ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATED.

Impressive Exercises in Honor of the Saint.

IMPOSING PARADE OF SOCIETIES.

Interesting Address by Rev. Thomas J. Duffy, of Norfolk—Chief Marshal Thomas F. Bagbley and His Aides.

Due honor was paid to the memory of St. Patrick yesterday by the loyal sons of the Emerald Isle, and they were assisted in their patriotic work by many, who do not claim this gem of the ocean as their birth. Nearly every person on the streets wore the little green token of the day upon his coat.

In accordance with the custom of years the Catholic societies of the city took the leading part in the observance. They assembled about 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Hall, where the procession was formed, and the march for St. Patrick's church begun, under the chief marshalship of Mr. Thomas F. Bagley, assisted by the following aids:

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES.

St. Patrick's church was filled to overflowing, when at 10 o'clock solemn high mass was sung, Rev. Hugh J. McKeefry being the celebrant, Father Thomas B. Donovan, deacon; Father St. John, O. S. B., subdeacon, and Rev. Thomas Wateras, master of ceremonies.

The address of the day was delivered by Rev. Thomas J. Duffy, of Norfolk, and was an able, eloquent, and scholarly effort. It was heard with deep interest by the congregation.

An especial feature of the occasion was the splendid music rendered by the choir of St. Patrick's.

Governor Tyler, Secretary Owen and Secretary of the Commonwealth Lawless were among the many prominent people in attendance upon the exercises.

St. Patrick's benefical and social Society tendered a banquet last evening to its members at their hall, corner Twenty-sixth and Grace streets. A large number were in attendance. Toasts were responded to by Rev. Father McKeefry, Messrs. John J. Blake, Wm. E. Doherty and Frank Billey, and songs were sung by Thomas O. Gorman, Edward W. Woods, and George H. Parater.

It was a most enjoyable affair and one which will long be remembered by those who participated. The committee in charge of the banquet were Messrs. Frank J. Salort, A. H. Buckner, George H. Parater and John F. Sullivan.

MISS JONES' LECTURE.

"Dante Gabriel Rossetti, or, Art and Poetry," Discussed Pleasantly.

The lecture last evening in the ballroom of the Jefferson on A Poetical Interpretation of Rossetti, by Miss Dora Duty Jones pleased a critical audience.

It included a large delegation from the Art Club to whose members special rates were given, another delegation from Miss Elliott's school, a majority of the guests at the Jefferson and several others.

Miss Jones' paper was discriminating and thorough. It bore the stamp of thought and broad general culture, and its diction was beautiful.

In the outset she announced that the social and musical features planned by Mrs. Caskie Cabell to succeed the lectures had been abandoned in deference to the latter's grievous bereavement. The lights were all extinguished and one by one, in illustration of Miss Jones' statements, the gems that have placed Rossetti with the immortals were flashed upon the curtain. In many cases his sonnets or other poems were quoted as "The Blessed Damozel," and simultaneously the lovely face of the woman in Paradise lit up the darkness.

The Magdalene before the house of Simon, whence looks the benign face of the Nazarene; Sir Galahad; the scene where "Mystie Uther's deeply wounded son" lies with the pitiful faces of the three queens looking down upon him; the picture of Rossetti's tenderly loved wife; "The Blessed Beatrice," "Lucrela Borgia," "L'Ancien Regime," Rossetti's own portrait, and many other pictures were thrown out admirably by the stereopticon, and each had its full significance made clear by Miss Jones' appropriate comment.

In conclusion, she was heartily congratulated.

HIGH-CLASS ATTRACTION.

A Delightful Programme at the Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

The entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. last night for the benefit of Richmond College Athletic Association was of a high order, and was heartily enjoyed by those present.

The selections rendered by the College Glee Club were excellent. It is seldom that a collection of voices harmonize so admirably and produce such a delightful effect.

The numbers rendered on the violin by Miss Florence Dillard showed a high degree of finish, taste and training. She plays in an easy, natural manner, and gets the fullest, richest tones from her instrument.

Mr. Evan R. Chesterman, the "Idle Reporter," was thoroughly delightful in his readings from his own productions, and in his illustrations of events described by lifelike drawings upon the blackboard.

Miss Mary Bell created enthusiastic applause by her sweet renditions, and Miss Nancy Brooks was most admirable in her recitation of "The Station and the Bust," from Browning.

The accompaniments were played by Miss Louise Williams in a manner that added considerably to the effect of the numbers.

The orchestral and vocal selections from the concert grand graphophone, under the direction of Mr. J. W. Yarbrough, were a feature of the occasion.

Lee Camp, C. V.

R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, C. V., held their regular meeting last night. A letter was received from John H. Leroy, Adjutant, No. 151, Confederate Veterans, which has recently organized at Columbus, O., asking this Camp to send them a copy of their by-laws and any other Confederate literature which may be at their disposal.

