THE CLOSING QUOTATIONS OF MONEY.

Offerings and Sales at the Richmond Tobacco Exchange—Internal Revenue Collections—Foreign Advices.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The bulls in stocks recovered much of their lost ground to-day. The announcement that the New England had at last gained an entrance into New York city was used for all it was worth, and the strength of the stock in the early trading rather disconcerted the bear leaders, who made even an effective raid on the market yesterday. Nevertheless, the bears made some impression in the first hour of business. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy was depressed 1¾, Rock Island 1⅛, Chicago Gas 1¼, Cordage 1, Western Union 1⅛, Distillers 1. Lackawanna jumped 3 points, and this checked the declining tendency of the market. About this time advices from Washington indicating that the House would certainly dispose of the silver repeal matter to-day and a decline in foreign exchange added to the bullish feeling. There was a rapid upturn at the close. Sugar rose 3¼, Chicago 2⅜, St. Paul 2¼, Rock Island 1⅝, Manhattan 1⅜, Missouri Pacific 1⅛, Reading 1⅜, and Western Union 2½. New England, after rising 2 to 33, closed ¼ higher at 33¼. The market closed strong and ⅛@2% per cent. higher than yesterday. In the specialties, Third Avenue Railroad jumped 14 points, Michigan Central 2¾, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and Chicago and St. Louis preferred 2½, and United States Rubber 2. Sales—Listed, 284,000 shares; unlisted, 29,000.

Money on call has been easy at 1@2 per cent.; last loan at 2 per cent., and offered at 2 per cent.; prime mercantile paper, 5@6 per cent.; bar silver, 66¾. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 481½@484¼ for sixty days and 483¾@483¾ for demand; commercial bills, 479¾@479¾ for sixty days and 482¼@482½ for demand. Government bonds steady. State bonds dull. Railroad bonds firm. Nothing doing in silver at the Stock Exchange.

DAILY COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Following is the daily cotton letter of Atwood, Violett & Co., by private wire to C. W. Branch & Co.:

Mr. Ellison, the English authority on cotton consumption, to-day estimates that the world will require this season, of all kinds, 10,357,000 bales, against 9,695,000 bales actually consumed last year, and 10,088,000 bales actually consumed the year before. He also estimates that of the above amount, the world will require this season, 8,177,000 bales, against 7,460,000 bales actually consumed last year and 8,118,000 bales actually consumed the year before, or 59,000 bales more than the big crop year, and 717,000 bales more than last year. The advice we offered a few days ago seems now more advisable than ever—namely, that the South shall market its crop over a longer number of months, meeting the market freely each month, with a fair proportion of the holdings of merchant or planter, and as the repeal bill has just been passed by the House, it means now, in all probability, that domestic spinners will be in the market during the next thirty days, and this should mean that spirited buying of cotton should follow. Anyhow, the prospect is held out to the South of higher prices for their product of this year, and the people who have sold this year's crop, based upon old theories as to what the market would do in October and November, during a period of heavy receipts, will likely buy back their contracts at figures higher than they sold them at. We believe in cotton, and have believed for some time, simply upon its merits, and we have lost no opportunity of presenting our views to this effect, based upon such figures and facts as we thought justified our impression. We have given our reasons for thinking as we have, so that our readers might draw their own conclusions as to our correctness or incorrectness. We have been saying for several days that the sources of supply would show a falling off this week, and this is being confirmed decidedly. The thirteen towns reported semi-weekly by the New Orleans Exchange show receipts to be 108,490 bales, against 101,546 bales last year, while the stocks are 28,000 bales less than last year. Therefore we fail to see where there can be any pressure or weight of stocks at the South, because, in addition, port stocks are 3,000 bales less than last year. One explanation of the large port movement is that heretofore, at this season, a great deal of cotton has gone overland direct to the Eastern mills, and therefore did not come into sight until the end of the week, but, as American spinners have not been in the market, the purchases for foreign account have gone direct to the ports, and thus made larger receipts than otherwise would have occurred. To show the improbability of large crop estimates for Texas, we have to-day from Galveston the following official rainfall: At Austin, in the heart of the State, showing for nine months, ending September, the rainfall was 11.46, against 22.30 last year, and from May 10th to August 31st, this year, 5.70, against 15.37 last year, and for the month of July this year, 3.35, against 8.05 last year. Texas is a State that requires an unusual amount of moisture, and yet it has been asserted that the State will make within 200,000 bales of last year's crop, or 2,000,000 bales. These figures of rainfall are most significant. We learn authoritatively that the Paris, Texas, movement up to Saturday last was 40 per cent. less than last year, and San Antonio 60 per cent. less, with a very much larger proportion picked than usual, while at Austin there is positively no cotton coming in, and they are paying there ¼c. over Galveston quotations. Savannah says asking ⅛c. above quotations. Once get a spot demand that seems likely to stay, and we seem very near that period, and futures can be bought with perfect safety. We close here 4 points higher than yesterday, with indications of higher markets all around to-morrow.

