexplicable.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The announcement that New York banks had deposited $2,400,000 in gold with the promise of considerable addition to that amount, was quite as much a surprise at the Treasury Department as the earlier news of the withdrawal of $4,500,000. This prompt action of the banks was favorably commented on, and the feeling of depression and anxiety that pervaded the department this morning gave place to one of confidence.

Even those who by reason of their long experience and best able to judge of the situation express themselves as a loss to account for the continued and apparently increasing demands for gold. Never before in the history of the department they say has the financial condition of the country contained so many contradictory elements and never before have the officials been unable to give an intelligent forecast of what was likely to result from the then existing conditions.

At this time, they add, everything seems going counter to the general expectation. Several months ago it was stated that the supply of whiskey withdrawn from bond just prior to the anticipated increase in the internal revenue tax was about exhausted and that the next few weeks would see a new influx. This increase, however, has fallen far below expectations, with no immediate prospect of an advance.

The receipts from customs sources were also confidently expected to advance at a rapid rate. It was argued that stocks of merchandise throughout the country were practically exhausted, and that of necessity importations would show a marked improvement. It was predicted also that as the canning season approached the sugar importations would add materially to the receipts, and yet none of these expectations has been fully realized.

Though the receipts from internal revenue and customs show some improvement, there is a wide difference between the actual figures and the confident expectations of the officials. Whether the anticipated cotton and grain shipments will relieve the situation, so far as gold exportations are concerned, remains to be seen.

The amount of the exportations of gold during the last twenty months is unprecedented. Since January 1st of last year the gold coin and bullion exported from the United States aggregate about $169,284,300, while the importations during the same period amount to only $48,813,500, which leaves the excess of exports over imports about $120,470,800.

Almost a Panic in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—This day was an exciting one, and, for a time, bid fair to be a critical one in the financial field, so that many feared it might pass into history as a smaller edition of a certain black Friday of years ago. But to-night the disturbing elements are better understood, and the outlook for the Treasury and the maintenance of its gold reserve is comparatively clear.

Uncertainty as to the intention of the government bond syndicate to maintain the reserve at the century mark and as to its ability to do so, had disturbed the market interests increasingly throughout the week, and a crisis was reached this morning when an announcement was made that Lazard Freres, who is a member of the syndicate, had gathered two and a half millions of gold for shipment.

This announcement naturally gave rise to the impression that the syndicate had withdrawn from its controlling position and sent quotations tumbling in Wall street. Before the afternoon had passed several of the city banks had come to the aid of the sub-treasury with deposits of gold in exchange for greenbacks. Explanations had been made by members of the syndicate and the firm which started the panic and quiet was restored when the mentioned institutions closed their doors for the day.

The gold deposits made by the banks will offset the shipments of to-morrow, and it is expected in banking circles that the deposits of gold by the banks for greenbacks will reach $6,000,000 this week, against shipments to the amount of $7,200,000 for that period, the largest weekly outflow on record, except the $7,700,000 sent abroad in one week last January, when the drain upon the reserve reached its highest tide.

Explanations of the position of the syndicate toward the Treasury and for the reasons impelling Lazard Freres to compact the policy of his colleagues were secured by The Associated Press, and in substance are as follows: "The bond syndicate fulfilled all its obligations to the government in June last and has not since been bound in any way to the Treasury.

"So far as October is concerned, it has no relation to the bond syndicate, and it will continue to deposit gold until November 1 and December 1 and January 1, if necessary, and if existing conditions make it feasible to do so."

J. Pierpont Morgan, the head of the bond syndicate, spoke reassuringly of the outlook to a representative of the Associated Press. He said: "The bond syndicate is still in the field. There has been no rupture. The syndicate will continue to do all that it can to help maintain the Treasury gold reserve at $100,000,000. The obligation of the syndicate expired, however, some time ago."

Mr. Lazard Freres stated that a combination of circumstances leaves the market bare of commercial bills, and makes necessary the shipment of gold to cover part of the accumulated indebtedness, and to continue supplying the daily demands of trade.

In reply to a question, a member of the firm said there was no special significance in the shipment of gold, and that with the moving of the cotton crop in a few weeks the whole difficulty would adjust itself.

THE INTERNATIONAL YACHT RACES.

Comments of the British Press—They Uphold Dunraven.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The conclusion of the international yacht races for the American cup furnishes the text for articles in all the afternoon newspapers. In general, the press upholds Lord Dunraven in his refusal to sail over the course yesterday without a guarantee that it would be kept clear of excursion steamers and other craft.

