NEW ST. LUKE'S HOME FOR SICK

The Modern Sanitarium is Nearing Completion.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BUILDING.

Drs. Hunter and Stuart McGuire Will Have One of the Best Equipped Private Hospitals in the Country.

The new St. Luke's Home, the private sanitarium of Drs. Hunter and Stuart McGuire, at the northwest corner of Grace and Harrison streets, is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy by the first of September.

It is admirably located, in one of the most delightful portions of the city. The building was planned by the well-known architects Messrs. Noland & Baskerville, of this city.

The style of architecture is a modification of English renaissance, which has been so widely used for educational and other similar institutions. The walls are built of red brick with terra cotta and blue stone trimmings and are unusually thick, thus avoiding the bad effects of the sudden changes in temperature to which our climate is so liable. The large solarium over the main entrance and the oriel window on the Harrison street side are built of copper, which is not only not effected by the action of the elements but forms a very good contrast in color with the red brick and terra cotta. The main entrance to the hospital is on Grace street, but access to the offices and operating room is gained by means of a convenient door on Harrison street.

DR. MCGUIRE'S NEW HOSPITAL.

WELL EQUIPPED ROOMS.

The basement extends above the surface of the street about six feet and thus receives ample light. This floor is devoted to the culinary department, staff dining-room, Turkish bath, boiler, fuel and storage rooms.

On the first floor, in addition to several rooms for patients, are located the parlor and waiting rooms, doctors' offices and examination rooms, drug room, pathological laboratory, house surgeon's bed room and the operating room, with adjoining rooms for the preparation of patients and storage of instruments.

The second and third floors contain essentially the bed rooms for patients, being fully taken up with these and the bathrooms, except such space as is necessary for toilet and bath rooms and diet kitchens. The salubrious piazza on the southern end of the building on both second and third floors and are practically encased with glass. The fourth or attic floor will be occupied by the nurses and other permanent staff who live in the hospital. Each floor is reached by an elevator of sufficient size to accommodate a wheeled stretcher and each floor has speaking tube connection with every other floor.

OPERATING ROOM.

In the arrangement and equipment of the operating room no expense has been spared. This room occupies a low wing on the north side of the building with a large skylight forming practically the whole roof. The walls are lined with white enamel brick and the floor with marble mosaic, both of which are non-absorbent. This room will contain the sterilizers and other apparatus for the destruction of germs which have rendered possible the advances of modern surgery.

The diet kitchens on each floor are arranged for light cooking and in these the nurses themselves will prepare all special diet required by the patients. The diet kitchens are also connected with the general kitchen in the basement by means of a dumb waiter and speaking tubes.

Two wide stairways are provided, one at each end of the building, and in addition to these there is an iron fire-escape on the outside about the centre of the building which can be readily reached from any part. But such ample provision has been made to prevent the spread of fire with stand-pipe and hose, which is always kept in place ready for use, that it is very improbable that the fire-escape will ever prove its utility except by giving the occupants of the building an additional feeling of safety.

NO PLACE FOR MICROBES.

In the method of construction throughout, the idea has been kept constantly in mind that no possible hiding-place should be left for the wily microbe and to this end in no place have square corners been left. Not only are the corners rounded where the walls join the floors, but all interior angles where the walls themselves come together as well as between the walls and ceilings are rounded with a radius of two inches. It being well known how utterly impossible it is to keep the slats of inside blinds free from dust, they have not been used in any of the rooms. In their place outside Venetian blinds, which can be swung outward to form awnings, have been placed on all the windows. These blinds have a dark olive green color which not only forms an attractive contrast to the red brick but also gives a pleasant tint to the light in the room. All floors and walls are thoroughly deadened so that no sound can be heard from one room to another.

MANY PRIVATE ROOMS.

Except one ward, which contains eight beds, the whole hospital is divided into private rooms for either one or two patients. Each bed is connected to the writing room provided for the nurses or duty with an electric bell, and a bracket chandelier is located in a position convenient to each bed so as to give light for reading or examination.

The building is heated throughout with hot water and, though much the more expensive method, for uniformity and quality of heat no other mode of heating has ever been found to equal it. In the selection of the plumbing fixtures as well as the method of their installation and connections, sanitation has been placed before all else. Solid white porcelain fixtures have been used throughout with exposed nickel-plated connections and fresh air vents to all fixtures.

DEAFNESS CANNO BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A REAL GOOD THING

can't come too often. This is well proven in our sales of slightly used upright pianos. They come in from rentors, repossessions and purchases, and you get the benefit of money already paid on them. Some have been so slightly used as not to show it at all. "Just as good as new" is perfectly true in such cases. As bargains, we cordially recommend them—and, besides, our guarantee goes with them. We have a few for this week. Walter D. Moses & Co., 1005 Main street.

CHINESE FAMILY NOW LIVING HERE

Proud Father, Happy Mother and Two Small Children.

ONLY ONE FAMILY IN THE CITY.

