

TONY PASTOR Has a Few Words to Say About "Hyomei"

It will pay you to read the opinion of this well known actor and manager regarding the new treatment for diseases of the respiratory organs.

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 20, 1897. R. T. BOOTH CO. DEAR SIR—One may live without "Hyomei," but one cannot live truly happy without it.

Did you ever notice that, in spite of all the wonderful claims made by Catarrh specialists and manufacturers, not one of them dare guarantee their treatment? "HYOMEI" IS GUARANTEED because it is acknowledged by the physicians to be the only known cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis and Consumption.

Price: Trial Outfits, 25c.; Regular Outfits $1.00; Extra Bottles, 50c. Hyomei Balm, 25c. Hyomei Guaranteed Dyspepsia Cure, 50c. All druggists, or sent by mail.

Free, free 3000 bottles of Hyomei will be given away absolutely free from the drug store at W. F. POTTSVILLE, No. 39 East Main street. Free treatment with Hyomei will be given daily to all who wish it.

The R. T. Booth Co. 18 West 34th St., Astor Court Building N. Y. C. E. V.

Some Books Worth Reading.

SOME NOTABLE FAMILIES OF AMERICA. By Anna Hamilton Watson. New York, 1898. Square Octavo. Cloth, 10 pages. For sale by Dodd, Mead & Co., New York, and E. H. Clark Bros., Memphis, Tenn. Price, 75c.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOW- ER. By Edward Cokeland. Published by the Bowen Merrill Company, Indianapolis, and Kansas City.

TO LIGHT TAZEWELL. Town Council Grants a Franchise for an Electric Light Plant. TAZEWELL, VA., March 24.—Special.—The largest crowd for many months assembled here on last county day, and many candidates for the various county offices were out in force.

SOME VERNAL MUSINGS. The Lessons of Purify Spring Imparts to the Responsive Soul. CHRISTIE, VA., March 23.—Special.—The presence of joyous spring is not to be mistaken, although the winds are now blowing from the north.

SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI. Annual Meeting of the Executive Committee Held Last Night. The annual meeting of the standing Executive Committee of the Society of the Cincinnati at the State of Virginia was held last night at the Commonwealth Hotel.

thority that a novel was nothing, if not purposive, and worse than nothing, if not purposive. Though physiological and economic problems belong not properly to romantic literature, yet "The Open Question," measured by his self-erected standard, may be considered purposive, but purposive for what, and for whom?

According to the Englishman's idea of strength, "The Open Question" is certainly strong, so much so that it is conceded to it, but its strength is exhibited in portraying the fury of unbridled passion, in depicting the delirium of uncontrolled impulses, while in this Moloch is sacrificed much possible tenderness, brightness and attractiveness.

The writer of "The Open Question" is a woman of unestimated and fully recognized talent. Her book is one of the widely read books of today, notwithstanding its dangerous tendencies—perhaps, in many instances, by reason of them—its circle of influence, its reach, and its ever-widening one.

A highly interesting and very absorbing novel, entitled "Waters That Flow Away," by Miss N. B. Winston, of Richmond, will be issued this week and can be had of the Bell Book and Stationery Company. The author has contributed some charming stories and sketches to the magazine.

Adelaide M. Dewey, of Washington, D. C., the authorized biographer of his family, has published in the Home Magazine, the first authentic life of Admiral George Dewey.

A memorial to the authoress, Charlotte Yonge, in the shape of a Winchester High School scholarship is proposed and a part of the necessary fund for it has been collected. Her centennial anniversary is approaching.

In comparing the poetical merit of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Mr. William Alden has had the temerity to characterize Mrs. Browning's verse as "poetical" and "poetical." The latter must be of small moment to him, if he can thus designate "his reputation for literary ability."

George Washington, of Dublin, Ireland, and Thomas Murray, of Boston, are joint authors of a book, some 100 pages, which will be entitled "The Irish Washingtons at Home and Abroad."

Apocryphal of Kipling, a fair critic who evidently has not had "the fever," writes: "A fair takes over all the land, and few are found who can sit in the whetland."

The twentieth of May next, the centenary of the famous "French" novelist, Balzac, will be celebrated in Paris by the performance at the Paris Opera of his play "Marat."

MILLER & RHOADS. "THE ALWAYS-BUSY STORE."

The Silks and Dress Goods, The Tailored Costumes, The New Kid Gloves, Parasols, Ribbons, Veilings, &c., ARE In Full Easter Bloom Now.

For This Week we have arranged an extraordinary retailing event. Easter is only a fortnight away, but we shall make some very unusual demonstrations in the lines most important to you—quite some prices that'll be impossible to be met by any competition.

MILLER & RHOADS' Greatest Easter Sale In the History of the Store.

The New... Tailored Suits. Our second floor is way ahead of former years in its showing of the newest things in Man-Tailored Suits. They are models of elegance in workmanship and materials used.

The New Dress Goods. Yes, a trifle slow in coming in, but NOW we are ready! Fashion's newest, choicest creations, in all popular and desirable weaves.

The New Spring Silks. A collection that has already gained considerable favor, for they're cutting lively. A profusion of helpful hints and tasty ideas that cover the field of Silk requirements.

The Black Dress Goods. Crepons down to the staple low-priced Serges OUR guarantee for color goes. Rich, Lustrous Blacks—Blacks noted for PERMANENCY of dye and BRILLIANCY of color.

Easter Kid Gloves. Our Easter stock of new Gloves are here. Yes, to match all the new Dress Goods, and in beautifully contrasting shades.

Separate Skirts. Some new things that we can't help telling you about: Excellent quality, large figured Brilliance, full width, perfect fit; regular $2.00 quality, $1.39.

White Goods... Bargain Nuggets. These snowy creations of beauty will be of interest to tomorrow's shoppers, who enjoy capturing big values.

At 5c Striped and Plaid Muslin Lawn and Nainsook, good value at 7c, our price 5c. At 8c Lace Striped Muslin good value at 10c, our price 8c.

At 12c Plain 22 inches wide, straight, extra wide, a good number, only $1.25. At 12c Striped Batiste, good value at 15c, our price 12c.

At 17c French Nainsook 39 inch wide, extra wide, narrow and wide, our price 17c. At 17c French Nainsook 39 inch wide, extra wide, narrow and wide, our price 17c.

At 25c French Grand 2 yards wide, good quality, good value. At 25c French Grand 2 yards wide, good quality, good value.

At 50c French Grand 2 yards wide, good quality, good value. At 50c French Grand 2 yards wide, good quality, good value.

MILLER & RHOADS, Broad, Near Fifth Street, The Always-Busy Store.