In a leader, the Pall-Mall Gazette says that the result is unfortunate, and that it will be deplored quite as deeply by sportsmen in America as by the same class in England.

In its yachting column, the Pall-Mall Gazette says: "While, in our opinion, Dunraven, under fair conditions, would probably have beaten Valkyrie in at least three out of five races, we cannot but regret that Valkyrie had no chance of sailing under fair conditions. To say that Dunraven's refusal retained the cup would be ridiculous."

The Evening News says that the whole business is in the highest degree discreditable to the reputation of Americans as sportsmen.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Of course we all love our American friends very much, but our newspaper begs to assure them that we all cordially support Lord Dunraven's refusal in disgust from a contest involving so much rowdiness and unfairness." The St. James Gazette says: "Once again a great Anglo-American sporting contest has ended in a fiasco and quarrel, not an unusual experience."

Valkyrie Will Race Here No More.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Whatever doubt may have existed as to Lord Dunraven's intentions of racing the Valkyrie in this country was dispelled this morning by Mr. Maitland Kersey. When seen by a reporter he said: "No, the Valkyrie will never again race this side of the Atlantic. The races are over, and that settles it. I have nothing more to say on that point."

It was rumored last evening that Lord Dunraven intended to go to Niagara Falls, said the reporter. "If that is so the rumor is false. He may go to Newport in a day or two, but when I cannot say." Mr. Kersey, speaking of the offer of Colonel Taylor, of Boston, to race his yacht again in America, it would be (to) discuss that or any other offer.

Canadian Endorse Dunraven.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 13.—As an expression of their admiration for what they consider Lord Dunraven's plucky trial for the American Cup and his attitude under trying circumstances, the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of this city have decided to tender a complimentary banquet to the earl. Rear Commodore Jarvis has been instructed to arrange for any date next week which would suit Lord Dunraven.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

A Slight Fall in Prices, But Larger Demand for Goods in the West.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co. in their weekly review of trade, will say to-morrow: A slight set-back which may mean much or nothing, according to the final outcome of crops, is not unexpected at this season. If the government crop reports were correct the situation would not be encouraging. But not much confidence is placed in the reduced estimate of corn, none at all in the estimate of wheat and even the most enthusiastic bulls do not think it worth while to quote the government report as to cotton.

Prices have settled back but little during the past week, notwithstanding the gloomy department report. The wheat crop is evidently larger than the department has estimated, though nobody knows how much larger, and is coming forward with more encouraging rapidity, no less than 5,773,173 bushels having been received at Western ports against 5,446,001 bushels for the same week last year from a much larger crop. The farmers have undoubtedly been keeping back wheat under an agreement among themselves, but it does not seem a profitable operation for them.

Exports from Atlantic ports for the week for the two weeks of September have been 2,247,875 bushels, flour included, against 5,310,926 bushels last year. The price declined sharply about 2 cents per bushel with little indication of recovery. The price of corn has also yielded with a strong prospect of the largest crop ever grown, and at 38 cents at New York a large proportion of the crop will be of little profit to farmers. If we are to have a large crop of grain and a small crop of cotton it is natural to infer that manufacturers may find large transactions at the West but not at the South.

There is, in fact, a very large demand for goods at the West, and westbound shipments are unusually large, although the eastbound shipments from Chicago for four weeks of August amount to only 210,398 tons against 222,144 for the same week in 1894. Cotton goods have been strong, with a comparatively good market for raw cotton, but at the close a decline is indicated, because the market for raw cotton has shown much weakness. Failures for the week were 137 in the United States against 219 last year, and 34 in Canada against 44 last year.

The Durant Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The prosecution in the trial of Theodore Durant has, thus far, examined twenty-three witnesses, and has occupied two weeks in its work. There are less than half the number to be examined, and the most important are yet to be placed on the stand. It is said that the next four witnesses will take Durant and his alleged victim up to and into the church, where the girl met her death.

VERITABLE COMEDY OF ERRORS.

Roanoke and Lynchburg Played Poor Ball.

The Tobaccoists Were More Fortunate in Hitting the Ball, However, and They Won the Game—McKenna Twisted Well For the Visitors—Two Games Will be Played This Afternoon.

The Magicians and Tobaccoists indulged in a nine-act farce yesterday afternoon entitled, "Baseball as It Should Not Be Played." The members of the home team assumed the leading roles, although the visitors did a great deal of clever work in this line. Lynchburg bunched most of their errors in the first inning and as a result Roanoke got in two runs without the semblance of a hit. Roanoke bunched their's in the seventh and also distributed a few in the third. The Hill Climbers had no trouble in winning the game.