A THREE MILLION LOAN.

The Baltimore and Ohio Gets It From London Financiers.

Officers of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company have succeeded in obtaining a loan of $3,000,000 in London, to be used by the road as its necessities require during the prevailing depression. Friends of the company on this side are gratified that such a large sum is at the disposal of the Baltimore and Ohio Company, as it will be enabled to carry on its policy extension and expanding in tributary territory without cramping the operation of any of the lines now in use. In securing this loan a leading banker of Baltimore, who has closely watched the progress of the company, said yesterday that the acquisition of such a large sum at this time will place the company gratifying in view of the fact that so many of the railroads in the country are now in straightened circumstances.

Negotiations for this loan have been pending for several months. They were opened about the time the business depression was most severely felt in the United States, and when there was great difficulty in satisfactorily placing bonds of any description on the market. The matter was pressed by the officers of the company and its friends in London until a syndicate was formed which has advanced the amount asked. It has only been within the last few days that the loan was finally consummated and the money was forwarded to Baltimore. It has been received and is now in the company's treasury.

The loan was obtained by the placing in London of the bonds of the subsidiary lines the Baltimore and Ohio Company is building and supporting in Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and other points along its line. One of the terms of the deposit of these bonds in the hands of the English syndicate is that the holders shall have the option of purchasing them, if they so desire, before the maturity of the notes on which the loan has been obtained.

An officer of the company said that it has been the policy of the Baltimore and Ohio for several years to invest its surplus earnings in expanding its holdings by building subsidiary lines in tributary territory. This policy, he thinks, was wise because it enlarged the road and placed it in position to prevent competition in unoccupied localities along it lines. These improvements had made rapid progress, and many of them were nearing completion at the time the business depression came on. It was then found to be impossible to place the bonds of these lines in American markets except at such sacrifices as the officials of the company were unwilling to make. It was then the company looked to London, where the Baltimore and Ohio has always had friends and where its securities have always found a ready market. During the existing depression on this side and the uncertainty of the monetary status pending the repeal of the Sherman act the negotiations were necessarily slow.

Some of the money will be used in paying off floating obligations of the company in this city and elsewhere. Already notes of the Baltimore and Ohio amounting to several hundred thousands of dollars have been taken up and cancelled.—From the Baltimore Sun of yesterday.

NEGRO DUELLISTS.

Tony Scales and Jacy Carter Meet After the Approved Methods—Neither Hurt.

DANVILLE, Nov. 1. Special.—Mr. T. A. Partin, a prominent young business man of Raleigh, N. C., and Miss Annie Herndon, daughter of Joseph R. Herndon, of this city, were united in marriage this afternoon, at the residence of the bride's parents. Rev. John A. Herndon of Lynchburg, uncle of the bride, officiated. The happy pair left by the 6 o'clock train for the South.

Two negro men, Tony Scales and Jacy Carter, fought a regular duel with pistols, just outside the city this afternoon. They apparently meant business, but they were poor marksmen, and neither was hurt.

The sales of loose leaf tobacco on this market, for the month of October, amounted to 2,987,348 pounds, which was 1,555,323 pounds more than last October.

Pat. Martin, of Baltimore, the tramp highwayman who was shot here Monday night by Policeman R. S. Wynn, to-day submitted to an operation. The ball was found in the back and it was ascertained that it had glanced from where it struck him in the abdomen, and none of the intestines were severed, the wound is a very severe one but not necessarily fatal. He may recover, but the chances are against him.

J. R. Miller, the Prohibition candidate for Governor, spoke in North Danville to-night. It was expected that Hon. John E. Massey would reply to him, but Mr. Massey was in the upper part of the State and could not get here in time, and Miller had the field to himself.

Colonel Charles T. O'Ferrall will speak here to-morrow night, and a big crowd will greet him.