The picture of General Thomas T. Munford will be presented on next Friday night.

Major S. Griffin, of Bedford, Va., will make the presentation speech and Hon. John Lamb will receive the picture on behalf of the Camp.

The following special committee was appointed to try and aid some of the members, who are in very straightened circumstances, but who are excellent men, to obtain some employment, it being the impression of the Camp that by energetic efforts positions could be obtained for them.

The committee is constituted as follows:

Colonel W. E. Cutshaw, N. V. Randolph, Thomas A. Brander, General Chas. J. Anderson and J. Taylor Stratton. They were given authority to take such action as they may deem best.

The following committee was appointed in reference to uniforms: General Charles J. Anderson, Chas. A. Spence and Thos. A. Brander.

The camp is agitating the trip to Charleston to the Confederate reunion.

MONUMENT TO LAFAYETTE.

Sons of the Revolution to Aid in Raising Money to Erect It.

The Sons of the American Revolution held a well-attended meeting at the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society last night. President Williams presided. A report was made by the treasurer, and a finance committee was appointed to audit the same.

A committee already appointed was directed to prepare suitable tributes to the memory of deceased members.

All the old officers were re-elected, except that Mr. W. Mac. Jones was placed on the Board of Managers. The delegates to the National Congress to be held at Detroit, Mich., May 1st and 2d, are President Williams, Vice-President J. A. White, R. R. Miner, delegate at large, and J. Barrows Tree, membership delegate. The alternates are Messrs. Gaines, Newman, Pulliam and Jones.

In regard to the memorial to Lafayette, on motion of Mr. Henry, seconded by Mr. Jones, it was resolved that in compliance with the request of the acting president-general, contained in his circular of the 31st January, 1899, in reference to raising funds to aid in the erection of a monument to General Lafayette at Paris, to be unveiled the 4th July, 1900, American Day of the Exposition, the president and secretary of this society be a committee to prepare a circular to the members of this society and to the people of Virginia, asking for contributions for this object, and that they get the consent of the Superintendent of Public Schools to allow an appeal to the school children of the State for the same purpose, the committee to have power to act without first reporting to the society.

On motion, the president, Mr. Henry, was ordered to be the committee.

INTERMEDIATE CONCERT.

Bradley—Arnette.

No. 88 west Marshall street was the scene of a very beautiful ceremony yesterday evening, when Miss Georgie E. Bradley was united in marriage to Mr. Eugene A. Arnette. The bride is the popular and beautiful daughter of Mr. Horace W. Bradley, a well known contractor of this city, while the groom, formerly of Louisa county, now resides in this city, a valued employe in the telegraph service of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. On account of the illness of the bride's father, the marriage was very quiet. No invitations were sent, but a score of the friends of the happy young people had assembled to witness their nuptials and to wish them joy in their new estate. The ceremony was all the more impressive for its simplicity, and the bride, attired in pure white, presented a picture of modest loveliness.

At the Bijou.

The Brothers Toledo, the wonderful contortionists, have been performing some startling feats at the Bijou this week, and Za Zelie and Vernon, clever triple-bar acrobats, have certainly pleased and it is not unfair to them to declare that clever little Miss Nono Banks is the hit of the bill. The dainty little Miss is as "pretty as a picture," and sings popular songs in a voice older vocalists would be only too happy to possess. The other features on the bill all deserve the applause they have received. Quite a large audience was present last night, and the special matinee was well attended.

The regular Saturday matinee and evening performances closes the engagement of the several artists, who go to new fields. The attractions for next week are good ones. Duffy, Sawtelle and Duffy, big favorites here, Williamson and Stone, of rag-time fame, are among the features.

Informal Smoker.

The Richmond Lodge of Elks have sent out invitations to their friends to join them in an "informal smoker" at their home and club rooms to-night from 8 to 12 o'clock.

There will be instrumental and vocal music.

Exhibit Parisian Hats.

There will be a most interesting millinery exhibition at the Jefferson Monday and Tuesday, March 20th and 21st, when Mrs. M. J. Hunt, of Washington, will display bonnets, hats, and toques from the leading houses of Paris.

The ladies of Richmond are invited to come and examine.

HIS EIGHTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. Dr. Isaac M. Wise Honored by the Rabbis.

DR. E. N. CALISCH RETURNS.

He Gives His Congregation an Account of the Central Conference of American Rabbis Held in Cincinnati This Week.

Rev. Dr. E. N. Calisch, after an absence of several days, during which he attended the Central Conference of the American Rabbis at Cincinnati, returned home yesterday afternoon and occupied his pulpit at Beth Ahaba last night.