Both Lloyd and McKenna pitched good ball, especially the latter. While Lloyd was hit but seven times the drives made off him were longer than those secured off the Lynchburg twirler. In the fifth inning Roanoke had three men on bases with no one out, but they were unable to score. While errors were plentiful there were some good plays made, Padden particularly making a number of difficult stops.

Two games will be played this afternoon for the price of one admission. The first will be called at 2:30 o'clock and the second at the usual time. These contests will wind up the season for 1895 and will doubtless be witnessed by a large crowd. Following is the score:

Richmond Beats Petersburg.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 13.—Richmond had another easy victory. The visitors were unable to bat Flynn. After pitching five innings he gave way to Houseman, who was touched up lively. The locals did some beautiful field work and great batting, but the work of the Petersburgs, while an improvement of yesterday's, was ragged.

Baseball Notes.

This would make a good team for next year: Foster and Cote, catchers; Tannehill, Flynn, Ames and Knorr, pitchers; Wells, first base; Padden, second base; Sanford, center field; Fultz, left field; Stahl, right field; Berts, short-stop; McGowan, third base; Bradley, Shorer and Lloyd, extra men.—Richmond Times.

Our esteemed contemporary could strengthen the team by placing Viox at third. "Rooney" is the king of third basemen as far as this league is concerned.

Today's games are the last that will be played this season. Williams will pitch the first one for Roanoke and Fry or Stahl the second. Mason and Willis will officiate for Lynchburg.

THE PENNANT STRUGGLE.

Baltimore's Hard Fight as Compared With Cleveland's Prospects.

The Baltimore Sun of yesterday morning published the following interesting account of the work that must be done before the National league pennant can be won. Of course that does not include the games played yesterday afternoon: "That the Baltimore are by no means out of the woods in their race for the pennant is evident from a glance at the schedule, which shows that during the remainder of the season the champions must do battle with such strong clubs as Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia and New York, while Cleveland has to meet clubs of the calibre of St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Louisville. All of Baltimore's opponents may prove formidable. Pittsburgh is the only club which will face Cleveland that should, on form, give her no place among any trouble.

Baltimore's men have, further, more games to play than their closest competitors. There remains to be played by the Orioles four games with the Brooklyn, six with the Boston, three with the Philadelphia and four with the New Yorks—a total of seventeen. Cleveland has three games with St. Louis, three with Cincinnati, three with Pittsburg and two with Louisville—a total of eleven. The champions, therefore, providing they can get in all their postponed games, must take six more chances of suffering defeat than Cleveland has to face.

"As eleven of Baltimore's remaining seventeen games must be played away from home, while all but four of Cleveland's remaining eleven contests will be on the home grounds, the Clevelanders have a still greater advantage. Assuming that the Baltimore's shall win eleven of the seventeen games, their percentage would be, at the close of the season, .654. To do this will require great work, but if this be done the pennant will almost surely return to Baltimore, for should Cleveland win every one of her remaining games, her percentage would be just the same as that of Baltimore, .654, as each club would have won 85 and lost 45 games.

"It is not, at the same time, probable that Cleveland will win all of her eleven games. It is safe to predict that at least two of the contests should result in defeats for Tebeau's men. Pittsburgh should be able to defeat them once and Cincinnati might be depended upon to do the trick, or even St. Louis. Should this happen Cleveland's record at the end would be: Won, 83; lost, 47; percentage, .638. Let Baltimore win nine games and lose eight her record would be the same as Cleveland's, and the clubs would tie for the championship.

"While these figures are purely problematic, Cleveland has apparently been given an advantage in deductions from them, for two defeats for Cleveland seems the minimum calculation, while it is not probable that the determined Orioles will drop eight games out of the seventeen. If Baltimore should fall off for a few days in her work, however, and Cleveland maintain the winning streak she enjoyed before she struck Baltimore, the Westerners might make it very interesting for the Champions before September 30 arrives."

The Temple Cup Series.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The question having been raised whether the New York baseball club, which now holds the Temple Cup, should defend it again; this season's champions, President Young submitted the matter to the league club for their decision. Today he received their votes and it was decided by a majority of them that the Temple Cup series should be played by the clubs holding first and second place at the close of the season.

National League Games.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 13.—The Champions took two games from Boston today. The last was nip and tuck from start to finish, both pitchers being hit freely. Jennings was put out of the game in the seventh inning and Reltz finished in his place. Darkness ended the contest while the home team was at bat with but one man out. The runs scored in this inning won the game.