Charlie Yet Sing Goes to Sunday School and will be a Christian. Yet Sing is Fond of Brine. Will be a City Councilman.

A happy Chinese family, embracing father, mother and two small children, live at No. 2 south Seventh street, where they conduct a laundry with a good business.

The head of the family is Yet Sing. He does most of the work, but Mrs. Yet Sing gives him an occasional helping hand when she is not minding the babies.

One of the babies is about three years old. He is a bright little fellow, whose name is Charlie. He can eat all the bananas, candy and peanuts that his mother gives him, and when a Times reporter handed him a package containing five cents worth of bananas a broad grin lit up his features, and the work of demolishing the fruit immediately set in.

"Sing boss. He workie; no time to talkee to Mellican man. Mellican man all jaw-jaw," said Mrs. Yet Sing, as the reporter inquired after her liege.

Yet was away back in the laundry singing the song of the shirt. After little Charlie had been presented with a nice new dime, Mrs. Sing awakened, and conducted the reporter to the inner portals of the Chinese residence.

HE IS A DEMOCRAT.

"Me likee Mellica, bellee much," said Sing Yet, as he expectorated on the bosom of a swell-looking shirt that he was putting in shape.

"Me lexspect to legister and vlote Alempolat flee silber. Me likee Bline Bline good Thing. Lookee hele," and he took the reporter into another inner room and pointed to a barrel.

"Shee lat? Bline! Me pazee big plice; big dol! Me wantee flee bline. Me votee flee bline. Big thing. Soakee fish. Me likee fish, wantee flee bline."

The reporter tried to explain that there was a difference between Bryan and brine, but Sing Yet wouldn't have it, and declared that he would vote for "free brine."

"She goodee wifee," said the celestial as he pointed to his lady, who was crooning over the infant, singing it to sleep in some quaint Chinese song.

A CITY COUNCILMAN.

"Bigee help. We mally flee kids. Gottee two child. Lil Charlie makee good washee-washee. He grow up, takee my place, no. He makee City Council, Makee law. Lettee Chinaman comee here. Chargee no license for washee-washee."

Little Charlie was born in this city. Yet Sing and his wife have been living in Richmond for five years. Besides Charlie, there is another baby; a little girl, about six months old, whose name is Pitty Sing. The baby is a fat, pretty little child, and is quite good.

Mrs. Yet Sing is an American by birth. She was born in San Francisco, of Chinese parents, about twenty-five years ago. Yet Sing, himself, came from Won Chang. He may be thirty years old or he may be 95. No one can tell; his personal appearance gives no indication of his age.

The whole family attend St. Peter's Cathedral, and little Charlie is being taught Christianity.

The household is similar to the average American household of people in the same circumstances. The customs are practically the same, the food is the same. Mrs. Yet Sing dresses just like an American, and can speak much plainer English than the average Chinese. The babies are being brought up on the American plan, and are calculated to make good American citizens.

The little Chinese boy is very polite and when he forgets his manners he is promptly reminded of them by his mother, who keeps a sharp lookout over him.

"Me muchee 'bligee," he said, when he was given some bonanas, "me likes you."

VIOLATING THE ORDINANCE.

The Richmond Railway & Electric Co. Reported by the Police.

The police authorities have reported the Richmond Railway and Electric Company for several violations of the ordinance approved by Mayor Taylor on May 18th, which went into effect Friday, thirty days from its approval. The violations refer to bad tracks, flat wheels, cars out of repair, etc.

The ordinance in question requires the several street railway companies operating cars upon the streets of the city of Richmond to keep their tracks in proper repair and their cars in proper repair and in a neat condition.

The companies are to be fined from five to ten dollars in every instance where a car is found not to come up to the requirements of the ordinance.

On the same day another ordinance was approved by Mayor Taylor, which went into effect Friday. It requires the railroad companies to maintain regular schedules for the transportation of passengers and it provides a penalty for the failure of doing so.

The ordinance provides that the Richmond Traction Company shall keep up a five minutes schedule over all its lines within the city, and the Richmond Railway and Electric Company over the Main street line, the Clay street line and over the line known as mule car line.

On the Seventh-street and Forest Hill line, on the Franklin-street line towards Manchester and on the Seventeenth-street line a ten minutes' schedule is to be carried out, while on the Seventh-street line towards Chestnut Hill, the Fourteenth-street line along East Grace and Marshall street and the Lakeside line cars shall be run every fifteen minutes in each direction.

On the Reservoir line by Oakin street and the West Marshall-street line west of Hancock street and the Fairmount Traction Company cars shall run every twenty minutes.

Any failure to comply with these provisions shall be punished in the Police Court by a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars for each offence.

THE GOVERNOR GOES AWAY.

Will Attend the Commencement at Blacksburg—Capitol Notes.

Governor Tyler will leave to-morrow for Blacksburg to attend the commencement exercises at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Mrs. Tyler will probably accompany him and go to the Governor's farm in Pulaski. The Misses Tyler will not leave Richmond until about the first of July.