Dr. Calisch devoted his discourse to an account of the meeting in Cincinnati, which was held this year in honor of the eightieth anniversary of Rev. Dr. Isaac M. Wise, one of the most profound scholars and most popular rabbis in this country. Dr. Calisch's account of the meeting was interesting, and the speaker was given close attention throughout.

The Central Conference of American Rabbis is purely a rabbinical society. It was called into existence by Dr. Wise himself, and it meets annually in July. By reason of Dr. Wise's eightieth anniversary, which occurred on Tuesday, March 14th a special session was called in March for that occasion.

REMARKABLE CELEBRATION.

Dr. Calisch said it was one of the most remarkable demonstrations he had ever witnessed. It compared with nothing that he knew of except with the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary in Richmond of the pastorate of the late lamented Rev. Dr. Moses D. Hoge.

Dr. Wise's celebration was more of a national affair, so far as the Jews were concerned. There were fifty-five rabbis present, of whom thirty-one were former pupils of Dr. Wise, and graduated from the Hebrew Union College, in Cincinnati, of which Dr. Wise has long been the distinguished president. The rabbis present came from San Francisco, Boston, New Orleans and many other points nearer Cincinnati, despite the fact that this is a very busy season with them. Dr. Calisch was the only rabbi present from Virginia. No delegates are appointed to the conference. The meeting is a purely voluntary one.

TWO IMPORTANT POINTS.

The conference is recognized as the representative Jewish body of America. At this meeting there were two points considered which are of importance outside of the Jewish Church. One of these was the question of publishing a Jewish encyclopedia. A committee on this matter has been appointed for two years. Funk & Wagnalls, who are preparing a Jewish encyclopedia, wanted the conference to endorse their work, but the body refused to do so.

The other question of importance was the subject of Zionism. There was no discussion of this, for the reason that the entire body were opposed to it.

In honor of Dr. Wise's anniversary two sets of resolutions from non-Jewish bodies were presented. One of these was from the Ministerial Union of the city of Cincinnati, and the other was from the Methodist Ministers' Conference of Cincinnati. These resolutions were of a highly complimentary nature and offered hearty congratulations. Dr. Wise also received many telegrams and letters from various parts of the country extending greetings and good wishes.

DR. CALISCH HONORED.

There were two papers presented to the conference. One of these was on the subject, "How to Enlist Young Men on the Work of the Synagogue," which was by Dr. J. Krauskopf, of Philadelphia. The other paper was the subject: "The Rabbi and the Charities," and was by Rev. E. N. Calisch.

The Jewish citizens of Cincinnati tendered the conference an elegant banquet. Dr. Calisch responded to the toast: "The Press." His speech was devoted both to the press of the country at large as well as the Jewish press.

The conference lasted for the greater part of four days.

Dr. Wise was presented with an exceedingly beautiful gavel with gold trimmings, and a marble block with gold mountings. It was a very costly and handsome gift.

DR. CALISCH AT CINCINNATI.

The Cincinnati Enquirer in reports of the conference of American rabbis in that city says of Dr. Calisch's address:

"Rabbi Edward N. Calisch, of Richmond, Va., was then called upon to present a paper on 'The Rabbi and the Charities.' It was a masterly presentation of an always-absorbing topic, and its preparation showed much deep and careful study.

He said that it ought to be the purpose of true charity to identify it with religion. He said that the system of charity should be placed upon a utilitarian and even an ethical basis. For years, he said, it seems to have been the tendency to wean the charities from the synagogue, which he contended was a false step. He said that the real impulse of charitable action was the outcome of religious sentiment. In this field he thought the rabbis ought to lead the way. He further said that the Jewish tramp has absolutely no cause for existence, as he differs from tramps of other denominations only in that he nearly always rides instead of walks. Rabbi Calisch next took a shot at certain rich people who give to charitable institutions in order that they may become known as philanthropists and their business enterprises helped along accordingly.

All donations, Rabbi Calisch said, should come through the hands of the rabbis. He spoke against so-called charity balls, bazaars and other schemes for raising money for charitable purposes, as he did not think that the end justified the means. He said that it was objectionable, as it robbed charity of its fragrancy, because it is not a free-will offering, but a commercial enterprise. Then again, he said that the poor get only the incidental benefits of the bargain. He characterized charity balls and the like as "social brigandage." However, he did not wish to be undestood as saying that this was not to be resorted to in extreme cases, even as tracheotomy has often to be resorted to in surgery. He liked the old manner of giving charity in great crises, but this, he said, has given way to commercial and financial impulse, thus causing the deserving to often refrain from accepting it. He said that charity does not consist in the mere clinging of dollars or cents at the poor, but in giving in the proper spirit. At the conclusion of his remarks he was loudly applauded.

THE MEXICAN CONSUL

Gets Health in the Spring by Taking Paine's Celery Compound.

