

DOMINION DAY IN MONTREAL

How a Notable Event is Celebrated by Britons.

AN IMPOSING PROCESSION.

A Charming English Lady Gives an Interesting Reminiscence of Miss Winnie Davis—Some Characteristics of the Canadians.

Montreal, Canada, June 29—Special. "The radiant moon had passed away, and spent its own golden store, the shadows of departing day crept on once more."

Our life is not a fading dawn—its glorious noon, when life is past, is a bright and brilliant day, safe home at last.

Where saints are clothed in spotless white, and evening shadows never fall—Where there is eternal light of light, and the Lord of all.

The choristers at the Cathedral sang thus on a recent Sunday evening, when, for 7 o'clock service, "the faithful" were gathered together.

One finds one's self dominated all the week, if one is in the least susceptible to the influence of the Dominion Day services of the Montreal churches. They are a conscious, quieting influence.

The city is now in an eager approach to the annual British community celebration which is still far from tumultuous—over the approaching "Dominion Day," which is July 1st. Questions usually arise as to how to "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," and they also love to do it. In this case Dominion Day is to be largely the thing that is Caesar's, with a special procession, wherein the "Royal British of Canada," in picturesque uniforms, will, in the "The Campbells are Coming" probably make the most brilliant showing.

I have met a charming English lady, who tells me that she is a resident of the city, and that she is a member of the "The Campbells are Coming" procession, and that she is a member of the "The Campbells are Coming" procession, and that she is a member of the "The Campbells are Coming" procession.

Your Montrealer tells you he is going to step "across the road" when he is going across the street. He is in the habit of "stepping across the road" when he is going across the street.

ALICE LODGE HOUSTON.

CRUSHED UNDER LUMBER.

Body of a Negro Found at the Bottom of a Carload of Lumber.

The mangled body of an unknown negro, about nineteen years of age, was found in the bottom of a gondola loaded with lumber at the yard of Messrs. Lyon & Montague, North Main street, yesterday morning.

Boils and Pimples Give Warning. When Nature is overtaxed, she has her own way of giving notice that assistance is needed.

AN UNFAILING SIGN THAT NATURE IS APPEALING FOR HELP. —a warning that can not safely be ignored.

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD. This is the best blood remedy, because it is purely vegetable and is the only one that is absolutely free from potash and mercury.

SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAMS ARE REAL

The Days Not Too Long for Pleasure and Gayety.

LIFE AT THE WHITE SULPHUR.

The Green Baize Tables Draw the Guests at Eventide and Walks and Drives in Daylight—Simple Living is a Luxury.

GREENBRIER WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, July 2—Special.—An old proverb says: "Barnaby bright, the longest day and the shortest night"—referring to the summer season of sun and shade.

True, the sun sets, like a crimson jewel, behind the mountains, and the night breeze and the beauty of a grandly illuminated landscape.

EZEKIEL'S WORK.

A Handsome Work in Cincinnati's Law Library.

The Cincinnati (Ohio) Court Index of June 22d prints the following: There have been placed in the south end of the Law Library two new book cases and a table, designed by Messrs. Win. H. Stewart's Sons, which occupy the space formerly taken up by the book and pedestal of the late Rufus King.

LUXURY OF LIVING.

The new luxury of living—that means to some, perhaps at some time of your life you have wanted to live in a house and in a city, and in a way that is not only comfortable but also luxurious.

THE MOUNTAIN LIFE.

Here Charles Brown (Ohio) became engaged to Miss Julia, as the color of the American girl by making her the American bride.

death of Mrs. Sarah Spier in Waterbury, Conn., June 28th, aged eighty-one years. She was the aunt of Mr. J. A. Black and Miss Martha Black, of the city.

The funeral of Miss Mamie E. Smith took place from St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with Requiem high mass.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. James Smith. The deceased had been married to Mr. J. A. Black, of the city, who she married for a number of years.

She was a lady of lovely Christian character and beloved by all who knew her. The Fulton Yacht and Fishing Club will have on their first annual cruise Monday.

The members of the club will embark at Old Point on the handsome schooner rigged yacht, Ellis A. Pearl, for a cruise of two weeks, taking in all of the famous fishing points, such as Nob Jack Bay, Back River, Ocean View, etc.

The club is composed of well known gentlemen of Fulton. The following are the officers and members: Alderman J. Harry Lander, president; Chas. A. Schmidt, commodore; George Seal, William Jennings, W. E. Turner, Thomas Childers, and John DeLoe. Capt. B. H. Winall is in command.

A recent change in the collection of mail from the boxes in Fulton put this section behind in the mail sent off promptly. No collection of mail is made from the boxes after 4:30 P. M. until the next morning.

This condition of things has caused a good deal of inconvenience, and much complaint has been made by the merchants and others. It is hoped that the old collection hour, 8 P. M., will be put back.

The party of Epistles which was accepted on the River road pulled up stakes and left Wednesday night.

Superior W. E. Frayser, of Henrico, was here at the old Dominion Hospital for treatment since his accident, was taken to his home on Thursday, where he is getting along nicely.

Novel and interesting things will be treated at the Deacons' street Methodist church to-day, at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. T. Houston will present "A Ship Ready for Sea." At 5 P. M. his subject will be "Wrecked and Rescued, or the Lessons of a Midnight Storm at Sea."

The Builders' League of the Deacons' street Methodist church will meet Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at Mrs. Coleman's, No. 311 Williamson street.

Rev. H. Cabot Hinson, pastor of Fulton Baptist church, will conduct both services at 10 o'clock to-day, and will preach from the text, "The Kingdom of God is within you." At 7 o'clock he will discuss "The Soul Winner."

Mr. John Link, a Fulton boy, who served in the Fourth Virginia Regiment in the Spanish-American war, will make an address at the Fulton Yacht and Fishing Club on Monday, at 8 o'clock.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Society of Deacons' street M. E. Church carried quite a large crowd to Back River Beach on Thursday.

Mr. Thomas H. Hinson, who is at his residence on Poplar street.

Mr. Henry Coghlin and Mr. C. L. A. Deppie left yesterday for Baltimore, where they will spend the holidays.