The Board of Public Works held another session yesterday, State Senator Maynard, Mr. Thomas J. Wool, and Mr. Leigh were heard in the interest of the Port Norfolk Land Company. They object to a street car company running its line through their property. Notices required by law will be given, and the case will be heard in October by the Board.

The Governor has received letters from a number of widows of Confederate soldiers, asking if they are entitled to pensions. They are not entitled to pension under the State pension laws.

Governor Tyler has been asked to appoint seven delegates to the conference to be held in Chicago to consider and report upon combinations and trusts. The time has been changed from June to September. The letter states that governors and attorney-generals of thirty-three States have signified their intention to be present. The Governor will be glad to commission anyone who may wish to attend.

Dr. R. C. Glass, who is to be the conductor of the School of Methods at Roanoke writes that 300 teachers have signified their intention to attend and the attendance will be the largest in the history of the school. The school will open June 26th. All the other summer normal schools will be more largely attended than ever before.

THE LIVER.

This organ has a deal to perform, and in its efforts to do its work properly, gives us a great deal of trouble, pain and anxiety. When the liver fails to properly perform its functions disease begins to show itself in many symptoms—as sick headache, dizziness, pain in the back and sides, biliousness, fever, chills, dyspepsia, indigestion, etc., etc. Don't try any temporary palliatives, thus postponing a cure but assist the liver right away to throw off all obstructions and to a proper performance of its work. This can be done easily with Dr. David's Liver Pills. They act well, pleasant and harmless. They can be given to a child, as well as to grown people. Dr. David's Liver Pills are harmless and very efficient, and where they are once tried they become the household remedy.

LARGEST LICENSE FEE.

C. F. Nelms & Co. Pay $1,199 for Doing Business.

The largest license fee yet paid to Commissioner of the Revenue M. B. Jones was paid by Messrs. C. F. Nelms & Bro., the real estate and insurance brokers, Saturday evening, when the senior member of the firm handed Mr. Jones a check for $1,199. The check was for twenty large fire insurance companies, one marine insurance company, and a building and accident insurance company, which this hustling firm represents. It also included license for a general rental and real estate business. This is one of the largest real estate firms in the South. Indeed, it is doubtful if there is another company doing the same business that pays so large a license fee.

We clip the above from the enterprising Journal and Daily Commercial of prosperous Newport News, Va. It shows what growth that city must have had in the last six years; it at that time having only about 5,000 population, and the present being about, say, 21,000.

A MOST PROMINENT CITIZEN WRITES.

Dear Sirs,—About a year ago, having arranged to go on a hunting trip, I found myself unable to raise my arm, having an attack of Rheumatism. I went into your store and asked if you could help me out, as I did not want to be disappointed. You sold me a bottle of your "Dixie Nerve and Bone Liniment," which I used freely, rubbing vigorously with it that night, and I was most agreeably surprised when getting up the next morning to find the Rheumatism entirely cured and my arm perfectly well. I am glad to say I have had no return of Rheumatism since.

I told the above to a friend suffering the same way, and he tried your "Dixie Nerve and Bone Liniment," and was as speedily cured.

MISS JUSTIS WEDDED.

Became the Bride of Mr. E. F. Roberts of Newport News.

A pretty wedding took place at noon yesterday, when Miss Elizabeth B. Justis and Mr. Edward F. Roberts were married at the residence of the bride's father, No. 923 west Grace street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Wm. E. Hatcher, pastor of Grace-Street Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Dr. A. B. Woodfin, of Hampton.

The parlors were prettily decorated with palms and marguerites. Owing to illness in the family of the bride, no invitations were issued in Richmond, and the wedding was witnessed only by few.

The bride was attired in white swiss mousseline de soie, and carried bride's roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. S. C. Fleming, as matron of honor, who was attired in white swiss and carried American beauty roses.

The best man was Mr. John Shinn, of Washington, a cousin of the groom.

After the ceremony luncheon was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Roberts took the afternoon train for Covington to spend their honeymoon at the interment.

Mrs. Roberts is a daughter of Mr. W. M. Justis, of No. 923 west Grace street, one of Richmond's best known business men.

Mr. Roberts is connected with the Chesapeake and Ohio railway at Newport News, in which city the young couple will reside.

THE NEW BANK.

Capital All Subscribed and Buiness Will Soon Begin.

Mr. Newton Lockwood will soon be ready to apply for a charter for his new bank. All the details have been arranged with the exception of securing a president.

A gentleman who has had ample experience in business and financial matters has been offered the presidency and is expected to give his answer to-morrow.

A charter will at once be secured and business will begin as soon as practicable.

An option has been taken on the building formerly occupied by "The Boston" clothing store, opposite the postoffice.

The new institution is to be known as the Bank of Virginia. Its capital stock will be $100,000 all of which was subscribed two weeks ago.

There is much idle money here seeking profitable investment and $200,000 could have been easily raised for a new bank.

The Bank of Virginia will at once open a branch in Fulton and later on a branch may be established on Broad street.
