money of the country is called for by the South and the West to move these crops. It will all be back in the money centers in two months. It is a little worse this year than usual, because the business of the country is more active than it ever was...

all means. He should keep out of the caucus, and he should have his friends stand ready to go to a black horse if there was any chance of election—Danville Bee.

It will be noted that in all of Mr. Bryan's speeches he in no instance denies the right of a man to bolt or become an independent in politics. He merely discusses the expediency of it, and thus shows a marked difference between himself and that class of his followers who hold that once a partisan always a partisan.

George Washington said in 1786, "I never mean, unless some particular circumstances should compel me, to possess any slave by purchase, it being among my first wishes to see some plan adopted by which slavery in this country may be abolished by law."

Recent developments indicate that the trust issue is not going to be the big issue that many politicians had hoped to make it. These who have sought to array the people against large combinations of capital are not meeting with the encouragement they expected.

Discussing the Philippine situation, the Macon Telegraph says: "Whatever difference of opinion may exist as to the question of American responsibility in the Philippines, it seems to us impossible for any one to escape the conviction that General Wheeler is justified in his belief that if we should withdraw our army from the Philippines, it would cause a constant warfare and turmoil for years."

But if banking were free, so that each bank could put out its notes as there was a need for them, the banks would issue all that was wanted in stringencies, like the present, and take them in when the stringency was over.

THE CONFEDERATE CONGRESS. We were recently asked how the first members of the Confederate Congress were chosen, and on referring the question to General Bradley T. Johnson we have the following most interesting reply: To the Editor of The Times.

THE REWARD OF LABOR. "Bill, have you cut the firewood?" "Yes, sir." "And fed the mules?" "Yes, sir." "An' milked the cows?" "All milked, sir." "An' mended the corn?" "Jest through, sir." "Jest through the laters?" "Last one, sir." "Well, you're a good one. Now call the dogs an' you kin go an' tree a possum for yer supper!"—Atlanta Constitution.

AGENT HINT. "Blanche pinned a tiny nation on my coat last night." "Do you know what that means?" "Frank, 'No.'" "Dick, 'Why, she wants you to press your suit.'"—Chicago News.

THE PRAYER OF SELF. One kneel within a world of care And so, and lifted up his prayer; "I ask Thee, Lord, for health and power To meet the duties of each hour; For peace from care, for daily good, For life prolonged and filled with good; I praise Thee for Thy gifts received, For health and strength, for peace and bread; For fear and dear one spared and blessed, For prospered toil and promised rest. This prayer I make in His great name Who for my soul's salvation came."

JOINT RESOLUTION. Proposing amendments to sections 1 and 2 of article 7 of the Constitution of Virginia, and providing for the election of a committee to carry out the same to the next General Assembly.

SLAVERY IN VIRGINIA. In his new book, "The End of an Era," which is indeed in the main a delightful book, Mr. John S. Wise devotes a part of a chapter to a discussion of the slavery question, and gives an account in detail of a slave sale which he attended in the city of Richmond just before the war.

THE STREET-CAR MATTER. We are not disposed to champion the cause of any one of the syndicates bidding for the franchise of the Richmond Railway and Electric Company, soon to expire, but we will get into the discussion to the extent of laying down this general proposition. We believe that franchises so valuable as these should be paid for, and well paid for, but this is not the only question for consideration.

OUR RELIGIOUS CONTEMPORARIES. One man wants to excel, another wants only to shine. One is concerned about the shoe leather, the other about the polish.

OUR VIRGINIA EXCHANGES. We were satisfied from the very first that the effort to compromise the Lancaster-Richmond political situation would come to naught. The committee of five have done, no doubt, the right thing in deciding that the contesting conventions at Downings were both out of order from a Democratic standpoint, and now the only proper thing to do is to turn voters, and let the people decide for themselves at the polls who they want to represent them. We regret this course but we see no other open.

THEY STOPPED. The two men were walking down the street discussing various topics and finally they came to a halt. "You are looking at me as if I were a madman," said the man in the habit of imbibing. "This thing of saying that liquor gets a hold on a man," said the other. "Is all rot. No matter how hard a man drinks he can always stop."

THE YOUNGEST VIRGINIA CONFEDERATE. Capt. Camm Patterson prints the following interesting reminiscence: Perhaps William B. Abraham was the youngest soldier who lost his life in the Confederate army. He is said to have enlisted first in Company D, 5th Va. Regiment, commanded by Captain Camm Patterson, and was afterwards transferred to the 20th Richmond City Battalion.

OFFICE OF CLERK OF HOUSE OF DELEGATES. RICHMOND, VA., July 23, 1899. The following is a copy of a joint resolution...

WHY MONEY IS TIGHT. The business men of Richmond say the banks are calling them on their loans and charging them higher rates of interest for what they lend. The business men of the country say the same thing. If you go to bank to borrow money you will be told that money is so tight it is doubtful whether you can get what you want.

THE CONFEDERATE CONGRESS. The Richmond Times is figuring on the possibility of enough Independents and Republicans being elected in November to give Tyler a majority combined with the Democrats who are for him, and it wonders if this were the case, would Tyler pledge himself to abide by the decision of the caucus of the Government. If he is really opposed to machine rule in politics, can he do only one thing, and that is to assist, in any honorable way, to smash the machine.

AFTERMATH. Gov. Roosevelt of New York, will make several more speeches in Ohio this week.

WHILE IN KENTUCKY. Hon. William J. Bryan said that Hon. J. Young Brown was the Louisville and Nashville railroad's candidate for Governor. In reply to the charge Mr. Bryan said: "Any man who says that Louisville is a pusillanimous and an infamous liar, and if they continue these assertions I will call the names of the men who accuse me. I am not too old now to defend my honor."

Sick People should take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It cures all such stomach ills as constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, liver and kidney diseases. It is a wonderful medicine. It strengthens the over-worked stomach and gives new life to every other organ of the body.

THEY STOPPED. "If you know I have two of the loveliest rainy day shirts that were ever made?"—Chicago Tribune.

JOINT RESOLUTION. Proposing to strike from the Constitution the second article providing for the election of a committee to carry out the same to the next General Assembly.