COLONEL TROY'S VIEWS.

He Believes Under Some Circumstances in Force at Elections.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 13.—Col. D. S. Troy, one of the leading lawyers of the State, who recently joined the Populist party in the interest of honest elections and free silver, as he said, and whose plan for an honest election and free silver convention to meet in Birmingham on November 13, next, was adopted by the Populists, is out in a two column article in the State organ of Populists, which makes interesting reading.

Colonel Troy endeavors to explain under what circumstances the use of force at voting places would be legal and justifiable. He regards the wilful refusal of the county officials to have on the board of election inspectors an intelligent representative of the opposition whenever practicable to do so, as sufficient evidence of fraudulent purpose to debase the election franchise and an honest law-abiding citizen, he asserts, has the same right to prevent elections being held by them as he has to prevent any other violation of the law in his presence. He thinks that under these circumstances whatever force is necessary to stop the election should be used, even though blood has to be shed.

A Disgraceful Court Scene.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 13.—When Judge Moon adjourned the circuit court and stepped down from the bench, Deputy Sheriff Poe sprang forward from the crowd and struck him in the face with his fist. Immediately the greatest excitement prevailed. Between the efforts of Judge Moon to reach Poe's head with his cane, and Poe's endeavor to get another lick at Judge Moon, together with the efforts of peace-makers to hold the two men off, it was a lively scene. The trouble grew out of the judge's action, disallowing a fee and lecturing the deputy on some alleged irregularity.

PEPPER AGAIN HEARD FROM.

Strongly Opposed to Another Issue of Bonds.

And Will Introduce a Resolution in the Senate Advising Their Repudiation if Issued by the Administration Without the Authority of Congress—He Considered the Other Bond Issue Fraudulent and Still Thinks So.

TOPEKA, Kans., Sept. 13.—"If another issue of bonds is made without the authority of Congress, I shall advise their repudiation," Senator Pepper said today speaking about the probability of another bond issue to an Associated Press reporter. Senator Pepper has kept his eye on the figures which tell of the condition of the gold reserve. None have watched it sliding down below the $100,000,000 mark more anxiously than he. It was he who objected very emphatically in the United States Senate when the first and subsequent bond issues were made.

"I considered the bond issue fraudulent, and I have not changed my position since then. I still think that the government has no authority to issue bonds without the concurrence of Congress," said he. "I am sure there will be another bond issue before October 1, because the syndicate has been given the privilege of taking all the bonds issued before then. There is only one thing which may prevent it and that is the fear that it may weaken Democratic strength."

"They are making heroic efforts to strangle the free silver sentiment in all the States and have to a considerable extent succeeded. Look how they squelched it in Kentucky, Arkansas and Iowa and nearly all the other States where tests have been made. They are compelling the silver men to go outside the Democratic party if they desire to adhere to that principle. The leaders think that they can be whipped into line and find out that they can look out for another bond issue before October 1."

"The President will be given all they can stand and no questions are supposed to be asked. At the last session of Congress I was called impertinent because I asked to have the names of the bond purchasers made public. If there be another bond issue without authority of Congress I intend to introduce a resolution advising the repudiation of the bonds. They were issued without authority and are fraudulent, and the people should not be compelled to pay them. This may not sound well, but there is no use in allowing the people to be imposed upon any longer."

"When the first bond issue was proposed Secretary Carlisle came to both houses of Congress and asked the legislative authority for the issue. He went so far as to prepare a bill for that purpose and presented it to the committee of both the Senate and House. Congress refusing to act, the Secretary gave notice that if he was not authorized by special act he would issue bonds without such authority, and he did so."

"I called attention to these facts at the time; charged that the bonds were issued illegally, and introduced a resolution instructing the judiciary committee of the Senate to examine and report whether the Secretary had such authority under existing law, and the committee did not report because they knew there was no such law."

No Labor Ticket in Richmond.

The Richmond correspondent of the Petersburg Index-Appeal in yesterday's issue says: The failure of the workmen to make nominations for the legislature last night will, it is said today, put an end to the efforts of that class to antagonize the Democratic party. There is no doubt of the fact that the extremists were badly whipped by the conservatives. Ex-Delegate Walter T. Booth and W. H. Mullien, who was well-known as a political agitator when the Knights of Labor first came into existence, were the leaders of the conservatives, and Mr. A. B. McCulloch, of the opposition. Mr. Mullien is now standing in with those he bitterly fought some years ago. All that remains for the labor people to do is to go into the Democratic primary and secure the nomination of the best ticket possible.