No time is so favorable as March and April for getting strong and well.

A thoroughly well person eats with relish, sleeps soundly, works with zest, and without worry from morbid anxiety as to the outcome of his efforts.

If you feel you are out of health, strength and spirits; if you show signs of nervousness and exhaustion; if you have that feeling of lassitude that comes in the spring to those who are out of health; if your blood shows the usual signs of impurity—Paine's celery compound will turn you right-about face towards health.

Enrique Guerra, the Mexican Consul, has the confidence not only of his government, but of the American public. Through his intervention, many important commercial questions between the United States and Mexico have been happily adjusted.

During his long residence in this country, Mr. Guerra has lived in a circle where the best possible medical treatment is always obtainable. He early discovered that in the spring, when nature seems most willing to lend its best assistance to the sick and feeble, his friends were using Paine's celery compound—the only spring medicine that physicians endorse, and intelligent families in every community have come to rely upon with confidence.

Mr. Guerra was not long in finding out the great reliance that is thus placed upon Paine's celery compound by the best informed people, and he was not slow in taking advantage of the great remedy himself. Here is his statement, unqualified, conclusive:

Kansas City, March 16, 1898.

"At times, when I have been seemingly exhausted from arduous work, Paine's celery compound has been of such benefit to me that it seems now I could hardly have progressed but for it. When sleep was slow in coming and my appetite flagged, a general toning up of my system followed the use of the compound. While I am not versed in things medical, I do know a fact when I encounter it, and that Paine's celery compound helped me and gave me a feeling of new strength is a fact. ENRIQUE GUERRA."

As spring comes on, most women and many men who have lived hot-house lives during the winter, find themselves unduly fretful, unable to sleep soundly, without appetite, easily tired, frequently distressed by headaches, and lacking "snap" and strength—the result of poor blood and weak nerves.

To those in this condition, the thousands of testimonials from people like Mr. Guerra, who have been benefited by Paine's celery compound, should be reason enough for giving this best of all spring medicines at least a trial. What it has done for others, it will do for the reader. It will purify the blood, clear the complexion, rejuvenate the exhausted nervous system, insure good digestion, bring on healthy sleep, and restore one's strength and vitality.

No other medicine in the world ever accomplished so much, and a single trial will add another to the long list of people in every community who gratefully sound the praises of Paine's celery compound.

PERILOUS POSITION.

A Diminutive Darky Rides Under a Coach from Florida to Virginia.

George Davis, a twelve-year-old pickaninny, rode from St. Augustine, Fla., to Richmond, chained to a ladder under one of the coaches of the "Florida special" reaching here yesterday morning.

George is a small darkey, aged about twelve years. He is a bootblack in Cairo, Ill., when he is at home, but he, also, rides horses, and went from Cairo to Los Angeles, Cal., for that purpose. The boy went from Los Angeles by easy stages to St. Augustine, and when he got tired of that city, he started on his journey home, with the intention of taking in Richmond on the way.

Not caring to ride on a freight, or even on the ordinary train, he concealed himself carefully on a ladder beneath one of the sleepers on the fast-flying "Florida special," and in order to secure himself against accident he fastened himself with chains, and all during that long ride he remained stretched out on that ladder, without drink, without food and without sleep, with the awful shrieking of the train sounding in his ears.

The boy was very weak and sick yesterday morning about 7:30 o'clock when Officer Lange released him from his position under the car at the Union Depot and the ambulance, with Dr. Brown in charge, carried him to the Almshouse, where he was given a supply of food to make up for lost time, a good bath, some medicine and put to bed, and the doctor thinks he will be all right in a day or two.

He will be kept at the Almshouse until his people are heard from.

Judge Lamb's Name

In addition to the names heretofore spoken of in connection with the vacant law professorship at the University of Virginia, it is understood that the name of Judge James C. Lamb, of the Chancery Court of Richmond City, is being considered. Quite a number of the members of the bar here have already discussed his name, believing him to be peculiarly fitted for the discharge of the duties of this position. The high estimation in which he is held by the profession, eminently qualifies him as a teacher at this great seat of learning.

It is further urged here as a special reason for his selection that the reputation he has earned as Judge of the Chancery Court of Richmond would go far to strengthen the institution, whose law department is so well known throughout the land.

While it is not known what Judge Lamb's position is in reference to this matter, he is a prominent alumnus of the University and has always taken a deep interest in its welfare.

Has Money and Wants a Wife.

Governor Tyler has a letter from a young man in Illinois who says he is only seventeen, of good family, well educated, and handsome. He wants the Governor to put him in correspondence with a Southern young lady "of the bluest of blue blood" and who is pretty.

The giddy youth frankly states that he is "looking for trouble." He says his family's fortune is "O. K," and he is prepared to make the young lady he is seeking very happy.
